Swing Urges Purchase Lower California From Mexico

SAYS WOULD SETTLE ALL DIFFERENCES

Distribution of Boulder Dam Waters Would Be Cared For Under Plan

NO NEGOTIATIONS

Congressman Says Mexico Could Meet All Claims With Money From Sale

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—Purchase of Lower California from Mexico as a means of settling the controversy between the United States and Mexico over distribution of irrigation water after the Boulder dam project is constructed was considered by the international water commission in drafting its report to congress, Representative Swing, Republican, California, said today.

Swing said while the commissioners had considered his proposal, he did not know whether they included it in their report, which now is in the hands of the printers and is expected to be available within a few days. Swing said he had not seen the final report.

The California member, co-author with Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, California, of the Boulder dam legislation, said he regarded this compromise as an ideal way to solve the difficulty arising from Mexico's claim to water of the lower Colorado in Lower California, as well as a financial aid to Mexico.

The state department disclaimed any knowledge of the commission's report, and officials said that no negotiations had been instituted with Mexico regarding the purchase.

Swing explained that Mexico could have met all claims against her by American citizens and also all debts to other countries through the purchase price of Lower California. The peninsula, he said, is cut off from the rest of Mexico and that country does not need the land. He also pointed out that the United States does not want any foreign power to build a naval base in Magdalena Bay.

The three members of the international water commission resigned recently, and their work was taken over by one man, Lawrence M. Lawson. The three were Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, chairman; Maj. Gen. Lansing H. Beach, retired, and W. E. Anderson.

Their resignation prompted reports they disagreed with a proposal that the United States award Mexico 50 per cent of Boulder dam water and then repurchase it, the money to be applied to claims of Americans against Mexico. This proposal was reported as emanating from Ambassador Morrow in Mexico City.

The state department denied they had quit because of such a disagreement in announcing their resignations.

DEFINITE STEPS TAKEN FOR COUNTY COLLEGE

M'DONALD WILL TELL STORY TO HIGHEST COURT

Key Witness in Mooney Case to Appear Before Supreme Body Tuesday

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—(UP)—Warren K. Billings, convicted of murder 14 years ago in connection with the San Francisco preparedness day bombing in which 10 persons were killed, will be virtually re-tried in a proceeding without precedent in California.

The re-trial will be held next Tuesday, July 29, before the seven justices of the California supreme court. This decision was reached late yesterday by the court after Governor C. C. Young had declined to hear testimony of John MacDonald, repudiation witness, before the court heard his claim that his original trial testimony was not true.

Determines Fate

While the hearing before the court pertains to Billings only it is expected to determine the fate of Thomas J. Mooney, arrested with Billings and convicted of the same crime.

MacDonald, recanting witness who came here from Baltimore in the hope of convincing authorities that he lied during the trials of the two men will be the star witness in favor of Mooney and Billings.

MacDonald's role next Tuesday will be exactly opposite the one he played during Billings' trial in 1916 and Mooney's trial in 1917 when he identified Billings as the man he saw place a suitcase containing dynamite at the scene of the explosion.

The nature of the testimony MacDonald will present is well known. He made it in affidavit form in 1921 and repeated it again July 12 after he was located in Baltimore. He will say that his testimony during the trials was false, that he could not have identified either Mooney or Billings at any time without assistance from San Francisco police.

Entire Case

The story of MacDonald is not the only evidence to be presented at the hearing, however. The entire case, including all the original testimony of both prosecution and defense witnesses, will be reviewed and it is entirely within the power of the court to rule that the conviction of the two men was justified by evidence other than that offered by MacDonald.

It is probable that the supreme court hearing will be the only one held as a definite decision will be reached by the justices and if that decision is favorable to Billings both Billings and Mooney probably will be free before August but if it is unfavorable Governor Young will deny Mooney's petition and dismiss the whole affair.

NEWSPAPER WAR IN CHICAGO LOOMING

CHICAGO, July 23.—(UP)—Newspaper warfare between the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Herald and Examiner over the manner in which the Lingle murder case investigation is being conducted threatened today to engage the two papers in a bitter legal battle.

Notice of a $250,000 libel suit against the Herald and Eaminer was filed by Robert M. Lee, city editor of the Tribune, just before the courts closed yesterday.

Lee charged the Lingle case editorial carried yesterday on the front page of the Herald and Examiner under the banner line heading "Who Killed Lingle and Why?" implied he knew that Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter, was engaged in gangland rackets that paid Lingle $60,000 a year on the side.

Calvin Coolidge Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, July 23.—On the whole we have done well to ratify the naval treaty. It is a most encouraging symptom of international sanity. No doubt our admirals can find some objections to it. But so do the admirals of Britain and Japan. It takes at least two to make a trade. Reason therefore requires mutual concessions. We may well find satisfaction in the increased friendly feeling that will come from concessions we have made.

It is regrettable that we could not secure real reduction. We have consented to a great world naval building program. Substantial parity with the British has been achieved and the needs of the brave nation of Japan, standing in a corner of the world all alone, have been conceded. Parity is more or less a fiction. After measuring the tonnage, speed and guns the officers and crew remain—they make the strength of the fleet. But the great thing is the agreement to stop competition in the building of all classes of ships. To any fairly reasonable treaty doing that, we can well afford to give our approval. Hereafter no nation can discover in the building of the United States, Britain and Japan any menace to their peace and safety. That is real progress.

GANGSTERS END LIFE OF WELL KNOWN LAWYER

Radio Commentator of Detroit Shot Down After Recall Election

DETROIT, July 23.—(UP)—Every law enforcement agency in Michigan was concentrated in Detroit today in an effort to salve the murder of Gerald W. Buckley, attorney and radio commentator on civic affairs.

Police advanced the theory Buckley was the victim of powerful gambling interest against which he had waged an incessant campaign.

He was shot to death in the LaSalle hotel early today, two hours after he had broadcast over station WMBC the results of the recall election in which Mayor Charles Bowles was ousted. Buckley had favored Bowles' recall, charging he was allied with underworld characters.

Three men walked into the hotel lobby where Buckley was seated in a chair, reading a newspaper. Without a word, they formed a semi-circle about him and began firing. Eleven slugs hit him. The men then dashed out a side entrance and drove away in an automobile.

Buckley recently had received threatening letters, and had told fellow workers in the radio station he feared he was a marked man. He had secured a permit to carry a revolver because he thought his life was in jeopardy.

Paul Buckley, brother of the 37-year-old attorney, said the family had begged Buckley to stop his attacks on the Bowles administration.

Indications today were that the Buckley murder would create as great a stir in Detroit as did the McSwiggin and Lingle killings in Chicago.

The entire police force was put to work on the case, and Governor Fred Green ordered Oscar G. Olander, state commissioner of public safety, to send every available state police officer in southern Michigan to Detroit to aid.

GLENN CURTISS DIES SUDDENLY AT AGE OF 52

Pioneer of Aviation Succumbs to Blood Clot on Lung Today

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 23.—(UP)—Glenn Curtiss, one of aviation's pioneers, died today from a blood clot on the lung discovered after a recent appendicitis operation.

The aviation pioneer—who 20 years ago startled the world by making a flight from Albany to New York City—was brought to a Buffalo hospital a little more than a week ago suffering from appendicitis. An immediate operation was ordered.

The operation, doctors said, was successful. Afterward, however, the clot touching upon the lung was found. This brought his death at a local hospital today.

Curtiss' death was so unexpected that Mrs. Curtiss, who had been keeping an almost constant vigil at his bedside, was at a downtown hotel. Only his nurse was with him.

Taken to Hospital

Curtiss was brought to the hospital here from his home in Hammondsport, N. Y., July 11 after an acute attack of appendicitis.

Curtiss was born at Hammondsport, N. Y., May 21, 1878, and eamrly showed a bent for mathematics and invention. He opened a bicycle repair shop at the age of 17 and turned it into a workshop where he invented everything from skate-sails to motorcycle engines.

In 1902 he established the Curtiss Mnufacturing company to produce his motorcycle and gained a national reputation as a racer.

The success of his engine, when attached to balloons and lighter than air ships, led him to experiment with early forms of airplanes, and he soon was making flights around Hammondsport.

Under the auspices of the National Aerial Experiment association the airplane "White Wings" was built and in it Curtiss made several successful flights.

In 1909 Curtiss went to France with a home-made airplane and won the James Gordon Bennett cup and the Prix de Vitesse against some of the most skillful aviators of Europe. His machine made 46 1-2 miles an hour.

Famous Flight

Probably his most famous flight was that made from Albany to New York City in 1910 for a $10,000 prize offered by the New York World. He made two stops with his "box kite" plane, and finished his journey at Governor's Island, having covered the distance of 150 miles in 2 hours and 51 minutes.

Twenty years late—a few weeks ago—he made the same flight in a huge modern Curtiss Condor capable of carrying 20 passengers.

With the exception of the Wright brothers, no other man did so much for American aviation as Glenn Curtiss. After the pioneering phase of aviation had passed he turned to the commercial side and was one of the leaders in developing the airplane as it is today. The Curtiss Airplane company, of which he was the head, built many airplanes for the United States and foreign governments and for private companies nad individuals.

FIGHT REDUCTION OF FRUIT TARIFF

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—The interstate commerce commission today reopened the California deciduous fruit case on petition of California railroads.

Under the Hoch-Smith resolution, the interstate commerce commission had reduced from $1.73 to $1.60 the rate on deciduous fruits, but the United States supreme court held the reduction invalid.

Action of the interstate commerce commission today opens the way for the reduction under the interstate commerce law.

Three Days Left To Register For Primaries

Only three days left in which to register for the primary election to be held on August 26.

County Clerk Joe Backs issued a final appeal today. "Tell the public to do their registration shopping early," said Backs. "Ask them to avoid a last minute rush and get in at the earliest possible hour. The office is open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. and we will gladly answer inquiries over the phone from those who are in doubt as to whether or not they are registered."

Backs will close his office at noon Saturday so in reality there are but two and one-half days left in which to register.

JAS. EADS HOW, FAMOUS HOBO, ANSWERS CALL

Millionaire Tramp Dies in Virginia Hospital of Near Starvation

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—The body of James Eads How, who during most of his life scorned riches to seek the championship of hoboes, was brought here today from Staunton, Va., for cremation in accordance with his last wishes.

The "millionaire hobo" died yesterday afternoon at the Kings Daughters hospital in Staunton, of pneumonia, "evidently superinduced by starvation," physicians said. He died a few hours after entering the hospital in a weakened condition which was due partly, it was said, to irregular eating.

Definite funeral arrangements have not been made pending the

Supervisors To Be Asked Make Survey

Joint Meeting of Santa Ana and Fullerton School Boards Is Held

FOLLOWING A discussion of the junior college situation in the county, that revealed a determination on the part of at least one member of the Fullerton junior college board to maintain the junior college there, sentiment was developed last night at a joint meeting of the Santa Ana and Fullerton boards in the offices of the Santa Ana board, to petition the county board of supervisors for a general county wide educational survey to be made by outside, impartial educators. The idea is to determine facts before any action may be taken on the junior college problem. The Santa Ana board took definite action to petition for the survey, and the Fullerton board is expected to take similar action.

The joint meeting which was arranged by W. C. Jerome, county auditor and member of the Associated Chambers of Commerce committee on education, was attended by Ralph McFadden, chairman of that committee, who suggested to the boards that the survey might be favorably regarded at this time by the board of supervisors and that it would result in securing scientific and impartial information from which action might result.

Board Unanimous

The Santa Ana board was unanimous in supporting the proposed survey, every member expressing approval and a desire that this step be taken. Of the four members of the Fullerton board who were present, only one raised any objection. J. A. Prizer, at first was opposed to the proposition, declaring that Fullerton district would not consider any union move and he felt a survey would be useless, but later admitted the value of a survey if the boards would not be required to abide by any recommendations that might be made as a result. He maintained that he could not see any value in a survey unless the two boards would agree to abide by the results and that he personally would not agree to do that. The Santa Ana board voted unanimously to go before the county board of supervisors in conjunction with the Fullerton board with the request that the survey, to be conducted by the state department of education with the assistance of the University of California and possibly Stanford university, be made. Action on the matter by the Fullerton board was deferred until the entire member-

Mine President Fined for Contempt

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 23.—UP—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, was convicted of contempt of court by Judge Charles G. Briggle today and fined $500.

Fourteen associates of Lewis also were convicted of contempt but were not punished.

Lewis' fine was fixed after Briggle upheld Master in Chancery Frank L. Trutter, finding that Lewis and his associates were guilty of violating an injunction restraining them from interference with the "reorganized" anti-Lewis union.

Trutter had recommended that none of the defendants be punished, holding the contempt was technical.

COBLENZ FETE ENDS IN DEATH OF 38 PERSONS

Rhineland Merrymakers Plunged Into River As Bridge Collapses

COBLENZ, GERMANY, July 23.—(UP)—A weakened and condemned iron bridge crowded with holiday makers watching the Rhineland liberation celebration here last night, collapsed and carried more than 100 men, women and children into the Moselle river.

The governor of the Coblenz district announced a corrected official death list of 38 today. Sixteen were badly injured and 25 or more of the others suffered from submersion and shock. Previously the governor had announced 52 dead, but 14 missing persons were discovered alive.

The joy of the Rhineland, in the midst of its jubilant celebration of its freedom from allied occupation, was turned to sorrow by the tragedy. President Paul von Hindenburg, who had been making a triumphant tour of the liberated regions, broke off his trip and returned to Berlin. Before leaving, he contributed 10,000 marks to start a relief fund and attended memorial services in the Coblenz town hall. Dazed mourners pased in file before the array of coffins.

Flags, which until midnight had been fluttering from every vantage point in the Rhineland, were lowered to half mast today. Every vestige of gayety had disappeared.

The collapse of the weakened structure, which the people crowded upon despite the injunction against using it, came at the height of the celebration. In the darkness, rescue workers had difficulty finding the survivors, clinging to the broken structure in the waters of the Moselle.

Oxygen tanks were still being used today to revive those who had spent hours in the darkness and water before being rescued. Many of the victims were girls, the dead including five girls from the same boarding school.

Work to Start On Alameda Air Base

OAKLAND, July 23.—(UP)—Start of construction of the west coast army air base at Alameda by January 1 was a certainty today.

J. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics, wired this information today to Congressman Albert E. Carter and also announced he would visit the site next month.

His visit will be made in connection with a 10,000-mile air tour of army air fields which will begin in Washington July 30.

Davison's approval of plans is necessary before work begins.

The Alameda field will be headquarters of the army air forces of twelve western states, the Hawaiian Islands, the Canal Zone and Alaska. Forty officers and 600 civilian mechanics and employes will be stationed there.

2 PROVINCES SAID TO BE TOTAL RUINS

Thousands Also Reported To Be Injured As Buildings Shook to Ground

RELIEF WORK STARTS

All Southern Italy Feels Quake—Town of 12,000 Almost Obliterated

NAPLES, July 23.—(UP)—It was reported today that the towns of Villanova and Montecalvo, both in the province of Avellino, were totally destroyed by the earthquake.

Eighty percent of Villanova's population of 5000 were reported killed, which would mean 4000 dead.

The reports lacked official confirmation, however.

It was reported 300 were dead in Montecalvo. The town of Venosa in the province of Potenza also was reported almost entirely destroyed.

Latest known dead in the city of Melfi, which was nearly destroyed were given as 120 while the injured exceeded 400.

Relief parties reached Melfi and began preliminary measures to aid survivors and remove the dead and injured from the debris.

The work was proceeding slowly because of the tottering condition of many of the buildings.

Relief Work On

Relief workers, hampered in Naples and in many other cities during the night's darkness by the absence of electric lights, worked more rapidly with the coming of daybreak, removing the dead and injured from the debris. Rescue work was in its early stages, however.

Araldo Crollalanza, Italian minister of public works, hurried to Rome to supervise relief measures. He was at the watering place Mont De Cabini, near Florence, when the earthquake struck.

Under secretary of public works Leoni already was enroute to the stricken area, Leoni and a group of engineers travelling aboard an emergency train which the Italian government recently prepared for such calamities as occurred today.

The train, it was announced, would attempt to reach Melfi, from where reports of most serious damage were received.

Premier Mussolini ordered Senator Filippo Cremonesi, head of the Italian Red Cross, to organize relief for the stricken area immediately.

The quake struck Naples, 27 1-2 miles from the epicenter, at 1:06 a. m. Lightning, accompanied by heavy rumbling resembling thunder, preceded the first and most violent shock, which lasted 42 seconds. It was followed by two lighter and shorter shocks which drove inhabitants from their homes in terror.

Three Shocks

The city was plunged in darkness, since the three shocks broke all electric cables and troops commanded to preserve order and prevent plundering.

ANNOUNCE BRIDGE PLANS THIS WEEK

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—(UP)—Final plans for the bay bridge linking Alameda and San Francisco counties, including terminal locations and the probable date when construction will start will be made public this week, probably Friday, Mark L. Rqua predicted today.

Requa, chairman of the state-federal bridge commission, said that the commission will continue its study of boring data, with public hearings getting under way this afternoon.

Engineers who made surveys and borings declare there is no doubt as to the feasibility of the bridge, structurally and financially.

The commission will continue its sessions, Requa said, until the two major points—when and where—are decided and embodied in recommendations to Governor C. C. Young and President Hoover.

30 Poisoned From Eating Pies Of Long Beach Bakery

INVESTIGATION IS LAUNCHED BY HEALTH OFFICE

An outbreak of approximately 30 cases of food poisoning in coast cities reported to the county health department yesterday, resulted in an investigation by the department which traced the cause apparently to pies from a Long Beach bakery, that were served in restaurants and sold in stores at Seal Beach and Huntington Beach Monday night. The suspected pies, part of the same batch that caused the illness, are being analyzed in Long Beach in an effort to discover the cause of the poisoning, Dr. Murray Bates of the health department said.

Many of the stricken persons suffered acutely and some were unconscious, according to the attaches of the health office, but all seem to be making satisfactory recoveries. Some of the contaminated pies were sold to picnic parties, some to tourists, some to residents of the two communities and some to restaurants. Twenty-five names are listed at the health department office as victims of the poison, and it is estimated that there were many other persons who suffered ill effects, but who had returned to their homes in other parts of the county, or had proceeded on their trips, before being seized with the effects of the poison.

Those who were reported as victims are Junior Morris, Olie Line, Mrs. Gladys Tyler, Reaford Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dahlman and two children, Betty, 10, and Lee, 13, Frank Walker, Ada Walker, George Shirk, Margery Shirk, Mrs. Helen Snirk, William Pringle and Mrs. Clara Pringle, all of Seal Beach; Mrs. Jennie Larson, Ray Larson, Mrs. H. Berdelman, Joe Hicks, Alta Hicks and David Thompson, all of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Mary Maxson and Juan Fanchez, Anaheim Landing.

Fish With Five Hooks Is Landed

STOCKTON, Cal., July 23.—The "fish that got away" has made his last exit.

Frank Doty, of Thornton, caught a 48-pound striped bass at the fork of Consumnes and Mokelumne creeks, north of here, which had five hooks in its mouth.

Now everyone in the neighborhood is convinced that this is the identical fish which "got away" from them.

ORANGE COUNTY PIONEER WILL BE FAIR GUEST

J. E. Pleasants, pioneer of Orange county and one of the few men remaining who had actual experience in mining in California in the gold rush of '49, has been extended an invitation by the state fair board to be its guest at a gathering of pioneers to be featured at the next state fair.

Pleasants has been requested to be present on September 7, Pioneers' day at the fair. Despite his age of 92, the pioneer declared today his intention to accept the invitation and report at the fair on the day designated. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Pleasants.

Pleasants crossed the plains with his parents and arrived in California from Missouri in 1849 during the period of greatest excitement following the discovery of gold here.

He "paned' 'gold on the American river and at other places, cooperating with his father in this work.

The family located in what is now known as Pleasant valley, north of Sacramento, the valley having been named after the father of the Orange county pioneer.

Jonathan Watson, residing northeast of Orange, is believed to be the only other resident of Orange county who came to the state in '49. Like Pleasants, Watson crossed the plains with an ox team. He also came from Missouri.

4000 REPORTED DEAD IN QUAKE IN SOUTH ITALY

Melfi, 76 miles east of Naples and on the basis of early reports apparently the worst sufferer, was virtually destroyed. The town has a population of approximately 12,000 persons, and is built on the volcanic peak, Mount Vulture.

All southern Italy felt the quake, although on the northern and southern extremities the tremors were slight and of short duration.

Rescue efforts were hampered by the absence of lights and confusion in the streets, where the inhabitants gathered, refusing to return to their homes. Many persons remained on the promenades facing the bay all night rather than go back to the beds from which they were aroused so violently.

Official reports from prefects in the stricken districts gave the following summary:

Great damage and many victims in the Province of Avellino, affecting the communes of Arianolpino, Lacedonia, Monteverde, Montecalvo, Aquilonia, Bistacca, Melito Rochetta and San Antonio.

In the Province of Potenza, serious damage was done in the communes of Barlie, Melfi, Rio Nero and Ripacandida. The vulture zone was badly damaged.

No victims and only slight or no damage to buildings were reported in the provinces of Campobasso and Materia.

Meantime, attempts to reach the surrounding territory were futile as all telephone and telegraph lines were down. It was 5 a. m. before service was restored to Rome.

The disturbed communications prevented rapid gathering of reports from the affected territory, but police began a preliminary survey in Naples, and found at least 13 were killed here, including the Countess De Rossi-Vagas, who died from a heart attack during the quake.

Virtually every building in the slum section was cracked and many collapsed. The so-called Casanova bridge here was broken and the seismographical instrument in the observatory was put out of order.

The foundations of the cathedral of Cava Dei Tierreni near Salerno, 26 miles south of here, were weakened by the quake, and it was feared the building would collapse.

SUPERVISORS TO BE ASKED TO MAKE SURVEY

ship of the board had discussed the matter.

Reasons For Survey

The high tax burden for the support of the junior colleges imposed on the tax payers of the two districts and the fact that those outside the district could take advantage of the facilities offered at a much lower rate was advanced as one reason for the necessity of the survey with possible creation of a junior college district of the entire county, with the possible maintenance of the two present junior colleges at Santa Ana and Fullerton, or even the addition of a third junior college at some other point in the county. These were considered as possibilities as much as the creation of one union junior college. The junior college tax rate in the Fullerton district is 26 cents. In the Santa Ana district it is 22 cents. High school districts outside the junior college districts pay only a rate of 4 cents.

The 6-4-4 plan, which it is declared is being adopted in many cities also entered the discussion last night, and was advanced as another reason for the advisability and necessity for the survey.

McFadden introduced the matter of the survey at the opening of the conference between the two boards, stating that the Associated Chambers of Commerce committee was desirous of ascertaining the attitude of the two boards on the matter, and that it was felt that the supervisors favored such a move and would finance it if there was a unified request from the two junior college districts and assurance of careful consideration of the results, and that there would be unanimity of action.

Starting Point

Dr. John Ball, president of the Santa Ana board, made a statement in which he declared that for the past two years he had felt that an impartial and scientific educational survey of the county would give all the school districts accurate information on which to base their future plans. He said that a survey would give a starting place from which arguments for either a unified junior college program or continuance of two or more junior colleges, could begin.

"Costs, curriculum and location of a union junior college are but details," Dr. Ball declared. "We must find out the basis for it all from those more familiar with higher education. We are most interested in securing the best education for the most pupils, and the 6-4-4 plan is being rapidly adopted. If some cities in Orange county are ready for that step, that would mean we shouldn't plan for a union junior college. The survey would result in getting information on this subject in addition to the others."

J. A. Prizer, of the Fullerton board, started a reaction that at one time resulted in the not too veiled assertion on the part of McFadden, who declared that the personnel of the board had been changed before and could be done again if necessary to best serve the interests of the district, when he declared that he did not see any need for the survey and would not commit himself on such a move. He asserted that the Fullerton board had been instructed to operate and maintain the junior college there, and that he didn't believe the district would consider abandoning the junior college even if such a thing were legally possible.

Herbert Miller assured Prizer that the meeting was not for the purpose of trying to slip anything over on Fullerton and that if there was anything to be gained by a survey, no one should be antagonistic toward it. He also declared that no progress could be made if sectional feeling was going to prevail.

Is Right Step

S. James Tuffree, of Fullerton, advanced the thought that all that there was to go on now in the discussions of junior colleges was personal opinion and that if experts were secured to make a county-wide survey there would be a tangible basis for consideration and reasoning on the matter. He declared that he believed the survey was a step in the right direction and that an intelligent report from educational experts was needed before further consideration of the matter could be had.

McFadden pointed out that additional facilities were necessary at Fullerton for the continuance of the junior college there and that the tax burden was already unproportionately heavy. Attention was also called to the fact that in the event a survey showed continuance of two colleges feasible that there might be a basis for going to Brea and Anaheim and securing their annexation to the Fullerton district.

Dr. Ball stated that he had been advised by a member of the state department of education that small classes were preferable in junior colleges and that it was probable that the two junior colleges now in operation would be continued as a result of a survey, but that additional information would be provided that would be of value to the entire county. The cost of the survey was estimated at about $6000 or $7000.

Albert Launer, of the Fullerton board, declared that Fullerton was in a position where some kind of a move must be made and that he personally wanted all the information possible before taking any action. He declared that the survey would benefit the entire county and that the people of the entire county should be concerned in the matter.

Arthur Staley, of Fullerton, also declared that he favored the smaller institutions and that he believed the survey would be a good thing to have made.

Dr. Ball announced that the appointment of the Santa Ana member of the committee to place the matter before the supervisors would be selected later.

DISMISS SUIT OF MESA LAND OWNERS

The trial of a large number of Costa Mesa property owners, who were seeking judgment to forfeit a lease and quiet title to their property against a group of defendants, including the Interstate Oil company, ran against a bar yesterday that wrecked it completely.

The case was just getting started when a motion was presented by Kaufman and West, defense attorneys, objecting to the introduction of any evidence in the case on the grounds that not all the interested parties were represented in the action. Following deliberation on the matter, Judge Allen yesterday afternoon ruled on the motion, sustaining the objection. This resulted in the case being thrown out of court.

It had been anticipated that the matter would occupy four days for trial, and a large number of books from the recorder's office had been brought into court to verify records. It is reported that the action was ruled from court on a similar objection several years ago.

JAS. EADS HOW FAMOUS HOBO, ANSWERS CALL

Was 56 Years Old

How was 56 years old and a member of a wealthy St. Louis family. He was a grandson of the famous engineer, James E. Eads, who more than a half-century ago built the Eads bridge over the Mississippi river at St. Louis.

Early in life How elected to seek the society of tramps and he acted as chairman at nearly all the hobo conventions. Recently he had been active in seeking government aid to alleviate unemployment conditions. In this capacity he attended the senate unemployment hearing several months ago.

How's interest in hoboes was entirely philanthropic. For some time before he joined their ranks and toured the country in 1899 he had attempted to aid them by gifts and legislative work, and he finally decided that to understand them he would have to be one of them.

Oxford Graduate

The hoboes, however, didn't quite accept him as one of them. They could never forget that however poor he might look when sitting around their campfires and "riding the rods," he had a fortune of something more than $1,000,000. Moreover, he had attended Harvard and Oxford and had a degree from the college of physicians and surgeons.

How was ousted several times from councils of the hoboes, but worked his way back each time. Once he was ejected from a convention for preaching socialism. Socialism, the hoboes said, was only for laborers and they did not labor.

How founded the hobo college on the Bowery, New York, but it did not flourish because its students were more interested in the subjects of pie and coffee than in economics and how to get a job.

He also took part in the hobo convention in Newark last year at which resolutions were sent to President Hoover and congress concerning unemployment. Plans for a hobo hotel on Park avenue, New York, were also discussed.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 23.—A 20-foot boa constrictor in a zoo on the summit of Cheyenne mountain was found frozen stiff. It was brought to town here for the taxidermist to stuff and mount. When that gentleman started to cut up the snake, the reptile, thrawed out by the heat of the shop, started to move. So did the taxidermist. The snake was killed afterward.

FORMAL STORE OPENING SET FOR THURSDAY

Rare bargains in foods will feature the three-day formal opening period of the Alpha Beta store at 1502 West Fifth street, according to a statement today by Lewis J. Gall, manager.

The formal opening period starts tomorrow and continues through Saturday, the manager pointed out. At the same time he added that the company has made preparation for meeting every demand of the public in the way of service and stock of supplies. There will be free demonstration of food products.

Arrangement of the new store and the equipment installed is said to be more modern than similar stores in the southland, the new features making it easier for self-helping customers to find what they want. The interior is finished in ivory and green.

Pointing out that the new store is in the same location as the first out-of-the-business grocery established in Santa Ana, Gall said that business was not interrupted while the new brick building was being erected to supplant the old frame structure originally built by L. D. Mercereau for the enterprise—an enterprise in which Mercereau pioneered so far as attempting the conduct of a grocery business outside of the down town area is concerned.

Gall was with Mercereau when he established the business in 1906 and later became the owner of the business, which he operated under his own name for seven years. Becoming impressed with the expanding program of the Alpha Beta chain and the success it was meeting with, Gall identified his institution with the chain concern.

Pointing out that the chain now has 28 stores, Gall said the company, created by Gerrard brothers, is now installing in Whittier one of the largest and most up to date drive-in markets in the Southland.

W. L. Deimling Honored at Session of Rotary; Painter Speaks

Tribute was paid W. L. Deimling by members at the meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club yesterday. Deimling, who is a charter member of the club, is retiring August 1 as district manager here for the Southern California Edison company.

Paul Denninger, district manager for the company at Whittier, was the principal speaker. He told of the splendid service rendered the company by the retiring district manager for a period of more than 20 years and revealed to Rotarians here some of the "secrets" in the life of Deimling.

Deimling is an inveterate pipe smoker and he and his pipe have been the subject of much kidding at the sessions of the club. Emphasis was placed on this "frailty" of the district manager by distribution to each plate of a corn cob pipe and tobacco.

Mac O. Robbins, the first president of Santa Ana Rotary, presented Deimling with a corn cob pipe and a special brand of "El Toro mixture."

Joseph Bierren, internationally known painter of trees, was a guest and made brief remarks. He commented particularly on the beauty of Orange county trees.

Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Ruth Lalond, accompanied on the piano by Art Cannon. Cannon also entertained with piano numbers.

The program was arranged by E. S. Morrow and Charles Rutledge, with the former officiating as program chairman.

CANDIDATE IN SPEECH BEFORE 20-30 MEMBERS

Speaking before the Santa Ana 20-30 club at the Santa Ana cafe last night, Harry Westover, candidate for district attorney, declared that the young man of today must be willing to work at little things and thereby acquire experience for the bigger things of life.

Westover's talk follows:

"Times have changed since I a young man of your age. Some seven years ago I moved to Santa Ana. This was not my first visit to Santa Ana, however, for I lived in this city some 25 years ago. My father had a daily newspaper in Santa Ana at that time. I think that it was called the Enterprise. The paper was loctaed on the northeast corner of French and Fourth streets in the old telephone building. If I remember correctly the building had just been completed. Although I say that I came to Santa Ana seven years ago I presume that I could be called an old timer as part of my education was received in this city. From Santa Ana we moved to Kentucky and then back to Arizona. Some seven years ago I succumbed to the urge to return to this part of the country and moved to California.

"When I moved to Santa Ana the last time there was no such organization as the 20-30 club. We did, however, have the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which functioned for several years. Most of the young men of Santa Ana were members of that organization. After reaching the age of 30, however, they were graduated into the Senior Chamber of Commerce.

California Calls

"People from all over the country have a desire to live in this part of California. When I was in the army I was stationed for a while at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Georgia. While there I met people of means who likened California to heaven—a place to be achieved only once in a life time. Many people in Arizona as well as in the other states are waiting until they have accumulated a stake and then are planning on coming to California. That is one of the reasons why we are going to have here, one of the most densely populated parts of the country. Everyone wants to live here. The big question is to provide work for those who wish to live with us.

"I am informed that the 20-30 club is young in years. I might say to you that all such organizations are young. I happen to belong to the Kiwanis club. The Kiwanis club was organized something like 15 years ago and we now have a membership of more than 100,000. Your organization is not large as yet, but I am of the opinion that you will find among the young men between 20 and 30 years of age the same great field that the other service clubs found for their work.

"I do not consider myself old in years. However, I am nearing 40. That is very old as far as some of you are concerned. I realize my age, however, when I stop to realize that since the World war there has grown up a generation who do not know of the horrors of war and to whom war still has the glamour and romance which has appealed to the young men for centuries. Most of you were in knickers when the war ended. I realize how fast time is flying when I think of you who were "kids" at the end of the war and who are now taking your place in the business and social life of the country.

Must Take Commands

"Most of you are young as yet and I would say this to the young man starting out on his business career (and I make this statement because I am somewhat older than you are and have traveled a little of the way you will have to travel), that the greatest trouble with the young man of today is that he wants to get along too fast. Young people must have patience. They must prepare themselves for the work to come. Most of us wish to start at the top—we wish to be the manager or the boss at the beginning. We fail to realize that those who are at the top are there because of their work and experience. None of us like to do the little jobs. We wish to give our time to the bigger things. We had an old saying in the army to the effect that if one wished to become a good leader he had first to become a good follower. He had first to learn to take commands before he could give them. The same is true in the business world. In order to become a good executive one should first learn to obey. The young man must learn to be patient. He must be willing to work at little things. He must be willing to make progress slowly. A little slower progress at the beginning of life—a little more attention to the little things will pay large dividends later on."

CHILD'S REVENGE CAUSE FATAL BLAST

This wreckage, following a blast that took three lives, is the result of a child's thwarted desire for an ice cream cone. When Minnie Cimino, 9, was denied the nickle she requested, she set fire to her father's fire-works factory in Asbury Park, N. J. The explosion, felt within a radius of four miles, killed the child's grandmother, a cousin and a playmate. Parts of the buildings in which fireworks were stored were blown a quarter of a mile.

INSPECTION OF P. O. SITE HERE PLANNED SOON

The site selected here for the federal post office building will be inspected in the immediate future by Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general; Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury and John M. Philip, fourth assistant postmaster, according to word received here today from Los Angeles.

The government officials are now in Los Angeles but the date of their inspection of the site on Bush street is not definitely known here.

Postmaster T. E. Stephenson said he had not been advised of the contemplated visit. The postmaster, however, is a member of a committee of post office officials arranging a dinner for the visitors at the Alexandria hotel Saturday night.

Postmasters and their assistants will be present, Stephenson today sent out letters to postmasters in Orange county advising of the dinner and requested that reservations be forwarded to the postmaster at Alhambra.

ROY L. ANDROSS IS FOUND SANE BY JURY

It required less than half an hour yesterday afternoon for the members of the jury who heard evidence in the trial of the proceeding against Roy L. Andross, an alleged insane persons, to bring in a verdict of sane. Andross, it was charged by physicians, suffered from paranoia, a form of insanity which causes the victim to labor under delusions.

Evidence yesterday was presented by Preston Turner, deputy district attorney, and S. B. Kaufman, attorney for Andross. The jury was informed by physicians and hospital attendants that the defednant was suffering under delusions that he was being persecuted by his parents. Andross took the stand and made a good case for himself. He testified that while in the army he discovered an army officer using and selling drugs and that when he accused the man, he struck him with a club and then injected cocaine, making him an addict for a period.

Andross declared that he was informed when he returned to his old home in Minneapolis last winter that his father had been spreading stories that he was insane and that he asked his father about it and said if he found the man who was making those reports he would "work out on him." He declared that he was arrested shortly after that and committed to an institution in Minneapolis, then returned to California.

CLUB DELEGATE GIVES REPORT ON CONVENTION

Reporting a registration of 4200 persons, including 1136 registered delegates, Elmer Steffenson, speaking at the Kiwanis club today on the convention of Kiwanis International at Atlantic City, declared that there were serious private discussions by delegates of the advisability of limiting attendance at international conventions to delegates only, or reducing the attendance by electing delegates by districts instead of by clubs.

The large attendance, it was intimated by the speaker, has made the annual session rather unwieldly. The subject was not discussed on the floor of the convention, Steffenson pointed out.

The delegate from the local club also made the statement that he had come to the conclusion that a resort city is no place for a big convention, explaining that his observation had convinced him that in such places there are ecores of amusement to detract from the sessions, and that prices usually are higher than in inland cities.

Clubs in the California-Nevada district are more active and progressive than units in any of the other districts, it was asserted by the speaker, who made the comment that California won all the prizes offered by international for attendance and efficiency.

Pointing out that a movement to increase the per capita dues to the international body had been defeated, Steffenson said that many delegates felt that the present stress of economic conditions did not warrant the imposition of an additional financial burden on members.

The delegate commented on general business conditions throughout the east and declared that the situation of unemployment was worse than is generally known, particularly in those centers where large industrials operate.

Asserting that the general public in the east has taken the position that the depression is the sequence of the period of prosperity, and that they are not criticizing any of the political parties or leaders for the condition, the Santa Ana man said he gained from general conversation the impression that the opinion prevails that prewar prices for commodities are on the way. He said it is claimed that price recession has been delayed to some extent by retailers and wholesalers endeavoring to maintain the war standard of prices.

BOARD ADVISED LAND PURCHASE PROJECT VALID

Abandonment of the proceedings to purchase additional property at the Julia Lathrop school which had been advanced as one method to conserve funds so that the junior high school building program might not be curtailed, was found to be impossible last night by the Santa Ana board of education members, who were advised by Leo Friis, deputy district attorney, that the proceedings, which were in escrow, were valid and must stand.

The opinion of the district attorney's office declared that the contracts were binding and valid on both parties and that there was no reason for cancellation. Following the receipt of this information, the board acted to appropriate funds for the purchase of the property, which amounts to 533,500. The property includes two residences and a corner business lot, from which some income may be derived from existing leases.

The board took action last night on the request of Walter Scott, former member of the faculty in Santa Ana schools, granting him permission to take an apparatus he had constructed in connection with a game he invented, to Long Beach, for further experimentation. Scott is now an administrative official in the physical education department of the Long Beach schools.

George Newcom, business mnaager of the city school, reported that a bid had been received from O. V. Dart on moving the buildings on the Ford property, the site of the new Willard high school plant, and all the work, including construction of new walks, would be done at $2925. The board accepted the bid and authorized the work done.

Maurine Simms, assistant librarian at Julia Lathrop, was given leave of absence for one year to attend the Berkeley Librarians' school.

BUILDING MATERIALS IN S. A. ARE DOWN 20 TO 25 PER CENT; OTHER COMMODITIES IN DROP

In line with other commodities that have been dropping in prices, building material costs in Santa Ana today are 20 to 25 per cent less than they were two years ago, according to declarations today by building material men.

The material men point out that with real estate values offered today it is possible for persons to establish themselves in their own homes with very substantial savings in the cost of lot and dwelling as compared with two years ago.

N. E. Lentz, manager of the Santa Ana yard of the Barr Lumber company, today said that compared with two years ago, construction lumber (rough) is down 25 per cent; finished lumber, 15 per cent; cement, 15 per cent, and hardwood flooring, 25 per cent. These are just a few of the items he cited indicative of the decrease in building material costs.

Increase Seen

Real estate men assert that good building lots can be purchased for 50 per cent less than they could have been bought for two years ago, and they stress the point that the increase that is certain to come within a year will take care for two or three years of depreciation on structures erected at this time.

According to statistics compiled by the department of labor the dollar's buying power has expanded more than a tenth in the year ended June 30, and it is nearly a sixth more than four years ago. The deduction is based on 550 wholesale price quotations.

In a table accompaning the statement the bureau gave figures to show that of the great majority of commodities the dollar of June could buy more than it could four years ago. The exceptions noted were automobiles, hides and leather products, including leathe r and boots and shoes, and cattle feed.

Rubber showed the greatest fall in price, according to the bureau's table, and of this commodity a dollar now can buy nearly four times as much as four years ago. Automobile tires are next lowest in this classification of fallen prices, followed by drugs and pharmaceuticals and silk and rayon and some other textile products.

The purchasing power of the 1926 dollar in June, 1930, based on 550 wholesale price quotations weighted according to the importance of each commodity, was given as $1.152, as compared with $1.037 in June, 1929.

Wholesale prices of all commodities, based on the 1926 average as 100, in June, 1930, averaged 86.8 as compared with 89.1 as of May, 1930, and 96.4 as of June, 1929, the report states.

The purchasing power of the 1926 dollar on all commodities other than foods and farm products, the report says, was $1.167 in June, 1930. Wholesale prices of all commodities other than foods and farm products, based on the 1926 average of 100, in June, 1930, averaged 85.7, as compared with 87.5 in May, 1930, and 93.1 in June, 1929.

Farm Products

Farm products as a whole decreased approximately 4½ per cent in average price from May to June, while foods dropped more than 1½ per cent from the May figure, the report states. Of the total of 550 commodities, 50 showed increases, 231 showed decreases, while in 269 there were no changes reported.

Farm products as a whole decreased nearly 4½ per cent in avefage price from May to June, due to further declines in barley, corn, oats, rye, wheat, beef cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry, cotton, alfalfa hay, and potatoes. Higher prices prevailed for calves, lambs, eggs, clover hay, flaxseed and onions. Prices for the month averaged almost 14 per cent below those of June, 1929.

Foods Decline

Foods declined over 1½ per cent from the May level, with decreases for butter, cheese, evaporated milk, beef, mutton, dressed poultry, coffee and flour. For this group, also, prices were appreciably lower than in the corresponding month of last year.

Textile products again were downward, with cotton goods, silk and rayon, woolen worsted goods, and other textiles all participating in the decline.

Housefurnishing goods, as a group, showed no change in the general price level.

In the group designated as miscellaneous there were decided price decreases reported for cattle feed, rubber, and automobile tires, with a similar decrease for paper and pulp.

Playground ....News

EDISON SCHOOL

The Edison playground attendance has decreased during the last week due to the hot weather. There have been 30 children enrolled since the playground started, 28 new children this week. There were silver certificates awarded to Etta Lonsbury and Irene Wycoff during the assembly. The children are hoping to win the picnic which is promised to the school having the best miniature golf course. Our shuffle board tournament started this week. All the boys and girls have taken an interest in this new game.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL

The enrollment for this summer is 91 for the boys and 77 for the girls, making a total of 168 and on Wednesday the attendance was 125. Of course, there were some visitors and five dads called to see the ball games.

In hand work the girls are making folded paper belts this week, and some are making paper flowers, while others are making purses, toys and bags for bathing suits from the rubber inner tubes.

This playground is indebted to many of Santa Ana merchants who give materials that pupils may have fun in making things here at Franklin.

Miss Pearl Camblin entertained the supervisors and assistants of the summer playground centers at her home on North Olive street on Monday evening. Mr. Archer presented the schedules for various championships to be worked out this week. Miss Bemus discussed the pageant to be given soon, and then the group played bridge for a short time with a climax of a lovely apricot ice served by Miss Camblin and her mother.

The boys of Franklin have organized an Electric Shop club. The club meets every Friday at the F. H. Simoneau shop, which is next to the school. The club has planned to make many interesting projects. Each boy who makes some article receives so many points. When he has 250 points he receives a silver certificate, and at 500 points he receives a gold certificate.

July 16 Franklin's elementary boys played Fremont's elementary boys. The score was 27 to 1 in favor of Franklin. The game was stopped at the end of the fifth inning. Franklin made 10 hits off of Ojeda. "Toodle" Castelle made three hits out of five times at bat. Fremont made just one hit off of Joe Rodriquez. It looks very favorable for Franklin to win the championship.

FREMONT SCHOOL

The boys at Fremont playground are making toys, animals, wagons, etc., from scraps of wood. The boys are working very hard on their golf course and hope to win the picnic.

LINCOLN SCHOOL

Hats off to Lincoln! In five days they have constructed a complete nine hole miniature golf course, with Art Wilde as architect.

In the week's tournaments Lincoln won both elementary and junior high horseshoe doubles championships and came in second in both singles meets. A. Cass and R. Schwarm won junior high, E. Youel and O. Noche won the elementary; R. Dresser was second in junior high singles, and B. Mercurio was barely nosed out in elementary singles.

The handwork for the week has consisted of woven paper belts, colored pillow tops, bathing suit bags, bath mats, sewed animal cards and paper folds.

Charley Linger was the receiver of the gold certificate of attainment given out this week and many others are working hard for their points.

LOWELL SCHOOL

The girls of Lowell are learning a Norwegian dance. Miss Camblin is helping while Miss Nicholson plays the piano. The pupils are making aprons and caps. A pageant is planned.

Last week the safety committee was composed of Russell Baker, Norma Aren, Ralph Lambert, Colleen Block and Eleanor Henry. This week the safety committee members are Weslie Duncan, Rohelio Dominquez, Helen Marie Tart, Norma Area and Eleanor Henry.

ROOSEVELT SCHOOL

The following children have passed the 200 mark in playground attainments: Lloyd Race, 525; Bruce Harnois, 350; Dale Smith, 260; George Dorsey, 275; Gilbert Gonzales, 250; Pierino Lovero, 250; Mac Beall, 240; James Watters, 235; Louise Crawford, 235; Kenneth Warren, 235; Harris Warren, 230; Irva Watters, 230; Paul Gonzales, 205.

This record gave Lloyd Race a gold certificate and silver certificates to Bruce Harnois, Dale Smith, George Dorsey, Gilbert Gonzales and Pierino Lovera. Mr. Archer, the playground supervisor, made the presentation speech and impressed upon the children the value of fair play, real sportsmanship and consistent attendance. It is hoped at next Friday's assembly to have at least five more silver certificate earned.

Lloyd Race, the champion domino player in the elementary division, won the horseshoe contest this week. The two championships gave Lloyd 300 points.

Roosevelt junior ball team is now leading in baseball with two games in their favor. They have won three practice games. This makes five victories straight. Gilbert Gonzales is coaching the elementary boys baseball team. The boys have rebuilt the team and look like sure winners to their associates.

In spite of the heat the attendance has kept up surprisingly well.

Doomed Cat Gives Owner Big Shock With Five Kittens

Imagine her surprise when she went to bury her chloroformed cat and found five little kittens in the box!

At any rate, it just goes to prove that the old saying about a cat having nine lives wasn't so much applesauce after all. Any cat that can survive a dose of chloroform and then bring five kittens into the world is pretty hardy, regardless of how many lives it has.

Charles Ocian, president of the Santa Ana Humane society, was telling the story today, following a telephone call from a woman in the southwest part of town. It seems that the woman wanted to do away with her cat so cooped it up in a box Monday night and injected the chloroform. Next morning, she opened the box and lo and behold, five baby cats were inside.

SUGAR HALTS SLEEP

HAMILTON, N. Y., July 22.—Those who have trouble sleeping at night probably are consuming too much sugar, according to results of experiments conducted in laboratories of Colgate University. There it was found that it is possible to stay awake for a much longer period by eating sweet foods than others.

S. A. Couple Home After 7400-Mile Car Trip In East

Dr. and Mrs. MacVicker Smith were home today from a 7400-mile auto tour of portions of the United States, the travelers having departed on May 5.

Business conditions and the unemployment situation are worse in the eastern states than here on the Pacific coast, according to Dr. Smith.

Road conditions generally were good, particularly on the main routes, the Santa Ana physician said, adding that roads were not so good in many of the out of way places he and Mrs. Smith visited.

The travelers stopped with a brother of Mrs. Smith at Olean, N. Y., and a sister of Dr. Smith at Cleveland, Ohio.

Among other places visited were San Antonio, New Orleans, Chattanooga, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, Yellowstone park, Bryce canyon and Zion national park.

The only motoring trouble experience by the Santa Ana couple was four punctures.

ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Anton Friis of Long Beach were week-end visitors in Anaheim as guests of the Leo J. Friis home at 608 North Philadelphia street where James Friis, son in the home, and grandson of the guests, has been ill the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Nichols and two daughters, Loretta and Margaret of Gilbert road left Monday morning on a 10-day motor trip over the Columbia highway taking them as far north as Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holden have returned to their home at 915 North Clementine street after an extended trip to the east. While gone they attended the Elk's convention in Atlantic City and visited New York, Washington, D. C., and New Orleans.

Sunday dinner guests at the J. E. Rymer home at 307 East Alberts street included Miss Jeannette Lutes and Harold Lutes of Santa Ana, Mrs. Wayne Mabry of Anaheim, and C. A. McCullah of Fullerton.

Chief of Police James M. Bouldin, accompanied by Mrs. Bouldin left today for San Francisco where they will spend a two weeks' vacation. Other members of the police force enjoying vacations are James S. Pifer who, with his wife and daughter, Helen, are on their way to Grand Canyon and Zion Canyon, and Mark A. Stevenson and wife and son who have been taking short motor trips.

The Rev. Ralph W. Lee, pastor of the White Temple Methodist church, with Mrs. Lee and their two sons, Theodore and Bill, and Mrs. Lee's mother, Mrs. Mary Webb, who makes her home with them, left yesterday for a motor trip to Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., for a month's vacation. Rev. Lee's pulpit will be filled by supply pastors during his absence.

Late News From Orange County Communities

Newport To Draft Harbor Development Resolution

CHAMBER PICKS COMMITTEE FOR PLAN SELECTION

NEWPORT BEACH, July 23.—In the belief that a different stand on Newport Harbor development from that taken in a resolution passed at the last meeting of the Orange County Coast association at San Clemente will tend toward greater harmony in Orange county and be more practicable, directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce last night named a special committee to draft a harbor development resolution to be offered at the meeting of the Associated Chambers next Tuesday night at Los Alamitos.

The San Clemente resolution asked the supervisors to appoint a harbor commission, which would engage an engineer, make a report and recommend to the supervisors that a harbor bond election be called. It contained a proviso that federal government money must be obtained, dollar for dollar, before the bonds, is passed, were sold.

Plan Impracticable

This is impracticable, it was said, and the special committee was named, as it is understood to be the intention of delegates from the interior of the county at next Tuesday night's meeting in Los Alamitos to introduce the resolution passed by the coast body. The committee consists of H. L. Sherman, chairman; Lew H. Wallace, J. P. Greeley, Harry Welch and Secretary G. C. Macleod.

It was believed by directors who discussed the matter that a resolution satisfactory to the Associated delegates, as well as to this chamber, can be drawn up.

H. L. Sherman, chairman of the Tournament of Lights committee, was again highly complimented on this year's tournament, most successful in the history of the event. He presented a written report, making suggestions for next year's event, which it is planned to hold on a grander scale than ever.

Yacht Plans Told

Frank L. Smith and Sherman, in the absence of Commodore J. A. Beek, who left the meeting early, told of plans being made for the Southern California and Pacific Coast yacht regrattas here August 4 to 9.

Speedboats, which came in for some warm discussion at the city council meeting Monday night, were discussed.

Owing to the lack of funds on hand with which to install a new wire at the electrically-timed course north of the bay, the directors decided not to recommend that mile time trials be staged on that course August 10 and 11, as asked by the Southern California Outboard association.

No Boats Without Mufflers

The chamber had at its last meeting voted against allowing any motorboats to be used on the bay at any time without closed mufflers, and this would automatically rule out the mile trials as requested.

President Ferry asked all who could attend the celebration Saturday marking the opening of Santa Ana boulevard, also the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at Los Alamitos next Tuesday night.

The matter of a letter to be written for a publication being issued by the Brea Legion post and of representation at the Associated Chahbers of Commerce golf tournament at Long Beach July 31 were left to Secretary G. C. Macleod.

LA HABRA BUYS FIRE TRUCK AT COUNCIL MEET

LA HABRA, July 23.—Bids were opened last night at the city council meeting at La Habra for a fire truck for city use, and the Seagraves company of Los Angeles was the lowest bidder at $6000. The engine will be delivered within 90 days to the city.

Other bidders were the American La France at $7458, who also submitted alternate bids not covering the specifications of the city needs; Ahren-Fox company, $7000 F.O.B., and the Mack Truck company, $6800. The fact that the lowest bidder was the Seagrave company was entirely satisfactory to the city council because that particular type of engine had been accepted as the most satisfactory for the needs of La Habra.

The new truck will be equipped with a number of modern devices and is capable of a 500 gallon pressure a minute and will be red with gold lettering denoting La Habra fire engine No. 3.

John Sanks, city engineer, submitted a plan for the proposed new firehall for La Habra, for the inspection of the council and for their approval. Sanks has stated that he would have local contractors to estimate the costs of the proposed improvements on the building including the sum total which is expected to be around $4000, and submit the expenditures later. No action was taken.

The appointment of Hoyt Stagg as temporary night officer was made at the council meeting last night following his appointment by Chief J. Caldwell to take the place of Elmer Brown, recuperating from a beating alleged to have been given him when he accompanied two brothers to their home, recently.

It was decided that the city would collect fees from the contractors at the local schools in that the fees had already been allowed for in the bids of the contractors with the exception of one contractor. The building fees will amount to $120.

Only one license fee will be charged to firms operating under one name, it was decided last night following several weeks of controversy on the subject in which a number of objections were made to levying further license fees.

Each of the council members was asked to formulate a budget for the coming year to be presented at the meeting August 5 at which time a liquidation of a budget will be made for the ensuing year.

Jepson, who has been confined to the hospital with a broken leg for the past four months, and only home for the past three weeks, was returning from his first auto drive since his own accident. Peggy had been playing at a neighbors, across the street and suddenly ran into Jepson'r drive, in front of his car, which was travelling only five miles per hour.

ACQUIRE STRIP FOR SIDEWALK IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, July 23.—Members of the Placentia city council voted Monday night at their regular meeting to acquire a strip of property on the south side of Chapman avenue from Bradford avenue west to the city limits and on the eas tside of Bradford avenue from Chapman avenue north to the school property for the same purpose of laying a sidewalk, and city engineer George Bates was ordered to prepare plans and specifications for the sidewalk to present at the next meeting.

While this property will be acquired under an improvement act, either of 1911 or 1915, the work is not being considered as an improvement proceeding but as a safety measure, to enable school children to go to school with all possibly safety.

Dedicates Strip

Attorney Leonard Evans of Anaheim was present on behalf of C. W. Wents, who owns all the property where the sidewalk will go on Bradford avenue, and the situation was explained to him in detail by Engineer Bates. Bates also reported that Wents was willing to dedicate the 10-foot strip along his land, which has a frontage of 780 feet, but that it would be necessary for the city to make a district and carry it to a bond issue.

It is expected that other individual owners will dedicate land and build the sidewalk, which will cost $1.26 per running foot for walk and curb, according to Bates' estimate. If it is found necessary to make an improvement district of a portion along Chapman avenue, the district will extend one-half block south.

Asks About Assessments

T. E. Pickerill, secretary of the chamber of commerce, presented to the council a communication from the Los Angeles chamber of commerce regarding special assessments, and Engineer Bates explained the situation as being a result of the Matoon act.

John Nora presented a request for a permit to put in a sidewalk filling station in front of his store on Santa Fe avenue, and it was ordered to notify him that it was prohibited by the city ordinance against street obstructions.

Refuse Dance Permit

Manuel Herrerra presented a request from a Mexican association to be allowed to hold a street dance in front of the Americanization building on Santa Fe avenue the evening of Sunday, August 10. The request was denied, but it was granted permission to parade through the town at 1 p. m.

The council plans to have all city phones under the heading of "City of Placentia" in the new phone book, and to ring the fire alarm it was agreed that 52 should be called from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., after that Chief H. Lucy at 125-J, and if no answer is received, 239 for Joe Pauchon. Additional wiring will be installed so that the siren may be sounded from Chief Lucy's home. It was reported that Police Chief Barnes had a phone installed in his rooms.

Some discussion was held regarding collecting a share of the gas tax money to use on street work.

The city budget will be discussed at the next meeting, August 4, and the equalization board of the city trustees will meet Monday, August 11, at 10 a. m. to hear complaints on assessments.

CHARMING GIRL ANNOUNCES HER WEDDING DATE

ANAHEIM, July 23.—One of the pleasant surprise events of the season took place recently at the home of Miss Ethel Phillips at 915 West Broadway. The guests were bidden to a shower honoring Miss Fleta Eisenhauer, who is soon to become the bride of Floyd Llewellan.

Five tables of bridge was played, with Miss Dorothy Kopfer receiving high score and Miss Alice Twinem second place.

Later when the guests were invited to the dining room where tables had been arranged for luncheon, the bride-elect was led to her place blindfolded to find that piled high before her were lovely gifts from her friends present.

The clever hostess had planned another surprise, however, which was not known to any of her guests. Hidden in the confines of the place cards was the announcement of Miss Phillips' engagement to Donald Eisenhauer, brother of the honored guest.

Miss Eisenhauer formerly lived in Anaheim as did her brother. They were both graduates from the Anaheim Union high school. Miss Eisenhauer later attended Fullerton junior college and for the past two years has been employed with the California hospital, Los Angeles. Mr. Eisenhauer has been attending the University of Southern California college of pharmacy. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eisenhauer, are well known here, being former proprietors of the Orange County drug store on West Center and Clementine streets before goin to Los Angeles.

An interestting feature in the romance of Miss Phillips and Mr. Eisenhauer is that they were both graduated from the Anaheim high school in the same class in 1928 and are the first couple from the class to announce their engagement. Miss Phillips graduated this June from the Fullerton junior college. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Phillips. She was assisted in entertaining by her mother.

The guests included Miss Twinem, Miss Twila Brownell, Miss Eloise Owens, Miss La Verne Holmberg, Miss Charlotte Forsythe, Miss Dorothy Kopfer, Miss Barbara Welch, Miss Maxine Harris, Misses Leola and Philura Felton and Mrs. Dan Acosta, all of Anaheim; Miss Marjorie Schutz of Norwalk, Miss Kitty Smith, Mrs. Bob Claire, Miss Thelma Beck, Miss Bessie Eisenhauser, and the honored guest, of Los Angeles.

Dismiss Charges Against Druggist

ANAHEIM, July 23.—Charges against George E. Larsen, Anaheim druggist, for the alleged sale of intoxicating liquor in his place of business, were dismissed yesterday in recorder's court because of the diasappearance of Johnnie Stewart, the only witness for the prosecution, thus making it impossible to prosecute the case.

Larsen was arrested on June 30 by Anaheim police, after W. W. Cosgrove ,Santa Ana, was placed under arrest on an intoxication charge, he having signed an affidavit to the effect that he had purchased liquor from Stewart, then a clerk in Larsen's store. Stewart, turning state's evidence, charged that Larsen was selling liquor.

No decision was arrived at by the board and another meeting was called for this evening so that additional information could be presented.

Plans were made to install new Italian slate boards where needed in the main building of the Bradford avenue school, and it was voted that Alfred Pibel do the work, which will cost about $1600.

Change Office

It was voted to change the main office to the board room, so that the supervising teachers may have more office room. A new office file and safe will be ordered from the Stationers' corporation, with a cardex system from Remington and Rand. The new fixtures will cost a little over $1000.

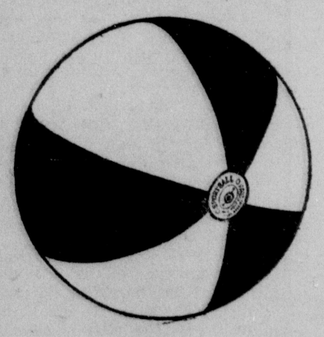

Plans for additional rooms in the annex were discussed, for it has been found necessary to have two more class rooms . To provide for one of them, it was suggested that the sewing room equipment be moved to the basement of the primary building.

It was reported that extermination work for termites had been done at the Yorba school and that the Edison company had agreed to move a pole in the school yard if the board would trim the trees so that the pole could be located on the property line.

AUXILIARY OF LEGION HOLDS JULY MEETING

ORANGE, July 23.—Members of the American Legion auxiliary met yesterday afternoon in the Legion clubhouse to make garments for the Orange Community Welfare store. Each month the members of some one organization or lodge, has charge of the store and during the present month the auxiliary women are conducting it.

Yesterday the group enjoyed a covered dish luncheon at noon and the rest of the day sewing. A layette with crib blankets and a mattress were made and dainty frocks for small girls and trousers and blouses for boys were included in the work completed.

The next regular meeting of the auxiliary will be held August 12. This meeting is expected to be an important one as it will precede the state convention.

Those present were Mesdames Nell Regan, Charlotte Adams, Mamie Anderson, Louise Frostefer, Ora Benson, Dolores Goodwin, Lela Stickler, Harry McCarthy, Otto Ristow, Maude Sisson, Clara Haynes and Inez Bertman.

92 YEARS OLD, DOES ALL HER HOUSE WORK

ORANGE, July 23.—The years have touched lightly the soft brown hair of an alert, erect little woman who has lived in this city for the past 30 years and who it is thought is the oldest woman in the county who does her own housework, takes care of her own garden and lawn and is active in the affairs of lodge and patriotic organizations.

This woman, Mrs. Lydia E. Jones, 313 East Palmyra avenue is 92 years of age. Nearly a century, a century filled with rapid changes, has elapsed since she was born in a little Pennsylvania town in 1838. Mrs. Jones is so happy, so filled with the joy of living that it is hard to realize that her bright blue eyes have witnesses the stirring events, the great mechanical improvements which have taken place in the past hundred years.

Remembers Sewing Machine

Mrs. Jones can remember the invention of the sewing machine and she recalls her relief when it was no longer necessary to make the garments for the men of the family by hand. She can remember when wheat was cut with a cradle and threshed with a crude flail.

Married in 1859 at Marion, Iowa, Mrs. Jones lived for a number of years in Ohio, Michigan and Iowa. "I have lived in states all across the continent," says Mrs. Jones, whose husband William Jones passed away 20 years ago.

The Orange woman has two sons living, one in Los Angeles and one in Nebraska. She comes of a long-lived family, her father living for 79 years and her mother 80. Of a family of four brothers and three sisters two beside herself lived until last month, the sister passing away in her early 70's in San Diego and the brother, 86 years old dying the same month in Nebraska.

Cutting her lawn is one of the things Mrs. Jones likes to do best. "I like to see the grass fly under the sharp blades," she said, as she laid down a weighty volume of speeches by famous American statesmen. "I like to read, and I especially like to read addresses on political matters." Mrs. Jones was reading at the time an address by William Bourke Cochran on "Our Constitutional System."

"When I read addresses it is just like hearing someone talk," she said. "I never met but one president and that was Grover Cleveland. I shook hands with him and told him that our politics did not match. He laughed and said he was glad to know me anyway."

Mrs. Jones has six great grandchildren. Her oldest son disappeared in the Alaska gold rush. After writing he was going to the mines, he was never again heard from. Whether he is living or dead, his mother does not know, but she is quite certain that he was killed for the money he carried with him.

Her long life Mrs. Jones attributes to two things, a natural tendency of her family and taking life as it comes. Not being obliged to do a certain thing at a certain time is conducive to longevity, she says. "I like to do things when I want to, but I like to start what I finish," she declares.

Always alert to go to the Rebekah lodge and to the meetings of the Woman's Relief Corps, both organizations of which she is a member, Mrs. Jones is seldom absent from either.

She likes to read fiction and enjoys good love stories. She does not approve of smoking and has never seen but one woman smoke.

SUMMER PLANS MADE BY QUILL AND PEN CLUB

ORANGE, July 23. — Summer plan were made by members of the Quill Pen club when they met last night in the home of Mrs. J. D. Campbell, 182 South Pepper street. At a short business session it was decided to continue the club meetings during the summer but to make the programs most informal with the manuscripts contributed at the discretion of the members.

Plans were made for social meetings which are to be arranged at a meeting held previous to the event. The annual club picnic is to be held Wednesday, June 30, at the Anaheim city park. A plunge party and covered dish supper are among pleasant features planned.

Manuscripts were read and the first to be presented was a charming tale written around the important subject of naming a new baby. The setting of a small western Dakota town was charmingly and realistically drawn and the Irish characters were very lovable and true to life. The story was well-plotted and held the interest of the listeners until the quite unexpected climax.

Miss Verna Wells presented a romance which began with a girl jilted within an hour of her wedding. As the story developed it fell to the lot of the disillusioned girl to find "something sensible" for a man in the same predicament to do, before arriving in Honolulu where he was expected to bring a bride to his family. A touch of humor and attention to detail made the story one which it was felt would make it readily saleable.

Miss Wells called her story "Something Sensible."

Mrs. N. E. Wells gave a delightful delineation of a character with whom she was well acquainted and she wove aChristmas story around a theme of a long separated father and daughter. The story ended a most satisfactory way when the two were united under the friendly branches of a Christmas tree as the father played Santa Claus to his daughter's children. Mrs. Wells' story was called "The Small House."

Several poems were read by members and these included "Mother" by Mrs. Blanche Brown and "Laughter Beyond" by Miss Dorothy Clarkson.

Mrs. Campbell assisted by Mrs. Frank Was, served a dainty refreshment course at small tables which were spread with covers in pastel tints and which was centered with tall candles in the same soft hues and tied with tulle bows of harmonizing tints.

Those present with the hostess were Mesdames Frank Was, N. E. Nells, Blanche Brown, R. A. Cushman, S. B. Marshall, Harry M. Smith, H. A. Reuter, Marshall Harnois, Marah Adams, Maude Goff, and Miss Verna Wells and Miss Dorothy Clarkson and John Campbell jr.

Jo Cruickshank In Great Tennis Triumphs

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

The newest wrinkle in big league tennis circles is an icebox at the side of the court from which the racqueteers obtain tennis balls . . . not drinks . . . They say that heat increases the "rabbit" in a tennis ball. . . The big league freshman from Yorkville, Mr. Neal "Mickey" Finn, was honored by the home folks the other day . . . Mickey now drives around in a brand new sedan, the gift of the boys back home. . . This Senor Alfonso Lopez has not yet learned that big league rookies aren't supposed to make home runs on bunts . . . Against the Giants, the young Brooklyn catcher caught Lindstrom flatfooted with a neatly placed bunt . . . Freddie heaved over Terry's head and Lopez sailed around toward third without slackening speed. . . Not to be outdone by Lindstrom, Terry retrieved the ball and pegged over the Giants' third sacker's head. . . Meantime, Alfonso galloped across the plate.

CHAMPION—ON THE LEVEL

It has been a Gallant year in three-year-old racing circles. Whichone am I refering to? Well, not exactly; I mean Gallant Fox and Gallant Knight. (Joke all over.)

Gallant young men they have been, and no fouling (a typographical error; it should have been fooling.) The Fox has conducted himself like a true champion, as his record of six straight stake race victories would indicate. The Knight, while beaten twice by the Fox and a time or two in other races nevertheless has proved rather convincingly that he is the second best three-year-old. Whichone may dispute that last remark, but with an injured leg he can't very well go out on the track and prove anything.

Although the Woodward and Audley Farm colts are 'way out in front in comparison with other three-year-olds, quite a distance and a couple hundred thousand or more dollars separates the Fox from the Knight. Fact is, the last time I looked at a paper, Mr. Woodward's youngster needed only $38,660 to make him a greater money winner than Harry Sinclair's Zev, who several years ago copped $313,639 worth of stakes for a turf record.

THE BOYS UP TOP

While the Arlington Classic was a repetition of the Kentucky Derby in actual results, it was a greater race to watch and brought out more spectacular riding than did the event at Churchill Downs. Jockeys Sande on the Fox and Schutte astride the Knight staged a duel of wits, but Sande's superior strategy won out, which is just another reason why he's known as the dean of American jockeys.

A strange thing happened at the three-quarter mark when all but the two gallant ones had grown leg-weary. Sande was ready to move the Fox into the lead on the outside of Maya, the tiring pacemaker. Gallant Knight at the same time came up briskly and breathed warmly on the right flank of the Fox.

Handy Sande with the nimble brain quickly observed that Maya was wide of the pole and as quickly sent the Fox over on the inside as Gallant Knight moved up on the other side. If Maya had closed in, it would have been too bad for Sande and Gallant Fox; but Maya was tired and the gap wasn't closed.

FUNNY THAT WAY

To the thousands in the grandstand the move might have seemed peculiar and unnecessary; to Sande and Gallant Fox it was the only thing to do.

Gallant Fox has a temperament. He will not run between horses. According to those in the Woodward stable, he will run outside or inside of any horse; but put him between two rivals and he can't do it.

Anyhow, Handy Sande's nimble

RANKING STARS ELIMINATED BY SANTA ANA ACE

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana's Helen Wills Moody, today scaled the tennis heights. Competing in the Essex Country club's women's tournament at Manchester-by-the-Sea, she defeated two of the country's ranking stars, Miss Ethel Burkhart of San Francisco and Mrs. L. A. Harper of Los Angeles.

Miss Cruickshank's triumphs were both tremendous upsets.

She eliminated Miss Burkhardt this morning in straight sets, 8-6, 7-5. Miss Burkhardt was eighth seeded player in the tournament.

This afternoon Miss Cruickshank provided an even greater sensation by beating Mrs. Harper, 8-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Miss Cruickshank, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, is playing through all the major Eastern tournaments and will be a competitor in the national women's singles at Forest Hills next month.

MANCHESTER BY THE SEA, Mass., July 23.—Sarah Palfrey, youthful Sharon star, and Wightman cup player, seeded second, was eliminated by Marjorie Gladman of Santa Monica, Calif., seeded sixth, in the quarter-final round of the annual Essex Country club women's invitation singles tennis tournament today, 6-0, 3-6, 6-2.

Mianne Palfrey, an unseeded player, defeated Mary Greef of Kansas City, Mo., seeded fourth, in a third round match, 6-4, 8-6.

Jo Cruickshank

The third upset of the day was the elimination of Mrs. L. A. Harper of Oakland, Calif., seeded third, by Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Calif., 8-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Virginia Hilleary of Philadelphia, the unseeded player who yesterday eliminated Edith Cross, top seeded star, proved easy for Dorothy Weisel of Sacramento, Calif., who won, 6-1, 6-3.

Other quarter-final round results:

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Calif., beat Ethel Burkhardt, San Francisco, eighth seeded player, in straight sets, 8-6, 7-5.

Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, beat Mianne Palfrey, Sharon, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Don George Meets Mat 'Trial Horse'

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Don George will meet Joe Malcewicz, famous "trial horse" in a feature wrestling bout here tonight. George recently came to the coast with a long string of victories to his credit, and added another in his first appearance here by pinning Nick Lutze.

Malcewicz, who holds victories over Earl Caddock and other masters, also has just returned from a successful eastern invasion.

FROM DIAMOND TO FAIRWAY

Big Jess Petty, former big league southpaw pitcher now in the International league, plans to become a golf professional when his baseball days are ended.

'Black Jack' Thompson In Motor Crash

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—A reckless driving charge was faced today by Young Jack Thompson, colored welterweight champion of the world, as the result of an automobile accident last night in which a woman was seriously injured.

The champion was given a police summons after his car collided with one driven by Mrs. Margaret Steiner, Los Angeles. Mrs. Steiner suffered a broken nose and injuries to her back.

Police said Thompson's machine skidded 100 feet before striking the other car.

DON MOE WINS FIRST PLAY IN TITLE DEFENSE

BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, July 23.—Don Moe of Portland, Ore., playing his first round in defense of his Western amateur golf championship, came through with a comparatively easy victory this morning when he defeated Vincent Huntington of Chicago, 4 and 2.

The Pacific Coast golfer made the 16 holes in three strokes over par. Huntington's score was six above perfect figures.

Dick Martin, Big Ten champion of the University of Illinois, who was paired with "Chick" Evans this morning, suffered an attack of appendicitis and is in a Chicago hospital. Evans got a bye.

Phillip Perkins, New York, former British champion, had an easy time disposing of young Freddie Lyon, Pontiac, Ill., 6 and 5.

Lloyd Nordstrom, of Davenport, Ia., who shot sensational golf in Monday's opening qualifying round, was eliminated today by Johnny Lehman of Chicago, 4 and 3. Lehman covered the distance in two over par.

In two 19-hole matches, Johnny Howard of Kalamazoo, Mich., defeated Don Armstrong, Aurora, Ill., one up on the 19th green and Ruddy Knepper, Chicago, duplicated the feat, eliminating Gus Fetz, also of Chicago.

Gus Novotny, of Chicago, put Vincent Dolp of Portland, out of the running, 2 and 1.

George Dawson, Chicago, beat Nelson Ruddy, Cincinnati, one up on 18 holes.

SANTA ANA 'BEES' CONQUER PRINTERS

Hitting Humphries hard and making the most of numerous fielding blunders behind him the Santa Ana Bees, city representatives in the Orange County "B" league, easily defeated the Dennis Printers, one of the fastest City league clubs, by a score of 13 to 3 in the Bowl last night.

Ed Banta, Bee pitcher, yielded only three hits and was given good support.

Santa Ana meets Newport Harbor in a "B" game here Friday.

Wolgast Arrives For Dado Ring Go

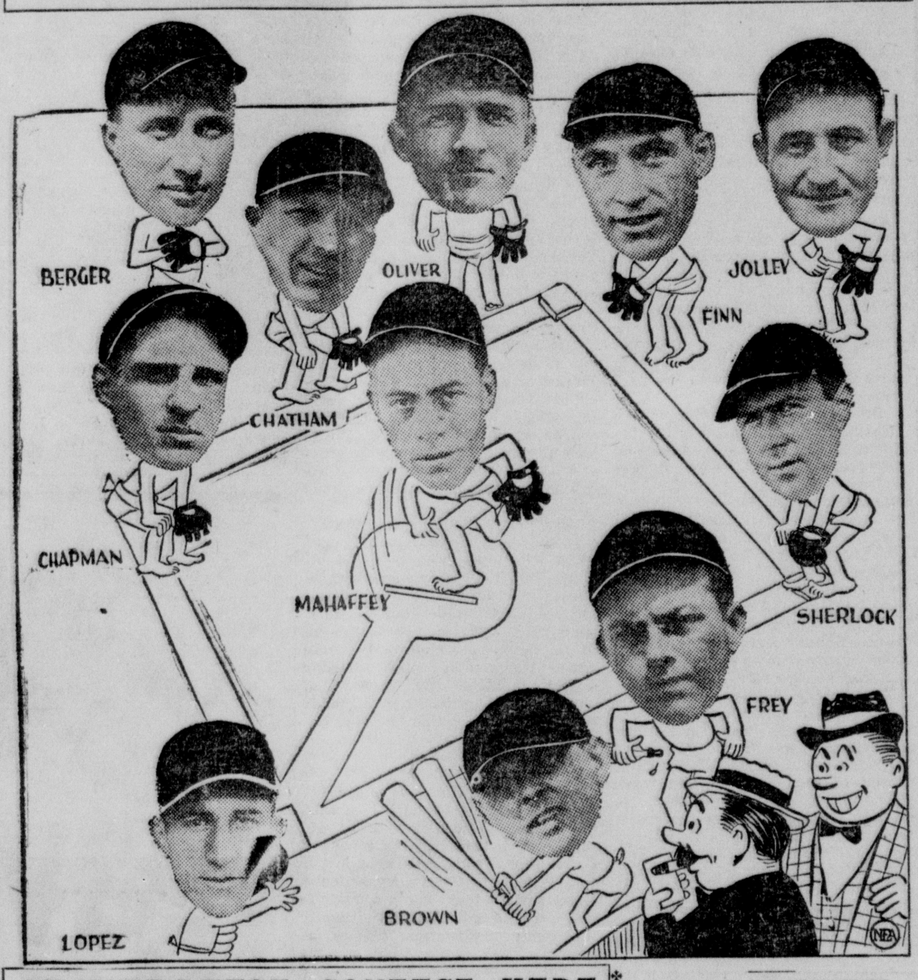

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Midget Wolgast, flyweight champion, arrived here today from New York to begin training for a 10-round fight with Speedy Dado, Pacific Coast Filipino, next Tuesday night.

Wolgast left for the west after defeating Ernie Peters at the Yankee stadium in New York last Thursday night as a preliminary to the Sammy Mandell-Al Singer fight.

Experts are predicting that Jimmy Foxx, Connie Mack's youthful slugger, eventually will surpass Babe Ruth's record of major league home run drives.

ALL-STAR MAJOR LEAGUE UPSTARTS' NINE

Slugging rookies have brought new power to the lowly teams of the American and National leagues Boston and Brooklyn especially have found their newcomers a great help. Below is an interesting yarn about the "freshmen" in the big tent.

CHAVEZ-REESE CONTEST HERE TOMORROW PAIRS KNOCKOUT PUNCHER WITH CLEVER BOXER

Although Zenaydo Chavez has a knockout record that entitles him to lots of respect, "Fighting Joe" Reese, his Santa Ana rival, has been made a slight favorite to win tomorrow night's main event at the Orange County Athletic club. Chavez is a tremendous puncher, a fellow able and likely to end a match with one blow anytime, and yet he has been outpointed on many occasions by a smart, fast opponent—a clever sharpshooter like Reese.

Good boxers of the Reese stamp have been able to hit-and-run, and pile enough points to catch the referee's eye as Reese's record during a year or so of Delhi competition discloses. Billy Darnley's good-looking Mexican protege has gone to the post 14 times under H. T. Foust's promotion, and has been rewarded with victories over Drewry Willis, Casey Risko, "Chuck" Smith, Jess Mongaray, Sid Gregory, George Warncok, Robert Ratliff, Billy Drake and Joe Lopez, and draws against Marty Mack and Pete Toft. He lost to Casey Risko, Joe Contreras and Tony Bevo.

Against slighter superior opposition, Chavez has not done quite as well as Reese. He was knocked out by Benny Miller and Charley Cobb and lost decision to Jackie Stewart and Henry Rollins. He knocked out Joe Kelly, Casey Risko, Billy Dempsey and Rudy Mendez and outpointed Drewry Willis twice. Chavez took a long layoff during the winter because of eye trouble.

There is no question but that

(NEA Service Sports Editor)

A number of upstarts from the tall and uncut are doing quite a lot of major league ball playing this year. One glance at the batting and pitching averages shows their names with some pretty imposing marks after them.

The rookie crop not only has been good this year, but the harvest seems to be placed where it will do the most good—notably in the case of Walter Berger and Tom Oliver, the young men whose booming bludgeons have set lowly Beantown agog.

There are enough new ball players who are playing regularly in the two major leagues this season to form a team, and nobody's set-up at that. Here is a lineup, with recent batting marks for the players and recent figures on the pitchers:

Tom Oliver, Red Sox, cf	.324
Ben Chapman, Yankees, 3b	.308
Smead Jolley, White Sox, rf	.332
Walter Berger, Braves, lf	.316
Jack Sherlock, Phils, 1b	.356
Mickey Finn, Robins, 2b	.390
Buster Chatham, Braves, ss	.333
Al Lopez, Robins, c	.348

And here are the pitchers: Clint Brown, Indians, won 7, lost 7; Benny Frey, Reds, won 6, lost 6; Cecil Pat Caraway, White Sox, won 2, lost 1; Lee Roy Mahaffey, Athletics, won 6, lost 2; Joe Heving, Giants, won 3, lost 2.

Two National league teams have benefited vastly by new faces in the lineup this year, the Braves and the Robins. Berger and Chatham have brought new life to the Braves. Both are from the Pacific Coast league, and Berger is running Hack Wilson a neck-and-neck battle for the home run honors of the league. This is the Braves' first year out of the cellar in quite a few, and there isn't a doubt in the world these young men have had a great deal to do with it.

The Robins, too, have profited with rookies, especially with Al Lopez, the young catcher from Florida. Uncle Robbie brought the young

by DENNY SHUTE

(Denny Shute, famous golfer, today begins a series of articles on golf for readers of The Register. They will pertain to everything of interest to the man and woman who golfs. Watch for them in this newspaper.)

Given the opportunity to put a few thoughts on paper for the first time, there is one thing that strikes me as the most important of all to say to golfers generally. That is about their tendency to slug.

Perhaps my choice of an opening subject comes because it has affected my game so vitally and so recently, but nevertheless I shall feel that if I can only make it emphatic enough, I shall have accomplished my mission at the outset.

The last three years of my career, I thin, will illustrate the point.

Back in 1927, when I was 24 years old, I was just a pretty good golfer. I had won the West Virginia state amateur twice and been runnerup once. That year, when I moved to Columbus, I won the Ohio amateur.

Wasn't Satisfied With Game

That was all very fine, of course. People said a lot of nice things about me and my future. But I wasn't satisfied. I wasn't getting very far in the national tournaments.

At Oakmont, in the national open, I had 325. Not a round under 80. I lost to Max Marston at Minnikahda in the first round of the national amateur. The year before Eustace Storey had put me out a Baltusrol, also in the first round.

I always qualified, but I didn't last. I was pretty good, but not nearly so good as I wanted to be

Friday's Schedule

Santa Ana at Anaheim; Garden Grove at Olive; La Habra at Whittier; Huntington Beach at Orange; Long Beach at Fullerton.

La Habra today was the only ball club in the National Night league within shootin' distance of Santa Ana's shooting Stars. The rest of the pack was three full games back and anxiously studying the schedule which calls for only seven more games this summer.

Anaheim, bitter rival of the Santa Anans and one of the teams to beat for the bunting, fell off the band wagon last night at Olive where it was unceremoniously routed by the dangerous Packers, 15 to 5.

Olive's triumph was not such an unexpected feat because the Greens are one of the very best teams in the league despite their somewhat humble station in the standings but the manner in which they bombarded Anaheim's ace pitchers was surprising.

The Packers knocked Al Bushman out of the box in the second inning when they scored 10 runs on six hits, including a couple of two-baggers, two errors and a walk. Joe Ochoa took up the burden after Bushman's demise and got by until the sixth when Freddy Guenther hacked a home run with bases full. Ochoa soon was thrown out of the game for complaining too strenuously with the umpires. Hunter, an infielder, finished on the mound and receipted for the last Olive run, a homer by John Turry.

The score:

Anaheim ...	310 010 000—	5	9 3
Olive	100 004 10x—	15	15 3

SABELLA SHADES MORNING IN MOUND DUEL

Chico Sabella shaded Howard Morning in a battle between two great night baseball pitchers at Huntington Beach and La Habra won, 2 to 0. Sabella struck out 14. Morning got 10. Chico allowed only one hit, a single by Conditt.

La Habra made both of its runs in the eighth when Wilkinson singled, Young sacrificed and Pancho singled, scoring Wilkinson. Pancho took second on the throw-in, third on an infield out and scored on an overthrow for him at third. The score:

Huntington Beach	0	1	2

Batteries: La Habra — Sabella and Pancho; Huntington Beach—Morning and Goshert.

M'DONNELL HOLDS ACORNS TO TWO SINGLES

"String" McDonnell was "right" and easily took the measure of Long Beach, 7-1, at Long Beach. The tall speed-ball expert gave only two hits, both singles by Al Davis. The score:

Whittier	000 120 202	7	12 5
Long Beach ..	000 000 100	1	2 1

Batteries: Whittier—McDonnell and Rasmussen; Downer, Dalton and Maness.

Orange couldn't even muster nine men and forfeited to Garden Grove, 9 to 0. A few Orange players showed up and, borrowing several Pepper extras, proceeded to defeat the Grovers in an exhibition 4 to 2. Kenny Walker pitched nice ball, but it didn't mean anything.

RACE LEADERS POUND WILHITE FOR EASY WIN

A baseball thoroughbred's greatness is measured in several ways—by rearing, of course, and records established, but mostly by the number of ball games won. So today the boys were three-in-one that Santa Ana's Stars belong up there where they are—on top of the National Night league.

Some thought the Herb Salveson entry was in for a lot of grief when it went to Fullerton last night. Instead the Nite Hawks proved just a breeze for the league-leaders who sweetened their batting averages almost to the man while lambasting young "Bud" Wilhite, a southpaw, for the easiest sort of a 15 to 6 triumph.

It was such an easy victory in fact that it was little more than a glorified workout for the Stars who craved a fairly tough tussle in preparation for their set-to at Anaheim Friday.

Price Settles Down

After staggering through an unsteady first inning, Ray Price settled down and pitched a very good assortment of baseball for the league-leaders. Fullerton got a run in the first and another one in the third but thereafter Price was as tight as a drum until the eighth when, with a 10-run lead to work on, he gave the Nite Hawks a gift of a few runs.

Price's ability to go the route pleased Salveson immensely for the big Red leader wanted to save Ace Joe Cornelius for the Anaheim scrimmage. Cornelius was warming up in the bullpen in the first inning but thereafter enjoyed the sensation of watching a game from the bench. It was his first "vacation" since June 13.

The Stars fairly feasted on Wilhite's stuff. Leavitt Daley hit three clean singles in succession, then a sizzling home run. Randolph Bell beat out a bunt, hit a single, then added variety to his attack with a blustering home run to left center. "Rosy" Merrill clicked a single, a double and a triple. Hill, Youel and Wilcox pounded out a pair of blows and even Price hit safely and topped it off by stealing second.

Stars Go To Work

Santa Ana began its assault in the third and Price set off the fireworks himself. He singled off C. Dauser's glove, stole second and scored on Daley's single. The latter moved up on the throw-in and scored on Merrill's single.

Bell beat out a bunt in the fourth after two were out. He advanced on Scott's walk and scored on Wilcox's double.

But the Stars were only fooling. They didn't get really serious until the fifth when they scored five times before Wilhite retired a man. Hill, leading off, was safe and went to second when Wilhite threw his bunt into right field. Daley singled Hill across and reached second on the throw home. Merrill's double tallied Daley and a passed ball put Merrill on third. Nelson walked and stole second. Youel beat out a bunt and Merrill scored, Nelson going to third and Youel to second when Wilhite made a belated throw to the plate. Nelson and Youel both scored on Bell's single. Scott and Wilcox were easy outs but Price walked man up out of the Southern league where he caught for Atlanta last year, and the way Al has been running the ball games over in Flatbush reminds you at once of Mickey Cochrane. Mickey Finn, bought from the Coast with Gordon Slade, has proved a sensation in a Brooklyn uniform, though competition for the job has been hot with Jake Flowers to battle for the place.

If the Braves are looking up, so are the lowly Red Sox, and Quinn's team has been aided not only by pitchers, but by Thomas N. Oliver. Oliver came from the Athletics via the waiver route, after being picked up by Mack's scouts in Little Rock. Tom is 26 years old and has been knocking around the minors for some years, having parked his hat and coat in some of the very best hotels in Monroe, La.; Shreveport, Vernon, Decatur, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Beaumont, Nashville and Little Rock.

Chapman has been hitting a hot pace at third for the Yanks after making a slow start. He came from the American Association with Dusty Cooke. Jolley of the White Sox, though a veteran minor leaguer, is only 26 years old. He started his baseball life as a pitcher in Missouri, later going to Texas and the Coast. In four years playing for San Francisco he made 150 home runs, and his batting marks were .346, .397, 404 and .385.

Sherlock is another of the fence-busters gathered together by Burt Shotton. The Phils drafted him from the Coast League where he batted .338 for the Missions last year. He can play anywhere in the infield and is a well-schooled young man of 25.

The five pitchers named have shown wonderful promise in their first years. Mahaffey's average is the best, and of course it must be considered he is hurling for a championship club. Benny Frey has maintained a .500 average with a tail-end team. Heving has not had as many chances as Frey or Mahaffey, but he shows a nice lot of stuff and good control. Caraway should be one of the league's star sou'paws next year, though he has been used mostly in relief roles this season. Young Clint Brown established a nice record with New Orleans last year.

Of the 13 players and pitchers, seven are National leaguers and six American.

CHAVEZ, REESE WILL BATTLE TOMORROW

Chavez will knock out anybody he can hit squarely on the chin, but Reese is a fine boxer and may be able to stay away from the knockout artist the entire distance although 10 rounds represents 30 minutes of battling and gives Zenaydo a lot of time to stalk his prey.

The Reese-Chavez affair, one of the most attractive offered by Promoter Foust this year, is to be supported by a very fair array of preliminary talent. Frankie Boldt, a Long Beach veteran who never would have accepted less than a main event here a few years ago, goes against rugged Urban Hernandez, Placentia lightweight, in the six-round semi. Boldt is favored to outscore the comparatively inexperienced Hernandez but there promises to be plenty of action for Hernandez is always willing to try.

Mickey Thomas and "Spike" Harvey, welters, collide in the special event, another six-rounder. Harvey is unknown here but in workouts with Chavez at Long Beach this week has looked like a real fighter. He is a collegian from the east.

Cliff Burrier vs. Packy McMullen, four rounds, and Carl Seibel vs. Ralph Garcia, four rounds, open the program.

SOUTHERN STAR WILL COACH

Ray Farris, All-Southern guard and North Carolina captain of the 1929 eleven, has signed to coach the freshmen at his alma mater. Farris was known as a five-threat guard because, in addition to his play in the line, he also did the work of a back.

and Hill singled infield, tallying Bell.

Daley, Bell Hit Homers

Daley opened the sixth with his home run. Youel beat out a bunt after Merrill and Nelson went out and scored when Bell blasted the second homer of the inning.

Fullerton errors paved the way for the Stars' last three runs in the ninth. Wilcox drew a pass and Price, sacrificing, was safe when Carpenter muffed Wilhite's throw to first. Wilcox stole third and scored on Hill's infield single. Price took third on the play and went home when Lemon made a wild throw trying to nip Hill stealing second. Hill stopped at third and counted when Wilhite dropped Nelson's pop fly.

Fullerton got a run in the first when Sorsabel and Lemon walked, C. Dauser hit a sacrifice fly and Vaughan singled. Scorabel's walk, a passed ball and C. Dauser's single accounted for another in the third. The Hawks then went scoreless until the eighth when Wilhite singled infield and Lemon singled to left, and both raced home back of "Teak" Vaughan's double. The ninth inning counters were manufactured on hits by McGaughy and Jenkins, an infield out, an error and a wild pitch.

PIPING 'EM OFF

Orange forfeited to Garden Grove last night—and still insists on playing off the game it forfeited to the Stars on the Fourth of July.

Ray Price walked the first two batsmen to face him at Fullerton without throwing a single strike but got his bearings after the first inning and issued only one other pass. Price has uncanny control of his slow ball and it was noticed that all but one of the eight Fullerton hits were made off his fast one.

Young "Mutt" Dauser, the Fullerton junior college football star who plays the second sack for the Hawks, came up with the evening's fielding sensation in the sixth when he made a diving, one-handed catch of "Rosy" Merrill's low line drive. It cost Merrill a fourth hit for the uneven game.

Fullerton had only nine men on the field as the game started and that included Manager "Bus" Callan who was stationed at second base. Succor arrived soon, however, and Callan was saved the necessity of making his cob-webby baseball limbs carry him through another game.

Curt Youel had 16 putouts at first base, some of them tough chances, but came up with everything.

Joe Cornelius is a cinch to go against Anaheim Friday. He will have a full week's rest before facing the Valencias, quite a novel experience for the rugged right hander. Cornelius blanked Anaheim with four hits the last time he met George Pace's crowd.

Wayne Nelson went hitless but cut off a home run from C. Dauser's willow with a pretty stab of a hard-hit ground ball in the third.

and not nearly so good as I felt I could become.

So that winter, helping my father run an indoor golf school, I decided to change my game. All I did was move my right hand over on top of the shaft of the club a bit. And it worked wonders.

It Works for Denny

When you're wild off the tee, or with your irons, either, for that matter, chances are you are trying to hit the ball too hard. Move your right hand over on top of the shaft far enough to see the knuckle of your little finger. It worked for me and thousands of duffers I have seen would be greatly improved if they'd try the same thing.

In my next article I shall tell how I arrived at that decision because I believe it will give an insight into one way to straighten out your game.

HOW THEY DO IT

Would you know that those Californians already are talking about winning the I. C. 4-A track and field championships in 1931? And so soon after Southern California and Stanford placed one-two in the games at Cambridge little more than a month ago.

No wonder the east has been able to grab only one title in the last 10 years. Those westerners—Stanford, Southern California and the University of California—talk track and field athletics the whole year around.

Stanford is already lining up its weigh tmen, hurdlers and sprinters for next spring. When school opens in September, Coach "Dink" Templeton will issue a call for candidates. Quite a number of those who will answer his summons will be men who took the long ride east to Cambridge in May. The remainder will be freshmen and men who were on the yearling squad in the 1930 season.

With the championship meet 10 months away, Templeton already is predicting great things for his Cardinals. They say prospects are brightest in the history of the Palo Alto school, in spite of the graduation of htose two Big Berthas, Harlow Rothert and Eric Krenz.

FOOTBALL SEASON NEARS

While I'm on the subject of intercollegiate athletics, let me remind you that the days are getting shorter and the time is drawing nearer for the big football games that will be staged before millions of fans this fall.

At those institutions where football is a big industry—Illinois, Michigan, Notre Dame, Stanford, Southern California, Pitt, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Yale and some others—the boys who handle grid affairs have been putting in long and tedious hours getting everything ready for the rush that starts early in September. To its managers, football knows no off-season.

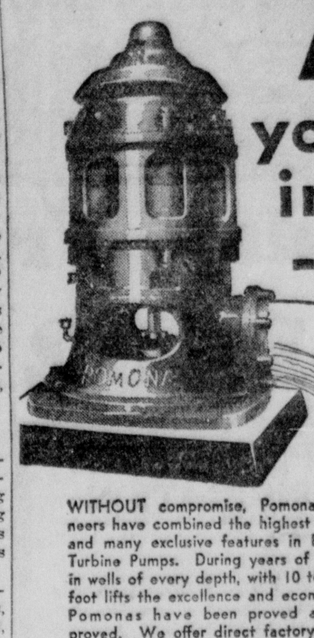

Notre Dame will open her new stadium this fall. Purdue has added several thousand seats to Rose Ada bowl. Other schools have replaced old turf with new green carpets of grass, closed up ends of stadia that previously were open, carried on extensive painting and decorative operations, and last but not least, fixed up press coops for the poor guys who shiver at their typewriters so that you may read about the game in the papers.

SIXTEEN MILLION DOLLARS in interest paid to our SAVINGS Depositors

THINK of the comfort, happiness and security this money has brought to thousands of people. ¶ That Bank of Italy has helped to make Californians thrift-conscious is evidenced by the sixteen millions of dollars in interest paid to savings depositors during the year ending June 30, 1930. This monumental sum represents the definite reward of economy, prudence, self denial, foresight. ¶ For many years the Bank of Italy has expended large sums of money in advertising to encourage saving. That this effort has met with a heavy response is revealed by the fact that the savings deposits of the institution now total over half a billion dollars.

Bids On Julia Lathrop Junior High School Opened

$65,384 TOTAL INDICATED IN BOARD FIGURES

Bids on additions and remodeling at the Julia Lathrop junior high school, which were opened last night by the Santa Ana board of education, reveal that the work may be done for approximately $15,500 less than the architect's estimate of cost. The low bids submitted by contractors totaled $65,384. The architect's fee brings the total cost on this basis, to $69,307 and the estimate of cost including fees, was $84,800.

Bids were submitted by 13 general contractors, and ranged in price from the low bid on the general contract, $49,977, submitted by International General Contractors, to a high of $65,672, submitted by W. H. Bowman. On the electrical work five bids were submitted, the low bidder being the Coast Electric company. Three plumbing and seven heating bids were received, on both of which Hickman brothers, were low, with respective bids of $3798 and $6649.

Under Advisement

All bids were taken under advisement by the board, as further investigation concerning low bidders was desired before the contracts were awarded. The work to be done at the Lathrop plant under specifications on which bids were submitted includes a new cafeteria, eight-room class room unit, new boiler, new transformer and electric panel, remodeling cafeteria into a music room and making changes in the library and domestic science rooms in the main building.

Bids as received last night were as follows: General contract—International General Contractors, $49,977; Wilson-Bever, $53,122; Andy Sordal, $59,830; A. G. Schmidt, $55,450; W. M. Schlueter, $55,540; John Simpson company, $64,500; William Rohrbacher, $56,365; Thermon Means, $55,100; O. T. Moore, $60,400; R. C. McMillan, $58,000; J. F. Kobler, $55,581; C. Haverlandt, $53,985, and W. H. Bowman, $65,672.

Electrical contract—Coast Electric company, $4960; Cope Electric company, $5219; Robertson, $5685; Gilbert - Weston - Stearns, $5278; Cave Electric company, $5690.

Plumbing contract—H. O. Ehlen, $3985; Hickman brothers, $3798; Charles F. Carlson, $4133.

Heating contract—H. O. Ehlen, $7029; Cooney and Winterbottom, $6876; Hickman brothers, $6649; Emerson and Keeler, $7027; R. M. Wilson, $7868; J. B. Welsh, $6938; Foss Heating company, $7637.

To Advertise Site

The advisibility of awarding the entire contract until costs of the Willard plant were ascertained and it was determined whether there would be additional funds available from the sale of the old Willard site on North Main street, was questioned by several members of the board, and decision was reached to advertise the old site for sale at once, and to take an option on the class room building at Lathrop, pending the outcome. It was asserted that if the entire Lathrop contract was let and the old Willard site was not sold, that there would not be funds available for the construction of the Willard plant and that this was needed worse than the class room unit at Lathrop if it was found that one of the two would have to be temporarily postponed. It was pointed out that the gymnasium and showers had been eliminated at Willard and everything had been cut there as much as possible to get within the available funds.

$58,802.50 Shortage

A statement, prepared by George Newcom, the new city school business manager, who sat with the board last night for the first time, showed that there would be a shortage of $58,802.50 under the estimates, not taking into consideration the sale of the Willard site. There remains in the bond fund $506,373.50, according to the statement. The estimated expenditures were listed as follows: Lathrop, building and land, $118,300; Willard, building and land, $411,875; equipment for Willard and Lathrop, $35,000; total $565,175. The difference in the estimated cost and the amount of the bids, as shown last night, will provide an additional margin to help offset this overdraft of $58,802.50. The class room unit at Lathrop was estimated at approximately $43,000, and its postponement until after the sale of the Willard site would result in assuring necessary funds for the construction of the Willard plant.

Approximately eight months will be required for the completion of the Willard plant, J. E. Allison advised the board last night. This means that the crowded conditions at the present quarters being occupied by Willard will have to be endured again for another year.

Newcom was authorized to secure the permission of the city council for the sale of the old Willard site and to advertise for bids. The sale is to be subject to the abandonment of the north building which will have to be used by the school until the new plant is completed. The board decided not to restrict the bids on the property to local bidders.

$718,649 FOR ORANGE COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM

Orange county will receive $718,649 from the state as its annual apportionment for support of elementary and high schools and junior colleges, according to a statement by Vierling Kersey, superintendent of public instruction, in Sacramento today.

The state will allot $27,390,836 for school support throughout the 58 counties of California, an increase of $809,249 over the allotment for last year, Kersey said.

"This sum of twenty-seven million dollars seems insignificant compared to approximately $160,000,000 which the state school system costs," Kersey declared.

"The remainder, about $130,000,000, must be made up solely from taxes on property, a burden which the state department of education is striving to lighten.

"We have already proposed several plans for allowing the state to take over a greater share of the financial load of school support. It will require a revision, or an extension, of our state tax system, but it will achieve the imperative need for a sharp reduction in county property taxes."

The $27,000,000 will be allotted among the counties on the basis of average daily attendance, Kersey explained. He has held that this is an unfair method of distribution, as counties which are least in need of financial assistance are the ones which receive the most.

"Poorer counties have fewer children and consequently receive less state money," the superintendent asserted.

"This is obviously an unfair system, for invariably the poorer counties lose population and in school children. They are being penalized by the state because of the fact that they are poor.

"The state department is now evolving a plan that embodies a state equalization fund, which will be used to aid counties that cannot adequately support their own systems.

"Apportionment on a per capita basis is an obsolete method and one that we should discard at the earliest opportunity. The state owes it to its citizens to provide them with an education, because state law calls for compulsory education. The least the state can do then, is to help the counties carry out this law."

ROAD RECEIPTS FOR COUNTY AT $1,587,195.70

The annual report of the county highway department, prepared by Nat H. Neff, county superintendent of highways, and P. N. Hood, road department accountant, which was submitted to the county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon by Neff, shows total receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, of $1,587,195.70 and total expenditures of $1,487,627.88. Of that latter amount the statement figures show that $549,091.05 was expended during the year in various new construction projects, while the sum of $254,782.08 was used for maintenance work.

$42,960 For Cars

One of the interesting features of the report was in the division under garage and auto expense, where it was shown that during the last year the county spent $42,960.42 for new cars, maintenance, garage expense and other items incident to operating its fleet of cars. During the year nine cars were purchased at a total cost of $14,358.51. These were for use of the following county departments: District attorney, farm advisor, flood control, horticulture, hospital, road, sheriff and surveyor. An expenditure of $18,177.90 was listed under maintenance in this division of the road department report. The garage and automobile expense was listed in the road department report because the accounting is handled through the road department office.

The report reveals that all supervisorial districts except the first, which is Santa 9na, have two road funds—the regular district road fund and an auto license fund, the latter being derived from the state refund to the county for auto license and gas tax moneys collected.

District Items

The items of the various funds are as follows:

Second district—road fund, receipts, $124,401.72; new construction, $20,571.25; maintenance, $55,584.38; total expenditures, (including other items) $90,278.77; autolicensefund, receipts, $90,083.33; new construction, $72,399.09; assistance to improvement districts, $14,083.33; total expenditures, $78,742.20.

Third district—road fund, receipts, $167,429.63; new construction, $34,375.19; maintenance, $64,552.09; total expenditures, $111,816.11; auto license fund, receipts, $102,281.45; new construction, $37,899.56; assistanceto improvement districts, $47,270; total expenditures, $84,911.92.

Fourth district—road fund, receipts, $37,357.74; new construction, $3240.78; maintenance, $28,274.54; total expenditures, $38,573.52; auto license fund, receipts, $88,116.67; new construction, $48,669.39; maintenance, $2434.02; assistance to improvement districts, $18,116.67; total expenditures, $73,039.87.

Fifth district—road fund, receipts, $84,408.84; new construction, $11,475.96; maintenance, $57,608.11; total expenditures, $68,122.93; auto license fund, receipts, $95,447.86; new construction, $76,562.43; maintenance, $1428.49; total expenditures, $74,051.46.

In every instance in the above figure, certain other items were included in making up the total expenditures other than the amounts listed.

Balance of $182,287

From the fund known as the unapportioned auto license fund there was left a balance of $182,287.39 at the close of the year, although expenditures were greater than receipts. This was due to the fact that there was a larger balance on hand at the beginning of the year than there remained at the close. The receipts in this division were $353,819.41. This was the amount received from the state as the county share of the funds realized. Apportionments to the various district funds totaled $365,720. An item of $4000 was also shown under expenditures as being appropriated to Orange for kork on Chapman avenue. Notations were also made in connection with this fund that there were obligations for appropriations to Huntington Beach of $12,781.01 and to San Clemente of $21,587.

The bridge fund was the only one listed that failed to show any receipts during the year. Total expenses for construction and maintenance under this division were $14,259.48, made out of a balance on hand at the first of the year of $18,445.82.

The county good road fund listed receipts of $334,610.60, new construction, $234,236.74; maintenance, $46,387.01, total expenditures, $395,471.07.

The general road fund carried $109,238.45 as receipts, with one expense item of $73,912.13 for equipment and a total expenditure of $92,650.55.

From the county general fund total expenditures of $135,259.28 were shown, including $44,437.58 for new construction and $75,000 for assistance to improvement districts.

Figures shown in the annual report of the county road department give conclusive proof as to the fact that paved roads, once they are established, are much cheaper to maintain than roads of any other type.

The expenses of maintaining the paved roads of the county during tht year amounted to $45,896.33, while $89,005.80 was spent on dirt roads. According to these figures, $21,510.68 more was spent in maintaining non-paved highways.

Machinery Is Hauled For Ortega Road

A crew of 12 Capistrano men has started work on the new Ortega highway. Machinery and camp equipment is being hauled to the terminus of the present road, two miles above the Capistrano hot springs, where the new contract is to start at the end of the roadway completed last year.

A number of men are clearing brush and doing preliminary work, making ready for steam shovels and graders. The $10,000 bridge near the hot springs, which will be an important feature of the new inland route, is to be one of the first units which will be worked on.

Orders have been issued by the forest reserve department to Forest Ranger Lippsett, to make surveys for camp and cabin sites, and for tourist camps, which will be constructed along the new highway.

MODERN NOAH'S ARK

NEW YORK, July 22. — The steamer Albert Ballin recently pulled into port here resembling a modern Noah's Ark. It carried a large assortment of birds, fish and animals for Louis Ruhe, importer. There were 50 swans, two German storks, six cranes, a panther, three zebras, two antelopes, 200 monkeys, and twenty large jars full of brilliant tropical fish.

STATE GUARDS RECEIVE $1000 FOR EQUIPMENT

Action taken by the county board of supervisors at the afternoon session yesterday included two appropriations. An additional $500 was ordered paid to the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce on account of the Tournament of lights. The other appropriation was made to the National Guard. This one was for $1000 and was for the purpose of aiding two new companies of that organization in the county in the purchase of equipment such as desks, lockers, etc. The money was appropriated on the understanding that there would be no regular requests in the future for aid of this sort.

The board heard a discussion of a new kind of bond, known as return of securities bond, which it was proposed to be substituted for certain burglary and theft policies that are now in force on county funds. An insurance specialist informed the board that the costs of carrying insurance could be lowered by adopting the new plan. Rates on burglary and theft insurance have more than doubled in the past three years, he pointed out. The matter was presented to the board through the insurance firm of Swales and Farwell.

An appeal for an increase in the appropriation for advertising with the All Year club, which handles national advertising for Southern California, was presented to the board yesterday by Charles A. Horrworth, of Los Angeles, field secretary of the club. The county is now spending $2000 per year and Harrworth urged the board members to increase this amount at least to $3000. He outlined a plan whereby the club is matching the amount of county money in a special advertising program directing attention directly to the county, rather than a general Southern California program, and advised that Santa Barbara county had increased its appropriation this year from $5000 to $10,000.

During the afternoon, Dr. Harry Zaiser, superintendent of the county hospital, appeared before the board, and pointed out that the institution is being operated at a cost of $2.21 per patient per day. Costs in the Los Angeles county hospital are $5.08, Dr. Zaiser stated. Zaiser also informed board members that his staff was functioning efficiently and that good work was being accomplished.

C. C. Bonebrake, city engineer of Orange, appeared before the board yesterday and presented a request from the city of Orange for permission to connect a city sewer to the hospital connection to the general outfall sewer The matter was referred to the hospital committee which is headed by Supervisor John Mitchell

The report of the park appraisal committee which was presented to J. M. Backs, clerk of the board at the close of a conference with a representative from the state park board, was not opened by the board yesterday. Supervisor John Mitchell, who has been active in the matter of the state park project, which it is proposed to establish on the beach extending from Newport Beach to Huntington Beach, advised that there was a slight difference in the amount of the valuations set upon the tract by the two bodies, which it was expected would be settled in the near future.

The next step in the course of procedure in the matter of securing the park, which it is proposed will be purchased jointly by state and county, then dedicated to the state and maintained and operated from the state park fund, is to be taken by the state, Mitchell advised.

CLUB SINGERS TO ASSIST IN PARK CONCERT

When a vocal ensemble of members from the local Treble Clef club appears in connection with the program which is being planned for presentation in Birch park tomorrow night, by the Santa Ana Municipal band, the group will be heard in numbers by German composers, including that favorite classic, "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," by Franz Josef Haydn.

According to D. C. Cianfoni, director of both of these musical organizations, all of the numbers that have been chosen for presentation tomorrow night are works by foremost German composers, including works from Wagner, Strauss, Brahms, Lincke, Waldteufel and Mendelssohn, representative of various periods of German musical history.

One of the inteersting numbers that will be offered will be the "Military Overture" by Felix Mendelsshon. Mendelssohn is noted as one of the foremost of German classic composers, the chief charm of his music lying in its calm symmetrical beauty. He lacked the creative genius of Bach, Mozart, or Beethoven, but he restored classic forms, being responsible for the Bach revival of 1829.

As a child, Mendelssohn was musically precocious. He had the advantage of excellent musical training, and appeared publicly as a pianist when only 10 years old. At 15, he publicly played a concerto of his own, composing his C Minor symphony the following year. In 1826, when only 18, Mendelssohn composed his famous overture to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which alone would have made him immortal.

By 1838 Mendelssohn's famous oratorio "Elijah" was well under way. He was appointed choral director to the king at Berlin two years later, and in 1843 opened his famous conservatory at Leipzig, which he directed.

During his active career Mendelssohn made many trips to London, where he was especially popular. His "Elijah" was performed there very successfully in 1846. Suddenly, he died November 4, 1847, all Europe mourning his death.

New Edition Of 'Caminos Viejos' Seen

A second edition of "Caminos Viejos," the recent publication of Postmaster Terry E. Stephenson, which was printed at the high print shop under the supervision of T. E. Williams, director of printing, seems assured, it was learned today. Requests for the volume, which is regarded as one of the most beautiful pieces of crafsmanship, telling some very interesting things about the history of this part of California, on the market, are continuing to pour in on the publishers. The entire balance of the first edition was ordered yesterday by the J. W. Robinson company, of Los Angeles.

The volume has met with an exceptionally warm reception due to its interesting story and the artistic and unusual manner in which it was printed. The purpose of the book, to preserve records of county history, publish a work that would reflect credit on the high school department of printing and provide funds for the student loan fund, has been accomplished unusually well, according to D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school. Approximately $400 was added to the loan fund through the sale of the book, Hammond revealed.

SCHOOL APPLICANT ADDRESSES BOARD

J. O. McLaughlin, an applicant for the position as assistant superintendent of schools, appeared before the school board last night at the meeting in the administration offices of the city schools. McLaughlin for the past 19 years has been in administrative work in Oregon schools and during the last two years has been a student at Stanford university, doing work on a degree of doctor of education, which he declared was more practical than the ordinary Ph. D. degree.

The applicant told board members that he had specialized in administration courses at Columbia, Oregon state and Stanford, and that he was closely acquainted with the changes that were now being undergone in the field of education. He paid a high tribute to Santa Ana as a progressive city and a wonderful place to live.

Board members assurred McLaughlin that they would give his application every consideration. There are several other applications that have aroused the interest of board members, who are hoping to secure an exceptionally able man to continue the work that Superintendent J. A. Cranston plans to relinquish next year.

SELECTION OF ELECTION FORCE IS UNDER WAY

Members of the county board of supervisors started a large task yesterday when they began the work of selecting and appointing election officials for the approaching primary elections, to be held next month. Judges, clerks and inspectors have to be appointed for each of the 189 precincts in the county.

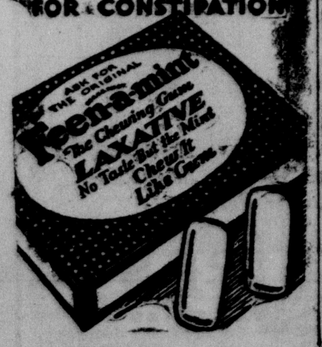

While there was a large number of applications for these positions on file that has previously been left with County Clerk J. M. Backs, the number of applicants in several districts was not sufficient to complete the roll of election officials. There are six persons to be appointed for duty in practically all of the 189 precincts, according to Backs, making a total appointment list of approximately 1135 persons who will be required to handle election matters at the polls on August 26.

There are 15 new precincts that have been added since the last county election. These precincts were created by county officials due to increases in registration and the number of voters in the county. An effort is made to limit the number of registered voters to between 250 and 300 in each precinct, according to Backs, and the additional precincts were created last November after it was revealed that such a move was necessary.

Dr. and Mrs. Raugh Are Home from Long Trip

Having returned from a three months' automobile journey through various delightful places in the United States, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Raugh, were today back in their home at 731 South Birch street, and greeting their many friends here. During their pleasure tour they covered almost 9000 miles.

Dr. and Mrs. Raugh left Santa Ana on May 1, and made one of their first stops in Florida, being especially pleased with Miami. From the southern state they continued north, spending several weeks in Pennsylvania, Dr. Raugh's home state where he has several relatives. Features of this interval in their journey were a number of side trips to points of interest. Des Moines, Iowa, and Lincoln, Neb., were among the cities visited in other states.

On their return drive, Dr. and Mrs. Raugh spent some time in Reno, Nev., and continuing on their way through California, stopped in the northern part of the state to visit with relatives. They were especially fortunate in escaping extreme warm weather throughout their journey, and experienced the warmest when they arrived in Santa Ana.

Charming Wedding Rites Are Conducted at Ranch Home

A morning wedding of most attractive features was that of Miss Helen N. Bierbower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bierbower, and Guy Allred of Hollywood, which took place Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in the charming setting afforded by the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Valentine, cousins of the pretty bride.

Combined in a decorative scheme with the exquisite pastel tones of massed hydrangeas, were quantities of gladioluses ranging from pale ivory to deep orange-gold. These were used effectively throughout the home, and in the living room, banked an archway of ferns beneath which the young people stood to take their nuptial vows.

The marriage service, read by the Rev. M. L. Pearson, former pastor of the Orange Presbyterian church, seemed doubly impressive in the Sabbath quiet and peace of the morning. The lovely young bride was a picture in her gown of snowy moire, a sleeveless model fashioned on long straight lines. A filmy tulle veil fell from wreathed orange blossoms gathered from the nearby grove. A shower cluster of bride roses and lilies of the valley, completed her charming appearance.

Miss Jauneta Bierbower served her sister as maid of honor, and wore a graceful gown in bisque silk crepe with which she carried shell-pink blossoms. Virgil Harmon of Anaheim, assisted Mr. Allred as best man. Little Miss Ruth Valentine, adorable in a quaint frock of pale yellow silk, was ring bearer.

The ceremony was preceded by the popular bridal air, "I Love You Truly," sung by Mrs. Orlo Hobbs and Mrs. R. S. Frye, and the Wedding March from Lohengrin played by Mrs. Frye.

At the wedding breakfast which followed, every decorative appointment stressed the rose pink theme, with pink gladioluses arranged in a mound in the center of the long table, while slender pink whip tapers flickered from their rose crystal holders. As a feature of the breakfast, the new Mrs. Allred cut the bride's cake, beautifully decorated and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The Yosemite valley was the honeymoon choice of the happy young people, and they are now enjoying its wonders. Upon their return they will go directly to Hollywood where Mr. Allred, a registered pharmacist, is employed.

Among the relatives and close friends assembled for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bierbower, and their daughter and son, Miss Jauneta and Edsel Bierbower of Tustin, Mr. and Mrs. Engle of Long Beach, Virgil Harmon of Anaheim, the Rev. M. L. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Frye, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Hobbs and Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Valentine, their sons, Vernon and Leslie, and daughter, Ruth, all of Orange.

Miss Evelyn Trickey Recently Wedded In Reno

Interesting announcements sent out today by Mrs. Florence Trickey, 726 South Van Ness avenue, gave family friends their first knowledge of the marriage on June 15, of her daughter, Miss Evelyn Joyce Trickey of this city, and Carl Hiltscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hiltscher of Anaheim.

The mid-June ceremony took place in Reno, Nev., with the Rev. William Moll Case, pastor of the Reno Presbyterian church, officiating. The young bride chose a chic ensemble of pastel blue with eggshell accessories, which accentuated her blonde beauty.

On their return from a northern honeymoon, spent at Lake Tahoe and Yosemite, Mr. and Mrs. Hiltscher will be at home after August first in their attractive ranch home located two miles north of Anaheim. Since her graduation from Santa Ana high school, the former Miss Trickey has been in the employment of the W. P. Fuller Paint company, while her husband is a prosperous young orange grower of the county.

Interesting Guest Has Pronounced Psychic Powers

Coming to this city as the house-guest of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kearns, 1208 Orange avenue, Mme. Margaret Pierce Webber of Seattle, Wash., has consented to the request of those aware of her pronounced psychic powers, to give a series of readings during the latter three days of the week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mme. Webber's powers of divination make her a most interesting visitor in the city, and her reminiscences are remarkable things to hear. During her stay in the Southland, she plans to present her case to the authorities having the Hickman reward in charge, for her predictions regarding that terrible Los Angeles crime, were later proven to be absolutely correct, and led to the apprehension of the slayer.

It is not in the realm of murder and morbid affairs that the possessor of this strange psychic sense, prefers to manifest her powers, for as she carefully explains, she tries conscientiously to see only the pleasing things and the good that the future holds. In the Hickman case, however, she was called upon by the newspaper of Everett, Wash., her home at that time, for her aid insolving the mystery. Those aware of the aid thus given, are agreed that she is rightfully entitled to a share of the reward.

While she is being entertained in the Kearns home, where she and Mrs. Kearns are renewing associations in their first reunion in nearly 30 years, Mme. Webber has completed arrangements for holding readings for those interested, in the more centrally located Santa Ana hotel on North Main street. In her own home city she is noted for her powers of divining the winners, not only in national athletic events and the world series ball games, but also in the coast league games.

Capistrano Y. L. I. Holds Enjoyable Party

So well did Mrs. R. H. Sandon have her plans made for the delightful Y.L.I. dinner and card party given last night in her home at 903 Halladay street, that she was quite care-free in leaving last week by airplane for the state convention in Alameda, knowing that upon her return Monday, she could complete arrangements for the hospitality.

In outlining the affair, which was a covered dish dinner, a menu was planned in advance, and each member of the institute instructed as to the dish she was to bring. In addition to the donated delicacies, those attending were to pay a certain small sum, all of which went to the social funds of the Capistrano institute, for future festivities.

The supper hour was a very enjoyable one, with the 50 or more guests congregated on the grassy lawn to enjoy the menu in picnic fashion. The flwoers growing nearby, contributed their charm to the setting. Mrs. Sandon's beautiful dahlias lent a festive air to the home where the evening's diversions were staged. Moving from the garden to the home fully half of the guests took part in the bridge games planned by the hostess. Of these, Miss Marie Robertson of Anaheim and Harry Edwards each made high scores, and were rewarded with attractive prizes, while consolation gifts were presented Mrs. Mabel Kendall and A. L. Steward.

At tomorrow night's meeting of Capistrano chapter, the convention delegates will submit their reports of the valuable sessions of the past week, and the hospitality accorded by the Alameda chapter.

Star Motif Adds Charm To Linen Shower For Miss Porter

If Miss Lorene Porter, of Los Angeles, popular daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. F. T. Porter, formerly of this city, continues her life's program in a fashion suggested at the unique party given in her honor last evening when Miss Julietta Hagthrop, Miss Pauline Porter, and Mrs. E. C. Hagthrop were co-hostesses in the latter's home on North Parton street, she will "hitch her wagon to a star." For the charming star motif was carried out throughout the evening in such a manner as to portray the familiar saying. Invitations were issued in the form of blue and gold planets signifying messages from the heavens. Occasioning the delightful affair was the announcement a short time ago of Miss Porter's approaching marriage on August 9 to Donald Nash of Hanford, Calif.

A variety of mixed bouquets, combining yellow glads and marigolds with blue delphiniums, contributed to the color scheme of the evening, and formed an attractive setting for the hours of games and exciting contests. A miniature bridal party on the dining table added to the decorative effect. Taking first prize in a clothes pin diversion was Mrs. Clyde Morrison, while the honor guest was given a practical little clothes pin bag. The guests then adjourned to the garden, abloom with colorful flowers, and Miss Porter was led to a fern-banked corner where a large gold star was hitched to a wagon full of lovely linens.

At a late hour refreshments were served on individual trays, completing the sparkling motif of the evening.

Those sharing the delightful evening with the hostesses, Miss Juiletta Hagthrop, Miss Pauline Porter, a sister to the honoree, and Mrs. E. C. Gagthrop, and Miss Lorene Porter, were Mesdames F. T. Porter, W. S. Buchanan, C. E. Price, A. W. Gerrard, T. P. Kingrey, Alice Sturgeon, T. D. Knights, W. B. Williams, R. T. Harris, M. D. Haskall, Clyde Morrison, Helen Miller, Henrietta Moreland, Jack Taylor, Charles Waggonner, O. A. Snider, James Coulson, E. Hull, Frank McCarter, E. L. Crasher, James O'Brien, F. M. Gist, W. P. Westminster Home Is Scene of Lovely Nuptials

Occuring Saturday night, July 19, in the neighboring community of Westminster, was a wedding ceremony of marked charm, uniting Miss Frances Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Finley of Westminster, and Frank Richards, young Los Angeles business man.

The Finley home was decked in pink and white blossoms for the rites, with a leafy bower erected near a large window in the living room, where carnations and ferns were entwined with gilded cupids and wedding bells, with a single large white bell suspended from the center of the archway. Artistic standard baskets at either side, were filled with pink and white blossoms.

Miss Finley, an only daughter, was very lovely in her bridal gown of shell-pink lace over georgette in the same delicate tone. Her soft hair was wreathed with orange blossoms, and she carried a formal bouquet of pale pink rosebuds showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Ray E. Finley, young sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor and wore a bouffant frock of pale blue taffeta. George Richards of Los Angeles, attended his brother as best man. The young people took their places beneath the floral arch to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Miss Gladys Stone, and the single ring ceremony was conducted very impressively by the Rev. Floyd Seamans, pastor of Garden Grove First Methodist church, just at 8:30 o'clock.

An informal reception gave those present opportunity to extend their congratulations and good wishes before the new Mr. and Mrs. Richards departed for Long Beach, their first stop en route to Catalina Island where they are now spending a delightful honeymoon. The double heart motif was expressed by the refreshments served during this reception, and a pretty touch was given when Mrs. Richards cut the towering pink and white bride's cake.

The wedding group included in addition to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Finley, parents of the lovely bride, Mrs. Fred Richards of Los Angeles, mother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Richards and their small son, George Jr., and William Radle of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. His bride is a native daughter of California and Westminster, and after completing studies in the elementary schools of her community, graduated in 1929 from Huntington Beach high school, since which she has been in the office of a Santa Ana mortgage company. She has many warm friends in this city whose best wishes will follow her to her new home.

Linen Shower Given As Pretty Courtesy to Miss Harnois

When Miss Charlotte Harnois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Harnois of East Walnut street becomes the bride of Chester Siegel of Ventura the latter part of this month, she will establish her home amidst a delightful array of household accessories and luxuries which would gladden the heart of any young housewife. For Miss Harnois has been the incentive for innumerable parties since the announcement of her engagement early in the summer, the most recent of which was a linen shower given on Saturday afternoon in the home of Miss Jean Campbell at 2450 Heliotrope Drive, with Miss June Goodwin and Mrs. Charles Hunt of Anaheim completing a charming hostess trio.

Pom-pom dahlias in a variety of soft hues were most effective in their lavish use throughout the rooms, and formed a pretty setting for the young girls and matrons in their summery frocks. Bridge was played, and Mrs. Marshall Harnois succeeded in winning the coveted first prize, a lovely silhouetted fawn done in black and white, a wood block print by that talented young Santa Ana artist, Miss Jean Goodwin, sister of Miss June Goodwin of the hostess trio. Mrs. Clifford Cole as holder of second prize score was presented with attractive note paper, while Mrs. Robert Lufbery was consoled with a prettily decorated brush. The refreshment course was served late in the afternoon, and carried out the soft hues used in the floral decorations. Centering the table at which the honoree was seated was the petite figure of a bride dressed in a bouffant white crepe paper frock, while the other tables were adorned with charming bridesmaids in pastel-tinted dresses in harmony with the nut cups at each place.

Miss Harnois was presented with the prettily wrapped linens as a fitting conclusion to the delightful afternoon.

Those present, other than the hostesses, the Misses Jean Campbell and June Goodwin, and Mrs. Charles Hunt, and the honoree, Miss Charlotte Harnois, were Mesdames Marshall Harnois, W. C. Campbell, George Lewis, L. A. Turner, Clifford Cole, Robert Lufbery, R. Dean Smiley, Lawrence Kokx, Lyle Roberts, Harold English, Thelma Miller, and Robert Owen of Los Angeles; and the Misses Virginia Powell, Thelma Morehouse, Myrtle Ketchum, and Mary Griset.

The hours passed quickly while the guests stitched on their dainty pieces of needlework, and shared interesting chat of travels and outings of the summer vacation season. A delectable supper served on individual trays bearing artistic yellow nut cups was an enjoyable conclusion to the evening.

You add flour to your cake batter a little at a time in order to blend all the ingredients evenly. Hills Bros. roast their coffee a few pounds at a time to secure an even roast. This continuous process—Controlled Roasting—develops a flavor no bulk-roasted coffee has.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Canned Candied Sweet Potatoes

With our cooking minds attuned to canning, let me ask if you have ever thought of canning sweet potatoes, so that they are all candied and ready in a jiffy by just putting them into a hot oven to heat through and caramel on top? I got that bright idea some time ago, tried it out, found it worked beautifully, so here it is.

If possible get the deep yellow variety called "Nancy Hall." Peel them and cut in convenient long slices, just the size of slice you like when you candy the sweets. Parboli in salted water, then cook in a rich sugar syrup until a fork will pierce the slice easily.

Make the syrup of brown sugar and a little water. Place the slices carefully in wide-mouthed jars (sterilized, of course) and fill the jars with a medium thick syrup and seal.

To prevent any possibility of the syrup candying, add the juice of one lemon to each quart of syrup.

When you want candied sweet potato all you have to do is to get out one of these jars, put the potatoes and syrup into a baking dish, dot the top with butter and bake in a hot oven 15 or 20 minutes. No muss, no fuss, and each slice a transparent bit of luscious goodness. I'm rather proud of my discovery and hope you'll try it.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Vienna Rolls

5 cups sifted flour
1 cup milk
1 cake yeast
1 teaspoon each, sugar and salt
Poppy or caraway seed

I am sure you have often wished you could make those crusty little crescent dinner rolls you find in a good restaurant, so, here are the recipe and directions for handling the dough.

After breakfast (this is an all day job, almost) dissolve the yeast cake in a little tepid water. Heat the milk to the same temperature and whip into the dissolved yeast. Use enough of the five cups of flour to make a stiff batter, cover this and let it rise for three hours.

Stir it down, add the sugar and salt and enough more flour to make the dough stiff enough to knead, but only a few turns to mix well. Cover and again let rise until very light, then work the dough well by pressing it out with the hands on the board, folding it over and repeating this pressing out process.

The next step is to roll out the dough in one large sheet as thin as you can get it, then cut the dough into six-inch wide strips. Cut the strips into oblongs and these in turn into triangles (one side will be longer than the other and the triangle long and narrow) Begin with the broad end of the triangle and roll it up so that the point will come in the middle and there will be a spiral roll from end to end.

Pinch the end into place, give it a turn in the hands to smooth it, place in a buttered pan in the form of a crescent, brush over with melted lard and let rise until the rolls feel spongy under the finger tip. Sprinkle with poppy or caraway seed or just with a tiny bit of salt.

Bake in a hot oven about 10 minutes, cool the oven and finish baking.

"BOOTS" CAN GO STROLLING OR MOTORING IN THESE

"Boots" can hardly wait until you help her try on these two new dresses. The one with the checkered collar, pockets and cuffs would be fine for motoring, don't you think? And the other would look well out in the park. Just cut the dresses out and fit them on the figure of "Boots" we gave you the other day. Color them if you like. Then you can tell how well you like the fashion judgment of the star character in the famous comic strip, "Boots and Her Buddies." Another sketch of "Boots" and another dress tomorrow.

COURT FILM ENDS TOMORROW NIGHT

"For the Defense," latest William Powell, all-talking drama and a picture that is declared to be the best the famous actor has made, is now showing at the Fox Broadway theater. The film opened Monday and shows through tomorrow night.

Powell plays the part of a great criminal lawyer in New York in "For the Defense." Through technicalities he is able to "spring" one criminal after another, until he builds a reputation that is statewide.

The bar association meets to discuss him and his methods. The police believe that he is bribing juries. He proves too clever for all. A man at the top of his profession, yet a man who walks alone in life. He finds an outlet for his feelings in the night life of New York.

Then one day, he is called on to save the girl he loves from a manslaughter charge. Every trick he knows fails, and the man who was too clever, turns crook himself. A smashing climax to the film makes the picture one of the most interesting, while the acting of Powell throughout is outstanding.

Kay Francis has the important feminine role in the play. The court room scenes are particularly good.

A Fox Movietone news reel, an all-talking comedy and other short subjects also are shown.

SEVEN-REEL FILM TO OPEN TONIGHT

"Moneymoon Abroad," seven-reel feature comedy featuring the popular funster, Monty Banks, opens tonight for a three-day run at Shelley's theater at Third and Bush streets.

The picture was filmed in Paris and London and on board an ocean liner and is said to be one of the liviest comedies of the year.

The program will be augmented by a news reel, a cartoon, a serial and a short comedy and at 8:30 o'clock tonight a diamond ring is to be given away.

HELEN KANE HIT IN 'NAN MCGREW'

Helen Kane, Paramount star and the original "boop-boopa doop" girl, scores a decided success in her latest all-talking comedy "Dangerous Nan McGrew," which completes its Santa Ana run at the Fox West Coast theater today. The picture has been playing here since Monday.

Slapstick comedy throughout, good singing and much horseplay mark the picture throughout, while the comedy lines in the film are particularly good.

The plot concerns a girl, who is a wizard with a pistol who finds herself stranded in the northwest county with her medicine show. She meets a number of society folk, and the Northwest Mounted police and in the end wins a big reward for the capture of a murderer.

The comedy is the outstanding feature of the picture however. Stuart Irwin plays the bashful lover role, much on the order of the role he had with Miss Kane in "Sweetie," while Victor Moore, James Hall and Frank Morgan all have important parts.

A Fox Movietone newsreel, together with an all-talking comedy also are shown.

FEATURE PROGRAM FOR STATE THEATER

Another double feature program is being presented tonight and tomorrow at Walker's State.

Circumstantial evidence is never conclusive. This fact is illustrated in an interesting and entertaining fashion in "Guilty?"—the Columbia all-talking drama based on the fallacy of circumstantial evidence, with Virginia Valli and John Holland.

The hero of the story falls in love with the daughter of his father's worst enemy. Although he regrets the situation, he does not share his parent's hatred. Yet, when his sweetheart's father commits suicide, circumstantial evidence is brought out that seems to prove that he had committed the murder. He is arrested, convicted of the crime and sentenced to pay the death penalty.

The evidence is very flimsy. Yet a case based on the supposition that he planned to marry the girl for her fortune and wanted her father out of the way, so influences the jury, that he is convicted of a crime he never even thought of committing.

"Wise Girls" taken from the stage play, "Kempy," is packed with laughter and the bill makes a great evening's entertainment.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The sheep kept jumping in the air and it gave Clowny quite a scare. He kept on yelling at the bunch to help him to alight. They tried, but didn't dare go near. The sheep's kicks filled them all with fear. Then Carpy shouted, "Hang on, lad, and you will be all right."

"Oh, no I won't," scared Clowny said. "I'm going to land upon my head. I can't hang on much longed. Both my arms are all tired out. I never should have started this. The ride was bound to go amiss. The poor sheep doesn't know, itself, what this is all about."

And then the ride was quickly stopped. The sheep stopped short and Clowny flopped. It was a lucky spill though, and he landed on his feet. "Oh, my, oh, my! Am I all right," cried Clowny. "Do I look a sight? You must admit I'm pretty good. That landing turned out neat."

The Travel Man then grabbed his hand and, with one putt, helped him to stand. "You're safe and sound," he shouted. "Now let's be upon our way. Enough of Persia we have seen. To travel on I'm rather keen. I have a good plan. Let's start out for old Bagdad today."

"That's great! That's fine!" the Tinies cried and then they gathered by his side and asked him how they'd make the trip. He broke out in a smile. "We'll hire some mules to take us there. 'Twill be real safe if we take care," said he. "I'll get the mules now. Then we'll travel on in style."

The little mules soon were brought out. The Tinymites began to shout, "Hop on," exclaimed the Travel Man. "Two of you ride together." Then, when each mule had its full load, they started jogging down the road. "We're off," exclaimed one Tiny. "I just hope we have fine weather."

(The Tinymites reach Bagdad in the next story.)

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

NEW ERA SEEN IN RADIO INDUSTRY

"The radio industry is entering a new business era where sanity, straight thinking, sound merchandising and advertising practices will rule those companies which are successful," according to Joe Wilson, in charge of the radio department of the Carl G. Strock store, Crosley radio representatives.

"The hectic years of rapid growth with their circus stunts, ballyhoo, extravagance, waste and foolish business methods which made it resemble a street show, are now past.

"After the fiasco in November, 1929, when because of over-production of radio merchandise by many manufacturers, much of it had to be liquidated at ridiculously prices, the Crosley company decided to concentrate its efforts upon the creation and production of a new line that would be distinctive in beauty, performance and value.

"This new merchandise is now ready, expertly engineered and designed, with the merchandising carefully planned. It was an outstanding hit at the Atlantic City radio show and again in San Francisco as well as in trade shows held in various parts of the country."

THE FUMIGATOR

By THOS. E. PICKERILL {all rights reserved}

We wish Mr. Hoover would restore our poverty he abolished so we could get rid of our complete indigency.

A full dinner pail wouldn't be worth a whoop as a campaign slogan nowadays. Too many workmen just drop into a tea room for the $1.25 lunch.

PEOPLE CAN'T PULL TOGETHER UNLESS THEY FIRST PULL THEMSELVES TOGETHER.

What's modern youth going to do when getting thrown into jail is no longer a new thrill?

Anyhow we're for modern youth. They can sing "The Stein Song" without any steins, and they are singing a lot of modern songs without any tunes. So resourceful, these latter-day boys and girls.

POLITICAL COCKTAILS

IT ISN'T THE WEATHER THAT'S WARMING UP—IT'S THE CAMPAIGN.

The candidates for deputy sheriff are a worse menace to the candidates for sheriff than the candidates for sheriff are to the people.

The other night down on the coast a man made a political speech in which he said among other things that there were men holding office in Orange county who were pointed out to him as officeholders 30 years ago by his grandpappy.

And the way the people of Orange county have been returning the same men to office term after term it looks like this man's great-grandchild won't even have to be introduced to any new officeholders when he grows up.

We don't kick so much on the men holding office, but we comparatively new-comers don't have much say-so in who shall be our public servants.

Well, it's all in the game, anyhow. About the only difference we can see between California, this glorious state of our adoption, and Indiana, which was thrust upon us, is that here they keep returning men to office and there they send them back to jail.

Even if they are honest, capable and efficient, they needn't think they are holding office for life during good behaviour.

Wait till the full-page political ads begin. They will always be signed by "Friends of the Candidate." Look for some hot stuff.

The candidates have been making speeches over Orange county, telling about the tariff on hides and the League of Nations. It's time some candidate told us what he will do if elected. We've a good notion to run "Red" Spider and Mealy Bugg in a write-in campaign.

About the most serene and unruffled candidate in these parts is friendly Joe Backs. Without somebody to run against, Joe probably feels like a lost sheep. Of course Joe hasn't served out his 30 years yet so that makes everything all right. We're voting for Joe.

Candidates, don't spend all your money on one voter. Remember, only one of each kind can win and you've got to live after the campaign is over, and then there's the October payment on the car, and Christmas only a couple of months away after that. It's going to be a long, hard winter for a lot of you.

As far as that is concerned, the finance companies will get all of us if we don't watch out.

Great Fun

The Best Yet In Gliders

The PLAYBOY FOLDING GLIDER is shot straight up 100 or 150 feet by a special rubber. This is possible because in the folded position it goes up like an arrow. The air holds the wings folded until the glider reaches the pinnacle, when they open. It will then make one loop and gradually circle and glide to the ground.

Provides Hours of Fun

As the PLAYBOY GLIDER does not depend upon a small propeller and lightness to lift it into the air, it is made very sturdy. The wooden nose protects it if shot head on into a wall. If a wing hits any obstruction, it simply folds back and after freeing itself the wing opens and continues its flight.

Three was persistent buying by houses with Eastern connections on dips and heavy hedging pressure from the southwest on the bulges, causing sharp fluctuations but in the range of aruond 1c. NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, July 23.—(UP)—A rally in railroad securities and continued strength in foreign issues featured activities during a sluggish session on the bond market today.

Led by Atchison 4½s, which climbed nearly 1½ points, leading railroad bonds firmed up around noon and gains ranging to more tha a gains were recorded in such issues as Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, New York, New Haven and Hartford 6s, Seaboard 6s and Pennsylvania 5½s.

Foreign bonds displayed strength, as principal members of this department firmed up fractionally. Thine-Ruhr 6s led the advance with a gain of 2½ points. Lesser gains were registered in Serbia 8s, French 7½s, Chile 6s and Kreuger Toll 5. Trading in United States government obligations was dull.

Utility bonds moved up generally, with International Telephone and Telegraph 4½s and American & Foreign Power 5s up ¾ and ½ points respectively.

In the industrial division, Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s were given support and firmed up more than a point, while heavy selling sent Pathe 7s down 2 points in the amusement class. Oils were inactive with prices holding near previous closing levels.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 23.—(UP)—The stock market turned downward again near the close today as bearish professions resumed selling after an early advance had carried the list close to last week's high levels.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, July 23.—(UP)—Quiet buying in all sections of the list brought another session of advancing prices on the curb market today and speculative favorites in all sections of the list moved to new highs on the recovery from the week end setback.

Public utilities, as usual, were in the van of the forward movement, which gained impetus as the session progressed, and advances ranging from fractions to two points took place in Electric Bond & Share, Cities Service, Amercan Gas, American Superpower, United Light A and St. Regis paper.

Oil stocks came out of their recent lethargy under the influence of good buying in Cosden, Ohio new, Standard fo Indiana and Housto new, in which advances ragig from a fraction to two points were scored.

Early offerings of the principal investment trusts dried up when the market turned definitely upward and good recoveries took place in Trans-America and Goldman Sachs, several strong spots developed in the genera llist, with Bahia corporation, New York Transit, Fokker Aircraft, Fox Theaters A, Ford, Lt., and Aluminum Company of America promnient. The latter made a characteristic runup of 18 points.

Exceptions to the geenral trend were few as the market gave evidence of resuming the general advance from the June and early July lows that was halted by last Saturday's break. Starrett Corporation was in supply at a concession of almost two points, but recessions were confined to a few individual sisues and support generally encountered in the dips.

EVENING SALUTATION

"On one point American women are alike—they have a uniform desire to be different."
—William Gerhardi.

A PIONEER PASSES

Word has just come of the death of Glenn H. Curtiss, the inventor aviator. Mr. Curtiss was yet a young man, but 52 years of age, and the news of his death will undoubtedly come with considerable shock to the entire world, and particularly to those who are interested in aviation and things related thereto.

Barring the Wright brothers, Glenn H. Curtiss has been recognized as the outstanding pioneer in aviation and in the manufacture of engines and airplanes. Curtiss by his very nature was interested in inventions and in motor vehicles. He established a motorcycle factory at Hammondsport in 1902, and set speed records riding his own machines, a few years thereafter. He made a record for a mile at Ormond Beach in 46 2-5 seconds about that time.

Among his noted flights were his first trip from Albany to Staten Island, later his winning the James Gordon Bennett cup in France with an airplane and motor of his own design, and twenty years ago when he won the New York World prize of $10,000 in flight from Albany to New York, making it in two hours and 51 minutes. Curtiss established flying schools at many places, including one at San Diego in our own state. He introduced flying boats in various countries, including Brazil, Russia, Austria, Italy and Great Britain and built the first multi-motored aquaplane for Rodman Wanamaker. He was the first to design a heavier than air craft planned to make a trans-Atlantic flight. This was only six years ago.

The various kinds of craft and work he did were so varied that it would take literally columns to describe them. He was the author of the Curtiss Aviation Book, and wrote many articles for various magazines. He has been a tremendous factor in his chosen field, and his place will be well-nigh impossible to fill.

People who can't afford a vacation can at least take on that far away look.

BORDER INSPECTION

The seizing of a shipment of plums infested with the Mexican fruit fly at Nogales, Arizona, might be alarming were it not that the shipment was seized and that the inspectors on the borders of California have successfully kept the pest out of the state for a number of years. California state authorities attach little importance to the seizure, declaring that such cases were routine matter at California border inspection stations.

The incident serves to turn our attention to the splendid work of the State Department of Agriculture through the conscientious men stationed along the highways which cross the border into our state.

Coming into the state from Oregon last year the service and the hardships of the men and the lack of cooperation from the traveling public was observed. They were mostly tourists with nothing to do but journey along who grumbled and protested at that inspection station. A number of them were impudent; others were so ignorant as to not have any idea why the inspection was being made. With few expections, the traveling public we noticed that day had no sympathy with the situation and no understanding of the protection the little trouble they were being put to was to the state of California. Hour after hour in the hot sun the inspectors worked and they bore patiently the unkind, thoughtless, bitter remarks of the people who had to make a brief stop, be discomforted to a small degree and then journey on.

The psychological angle was not lacking in the episode, either, for it was noticeable that the baggage of the one or two people who willingly opened their luggage and arranged it for the inspector was not stirred up as much as the baggage of the disgruntled ones. Those silent, busy inspectors knew well enough that the traveler who recognized the necessity of the situation was not the man to try to sneak a bit of fruit past their inspection.

WHAT HAPPENS TO 100,000 MEN

The Life Extension Institute of New York, which has established and popularized a system of thorough health examinations, has issued a statement as to what happens to 100,000 men so far as physical health is concerned. 90,757 live to be one year old. 80,129 live to be 27. 64,311 live to be 52. 32,583 live to be 72.

We do not know why the particular years noted are chosen, with the exception of the first year; but the figures are very suggestive. The first year seems to be the hardest on human life. As many lives end the first year as in the next 26. About 26,000 die before 52. Two thirds of them are dead at 72. The latter figures do not disturb us. The psalmist's span of three score years and ten have come to be generally accepted. But the 32,000 who die between 52 and 72—the golden years of life—is a matter of concern.

According to the director of the Life Extension Institute much of this loss of life during the golden years might be prevented by their system of periodical examinations. Insidious diseases are slow in developing, and usually painless. When taken at their beginnings, they can be arrested and cured; but when once in an advanced state, there is little hope of a cure. Life has been greatly conserved by the preventive measures of the past 25 years. The report of the Life Extension Institute plainly reveals that we have not yet availed ourselves of all the resources of science to extend human life to the utmost limits. Man's normal state is health, not sickness. And as Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "No man has a right to die before he is 70 years old."

SPECIAL DELIVERY SERVICE

The "special delivery" mail service of the postoffice department which was adopted in 1885 is coming to be superseded by the air mail service, for although they are not the same at all, the time saved by the use of air mail is much greater than the time saved in the delivery of the letter by the "special delivery."

Last year 99,046,407 pieces of mail were delivered by special service, representing a total revenue of $11,587,157.60, according to the annual report of the postmaster general.

A glance at the history of the provisions made for special delivery shows that a measure was presented to congress in 1883 by Representative Charles R. Skinner of New York state authorizing the postmaster general to provide a special stamp of the value of 10 cents which, when placed upon a letter in addition to regular postage, should entitle the letter to immediate delivery up to the hour of midnight each day. The bill provided that eight cents of the ten-cent fee might be used by the government to cover the cost of delivery by messenger, leaving the government a gross profit of two cents on each stamp sold.

The service was at first restricted to letters at any free delivery office. On August 4, 1886, it was extended to provide for delivery of all mail matter specially stamped at any free delivery office, or within a mile of every other office. At approximately the same time, the system was made to include all classes of mail matter which bore the ten cent special delivery stamp.

In 1902 an amendment to the law was passed which provided that ten cents in ordinary stamps, in addition to regular postage affixed to a letter or parcel marked "special delivery" entitled the matter to all regular special delivery privileges.

Once the air mail service and special delivery services are synchronized we may realize great speed and convenience in the delivery of our dispatches.

INTENSIFIED PROBLEMS

According to the census report, America will show a population of very nearly 123,000,000. At the time of the birth of our republic, there were 3,500,000 votes, mostly scattered along the Atlantic seaboard, with the western three-quarters of our country at that time practically a wilderness, most of it in alien hands.

We have increased during the past ten years 17,246,000 people, an increase in population equal to the entire population of some countries of Europe. With that rate of increase, it is entirely possible that within the lives of those now living, our country will show 200,000,000 people. Certainly within the next 20 years it will approach 175,000,000.

The changes in the centers of population, the increase of our great cities, the increasing density of population, the problems of distribution of products, the increased production by machinery, the raising of the standards of living, the concentration of wealth, industrial disturbances—all these will be aggravated as problems with the increased population. The men who can do most for the benefit of mankind in future days will be those who are able to cope with the question of human relations.

Our Kid Stunters

San Diego Union

Incurable adults will snuff with disapproval at the news that a couple of small girls in Evanston, Illinois, aged 12 and 14, have just broken the world's teeter-tottering endurance record by see-sawing continuously for seven hours. The same reception by the same persons will be accorded the report that three Chicago small boys are performing an endurance test on a bicycle—325 miles tto date, and still going strong. And the adults aforesaid will think no more kindly of the activities of dozens of youngsters in various parts of the country who are aiming at the present tree-sitting record of 156 hours.

This is all foolishness and perhaps some of it is harmful foolishness. It is childish imitativeness without any visible constructive features. A word of comfort might be given, however, to adults who fear that these youthful imitators will grow up into adult imitators of the same type.

Nothing could be further from the probabilities. The child who spends these long summers imitating flagpole sitters, endurance fliers, bandits, marathon runners, brigadier generals and acrobats, runs but slight risk of growing up into the thing he imitates.

For one thing, the childish imitator exhausts the thrills of the exploit he counterfeits. The 8-year-old who spends July and August sitting in an apple tree, will never thereafter be tempted to regard flagpole sitting as a new, thrilling and significant experience. For another thing, any child imitates too many types of pre-eminence. If childhood imitation determined his adult career, he would have to grow up into an occupational Lon Chaney.

"Stunting" is childish, but surely it is least objectionable when children do it. And the current crop of adult show-offs is recruited from adults—adults, perhaps, who were prevented from outgrowing their childishness when they were children.

King Tut's Wheat to Grow More to Acre

San Bernardino Sun

When the world was all agog a few years ago over the revelations of King Tutankhamen's tomb, some practical Americans insisted on asking, "What has King Tut ever done for us?"

Among other things, he seems to have given us more wheat. In the sepulcher was found a small vase containing shriveled wheat grains. Some of them were planted by a Canadian farmer in Alberta, and a small crop was harvested in 1926. It has increased. This year an American farmer in Ypsilanti, Mich., obtained and sowed some of the old Egyptian wheat, and it was described recently as almost ready for harvesting.

It is a curious grain, much like our own soft spring wheat in quality, but at the top developing into a stalk with about a dozen heads spread out like a fan, each having many kernels. It is said to be suitable for macaroni and biscuit.

Other farmers will probably say "Tut, Tut! We don't need any more wheat." But it is surely a strange and interesting thing that a grain apparently extinct should have been revived again after 4000 years. It may yet prove valuable.

Rub-a-Dub-Dub! Two Men In A Tub!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

GOOD-BYE SHIEK

With an aba surrounding his form
As he rode on his galloping steed
In tthe teeth of the fierce desert storm,
The cheik was heroic indeed.
No wonder through many a rift in a tent
Peered many a feminine eye,
And many a delicate heart string was rent
When a sheik hurried thundering by.

At love he was always a bear,
Breaking tender young hearts by the score,
And his spirit of devil-may-care
Made him equally lucky in war.
When he rode o'er the sand with his sword in his hand
While behind him his regiment clattered,
Emitting hoarse gutteral words of command
The enemy hastily scattered.

But sunk is his glorious star;
The sheik has grown flabby and fat;
He rides on his rounds in a car,
And a rusty tin Lizzie at that.
No delicate heart strings will ever be rent,
No souls with emotion will quiver,
When a maid of Arabia sees from her tent
A sheik riding by in a flivver.

The automobile over here
Is a boon to the lazy and weak,
And has been so full many a year,
But it's knocked all the gloss off the sheik,
Since on all of his errands, in peace or in war,
In a gasoline buggy he's carted,
The poets his praises will echo no more,
For his fame is forever departed.

A BIG OPPORTUNITY

It is surprising that reformers have overlooked the possibility of abating human happiness by advocating a law to make the sale of gasoline illegal.

MERELY SHIP'S STORES

Liquor valued at $100,000 was recently seized on a ship in New York harbor. The owner was probably planning a two weeks' cruise.

Nerve And Noise

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

How much flattery do we, as customers, require at the hands of merchants; and what, in cold cash, are we willing to pay for it?

Suppose all the retail stores at which we have charge accounts were to add to our bill, "Flattery charge, one dollar." Would we pay it without protest? Is it worth a dollar a month—or any other sum a month—to know that no matter how noisy or nervous or whimsical we may be, we are, in our capacity as customers, "always right"?

As a matter of fact, to the extent that we are swayed by cupidity and whims, we are NOT always right, no matter how many merchants believe it is good business to tell us that we are.

The buyer, like the seller, is entitled to courtesy and full value for his money. To the extent that he demnads and gets more—more attention, more concessions, more value in time or goods than reasonable customers ask—he is responsible for waste for which we ALL pay.

"Let the buyer beware" has gone into the dust-heap of policies which have outlived even their imaginary usefulness. It never was good business.

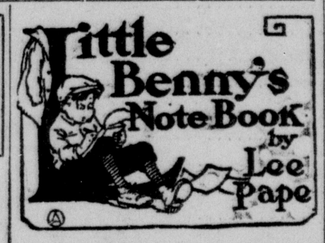

Neither is its paradoxical twin, "The customer is always right."

Some one should pay the merchant for time and money lost because of demands by unreasonable customers. Why not send the bill to them? Why expect those of us who wear a coat only once before we bring it in for exchange, to pay the freight for the hardy souls who wear a coat a week and then indignantly deny that it was ever unwrapped?

Neither courteous merchants nor their reasonable customers should subsidize NOISE and NERVE.

Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape

Me and Pop was taking a wawk before supper, and pop started to look in the window of a umbrella and cane store, saying, Theres some nifty looking sticks in there. In my fathers day a man wasent considered well dressed unless he carried a cane, but nowadays its gone out of fashion. Well, what do I care for fashion? Im a free thinker, Im going in and buy that yellow cane with the bulldogs hed for a handle, he sed.

Wich he did, and we kepp on wawking, pop swinging the cane and hitting the payment with the end of it, saying, After all theres a certain sattisfaction in carrying a cane that nuthing elts could give except possibly wawking the deck of your own yatt in new flannel trousers.

Wich just then Puds Simkinses father went pass, saying, Hello Potts, I dident know you had gone in the lumber bizness.

And he kepp on going still laffing, pop saying, This werld mite not be perfeck if al lthe envy and jellissy were taken out of it, but a grate improvement would be noticed immeeditly.

And pritty soon somebody elts started to laff, being Dr. Rorer, saying, Do you need my services, Potts, what is it, a broken leg or just a sprained ankle, ha ha.

Pop not laffing back, and pritty soon another man he knew asked hi mwhy he dident have a flower in his buttonhole to make the picture compleet, and I sed, Do you wunt me to carry it a while, pop? and he sed, Well perhaps its your tern, I dont wunt to seem selfish. Besides, if I give them something reely rediculous to laff at, such as a small child carrying a big cane, Id like to see if any of these guffawing asses will laff in the rite place. So in a spirit of unselfish scientific research, Ill let you carry it the rest of the way home, he sed.

Wich he did, and nobody laffed.

Fire Chief Jackson is head of the tickqet selling campaign for the firemen's benefit to be given at the Lyric theater next Tuesday, and he has offererred a prize to the girl or boy between the ages of 10 and 16 who sells the most tickets.

Eugene Hoff, court reporter, and his mother, and Constable and Mrs. W. R. Coleman are back from a 1500-mile trip along the coast to San Francisco, Sacramento and Lake Tahoe.

A slight ripple in the Tustin summer calm was caused Wednesday evening when the new fire engine was rushed out of the Arrow garage and taken to the school grounds for inspection by the people.

Among the delightful features that have been secured for the program at the Elks' hall July 28, for the benefit of the families of members of Company L, is a light comedy sketch in which Warren Fletcher and Miss Gladys Thomas will appear.

Miss Isabel Lopez celebrated her birthday happily on Saturday by taking a party of her friends to the West End theater, after which the party was served ice cream and cake at the Dragon.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

DOYLE AND THE DARK MYSTERY

Conan Doyle is dead!

To millions he will always be the maker of the matchless Sherlock Holmes.

To me he will always be the man who, in an age of cynical and cocksure intellectualism, refused to be brown-beaten by the dark mystery.

And the Doyle of mine and the Doyle of the millions were the same man.

The Doyle of Sherlock Holmes was tackling the major mystery.

The Doyle of spiritualistic quest was tackling the mayor mystery.

I met him once, and a whimsically autographed cartoon of him, drawn by the cartoonist, Major, hangs in my library, and Lady Doyle, at our luncheon table, has told of her and Sir Arthur's earnest attempts to pierce the screens that hang around the life of man on earth.

There is a strain of the skeptic alongside a strain of the mystic in me, and I have yet to visit the seance chambers.

But I have none of the skeptic's cocksureness in the presence of psychic research.

The essence of religion is a duality; it consists in piercing the mystery and perfecting the mastery of life.

The scientist is doing his share in helping us to perfect the mastery of life.

He cannot help us much in piercing the mystery of life.

Despite the frauds and fakeries innumerable by which they seem all-too-easily taken in, the Doyles of the world, impervious to the satirical thrusts of the skeptic, are after all seeking to pierce the mystery of life.

And—who knows?—they may succeed.

That King George could speak in London and be heard in Louisiana would have seemed as incredible to our ancestors!

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE RUNAWAY

Few children grow up without trying to run away. Some of them form a habit of it and their parents suffer great anxiety in consequence. When a child runs away he is running from something unpleasant toward what he hopes and believes will be pleasanter.

Little children must have the companionship of other little children. Grownup people can never take the place of child friends. With the very best intention in the world it is impossible to return from the plane of forty odd to that of four. Only a child can play with a child in the harmony of spirit that childhood demands. So some little children run away because they are lonely.

There are children born with an urge to adventure. They start out of the garden gate on a tour of investigation. They want to see what is to be seen, to feel what can be felt, of the life that lies beyond their horizon. This sort of child usually has the power of self-help well developed. He has initiative and is resourceful enough to meet any emergency. All one can do is to teach him his correct address and telephone number and hope for the best. It is not a blot upon the family record to have a child of pioneer tendencies. Many a fine American family comes of just that stock. Why worry when another branch sprouts?

Some children are so unhappy at home that they run away to find relief. Most of the time this is the fault of the home. The parents are too busy, or they are too self-satisfied, or too selfish to make room for the growth of a child in their home and the child is forced to go out into the world to find peace. When a home is set against a child, what remains for him to do but go? Sons who cannot live with fathers, daughters who find mothers impossible—what else can they do? Ask yourself some questions if a child in the adolescent years leaves your home.

When a runaway returns, kill the fatted calf. Forget your scolding and your punishment and make merry. Make the child glad he came home. Make home so pleasant that he will begin to wonder what ever made him think of leaving it. Make it such a place of love and satisfaction that no matter where he goes he will carry it with him forever and ever.

Home cannot hold children forever but the children can carry home with them wherever they go because it is really a matter of the spirit. It is not the fine location, the nice neighborhood, the elegant decorations, the high-powered service that makes home for a child. It is the spirit that presides in that bit of construction that is the home. Keep that right, keep it warm and glowing with love, understanding, and beauty and even though no decorator ever set foot in the place it will be a shrine to its children.

Keep home open always. No matter what a child does make him welcome at home. Else why home?

CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN

Charlotte Saunders, celebrated American actress, was born in Boston, July 23, 1816.

She was one of five children left poor by their mother by the early death of their father, a West India merchant.

However, she had a fine contralto voice and, in 1835, she made her appearance as an opera singer in the "Marriage of Figaro."

Shortly afterward, her voice failed, but she undertook a dramatic part, "Lady Macbeth," and was so successful that it became one of her greatest roles.

After success in New York and London, she went to Rome, where she had a home for some years. She was honored in Europe's most cultivated society.

She became known, in her later years, as a reader, with singular interpretative powers.

She died in Boston, Feb. 18, 1876. In 1880 her grave in Mount Auburn was marked by an obelisk which in form is a copy of Cleopatra's Needle as it showed in Heliopolis.

Congressman Says Mexico Could Meet All Claims With Money From Sale

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—Purchase of Lower California from Mexico as a means of settling the controversy between the United States and Mexico over distribution of irrigation water after the Boulder dam project is constructed was considered by the international water commission in drafting its report to congress, Representative Swing, Republican, California, said today.

Swing said while the commissioners had considered his proposal, he did not know whether they included it in their report, which now is in the hands of the printers and is expected to be available within a few days. Swing said he had not seen the final report.

The California member, co-authur with Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, California, of the Boulder dam legislation, said he regarded this compromise as an ideal way to solve the difficulty arising from Mexico's claim to water of the lower Colorado in Lower California, as well as a financial aid to Mexico.

The state department disclaimed any knowledge of the commission's report, and officials said that no negotiations had been instituted with Mexico regarding the purchase.

Swing explained that Mexico could have met all claims against her by American citizens and also all debts to other countries through the purchase price of Lower California. The peninsula, he said, is cut off from the rest of Mexico and that country does not need the land. He also pointed out that the United States does not want any foreign power to build a naval base in Magdalena Bay.

The three members of the international water commission resigned recently, and their work was taken over by one man, Lawrence M. Lawson. The three were Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, chairman; Maj. Gen. Lansing H. Beach, retired, and W. E. Anderson.

Their resignation prompted reports they disagreed with a proposal that the United States award Mexico 50 per cent of Boulder dam water and then repurchase it, the money to be applied to claims of Americans against Mexico. This proposal was reported as emanating from Ambassador Morrow in Mexico City.

The state department denied they had quit because of such a disagreement in announcing their resignations.

Key Witness in Mooney Case to Appear Before Supreme Body Tuesday

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—(UP)—Warren K. Billings, convicted of murder 14 years ago in connection with the San Francisco preparedness day bombing in which 10 persons were killed, will be virtually re-tried in a proceeding without precedent in California.

The re-trial will be held next Tuesday, July 29, before the seven justices of the California supreme court. This decision was reached late yesterday by the court after Governor C. C. Young had declined to hear testimony of John MacDonald, repudiation witness, before the court heard his claim that his original trial testimony was not true.

Determine Fate

While the hearing before the court pertains to Billings only it is expected to determine the fate of Thomas J. Mooney, arrested with Billings and convicted of the same crime.

MacDonald, recanting witness who came here from Baltimore in the hope of convincing authorities that he lied during the trials of the two men will be the star witness in favor of Mooney and Billings.

MacDonald's role next Tuesday will be exactly opposite the one he played during Billings' trial in 1916 and Mooney's trial in 1917 when he identified Billings as the man he saw place a suitcase containing dynamite at the scene of the explosion.

The nature of the testimony MacDonald will present is well known. He made it in affidavit form in 1921 and repeated it again July 12 after he was located in Baltimore. He will say that his testimony during the trials was false, that he could not have identified either Mooney or Billings at any time without assistance from San Francisco police.

Entire Case

The story of MacDonald is not the only evidence to be presented at the hearing, however. The entire case, including all the original testimony of both prosecution and defense witnesses, will be reviewed and it is entirely within the power of the court to rule that the conviction of the two men was justified by evidence other than that offered by MacDonald.

It is probable that the supreme court hearing will be the only one held as a definite decision will be reached by the justices and if that decision is favorable to Billings both Billings and Mooney probably will be free before August but if it is unfavorable Governor Young will deny Mooney's petition and dismiss the whole affair.

NEWSPAPER WAR IN CHICAGO LOOMING

CHICAGO, July 23.—(UP)—Newspaper warfare between the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Herald and Examiner over the manner in which the Lingle murder case investigation is being conducted threatened today to engage the two papers in a bitter legal battle.

Notice of a $250,000 libel suit against the Herald and Eaminer was filed by Robert M. Lee, city editor of the Tribune, just before the courts closed yesterday.

Lee charged the Lingle case editorial carried yesterday on the front page of the Herald and Examiner under the banner line heading "Who Killed Lingle and Why?" implied he knew that Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter, was engaged in gangland rackets that paid Lingle $60,000 a year on the side.

Calvin Coolidge Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, July 23.—On the whole we have done well to ratify the naval treaty. It is a most encouraging symptom of international sanity. No doubt our admirals can find some objections to it. But so do the admirals of Britain and Japan. It takes at least two to make a trade. Reason therefore requires mutual concessions. We may well find satisfaction in the increased friendly feeling that will come from concessions we have made.

It is regrettable that we could not secure real reduction. We have consented to a great world naval building program. Substantial parity with the British has been achieved and the needs of the brave nation of Japan, standing in a corner of the world all alone, have been conceded. Parity is more or less a fiction. After measuring the tonnage, speed and guns the officers and crew remain—they make the strength of the fleet. But the great thing is the agreement to stop competition in the building of all classes of ships. To any fairly reasonable treaty doing that, we can well afford to give our approval. Hereafter no nation can discover in the building of the United States, Britain and Japan any menace to their peace and safety. That is real progress.

GANGSTERS END LIFE OF WELL KNOWN LAWYER

Radio Commentator of Detroit Shot Down After Recall Election

DETROIT, July 23.—(UP)—Every law enforcement agency in Michigan was concentrated in Detroit today in an effort to salve the murder of Gerald W. Buckley, attorney and radio commentator on civic affairs.

Police advanced the theory Buckley was the victim of powerful gambling interest against which he had waged an incessant campaign.

He was shot to death in the LaSalle hotel early today, two hours after he had broadcast over station WMBC the results of the recall election in which Mayor Charles Bowles was ousted. Buckley had favored Bowles' recall, charging he was allied with underworld characters.

Three men walked into the hotel lobby where Buckley was seated in a chair, reading a newspaper. Without a word, they formed a semi-circle about him and began firing. Eleven slugs hit him. The men then dashed out a side entrance and drove away in an automobile.

Buckley recently had received threatening letters, and had told fellow workers in the radio station he feared he was a marked man. He had secured a permit to carry a revolver because he thought his life was in jeopardy.

Paul Buckley, brother of the 37-year-old attorney, said the family had begged Buckley to stop his attacks on the Bowles administration.

Indications today were that the Buckley murder would create as great a stir in Detroit as did the McSwiggin and Lingle killings in Chicago.

The entire police force was put to work on the case, and Governor Fred Green ordered Oscar G. Olander, state commissioner of public safety, to send every available state police officer in southern Michigan to Detroit to aid.

GLENN CURTISS DIES SUDDENLY AT AGE OF 52

Pioneer of Aviation Succumbs to Blood Clot on Lung Today

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 23.—(UP)—Glenn Curtiss, one of aviation's pioneers, died today from a blood clot on the lung discovered after a recent appendicitis operation.

The aviation pioneer—who 20 years ago startled the world by making a flight from Albany to New York City—was brought to a Buffalo hospital a little more than a week ago suffering from appendicitis. An immediate operation was ordered.

The operation, doctors said, was successful. Afterward, however, the clot touching upon the lung was found. This brought his death at a local hospital today.

Curtiss' death was so unexpected that Mrs. Curtiss, who had been keeping an almost constant vigil at his bedside, was at a downtown hotel. Only his nurse was with him.

Taken to Hospital

Curtiss was brought to the hospital here from his home in Hammondsport, N. Y., July 11 after an acute attack of appendicitis.

Curtiss was born at Hammondsport, N. Y., May 21, 1878, and earnly showed a bent for mathematics and invention. He opened a bicycle repair shop at the age of 17 and turned it into a workshop where he invented everything from skate-sails to motorcycle engines.

In 1902 he established the Curtiss Mnufacturing company to produce his motorcycle and gained a national reputation as a racer.

The success of his engine, when attached to balloons and lighter than air ships, led him to experiment with early forms of airplanes, and he soon was making flights around Hammondsport.

Under the auspices of the National Aerial Experiment association the airplane "White Wings" was built and in it Curtiss made several successful flights.

In 1909 Curtiss went to France with a home-made airplane and won the James Gordon Bennett cup and the Prix de Vitesse against some of the most skillful aviators of Europe. His machine made 46 1-2 miles an hour.

Famous Flight

Probably his most famous flight was that made from Albany to New York City in 1910 for a $10,000 prize offered by the New York World. He made two stops with his "box kite" plane, and finished his journey at Governor's Island, having covered the distance of 150 miles in 2 hours and 51 minutes.

Twenty years late—a few weeks ago—he made the same flight in a huge modern Curtiss Condor capable of carrying 20 passengers.

With the exception of the Wright brothers, no other man did so much for American aviation as Glenn Curtiss. After the pioneering phase of aviation had passed he turned to the commercial side and was one of the leaders in developing the airplane as it is today. The Curtiss Airplane company, of which he was the head, built many airplanes for the United States and foreign governments and for private companies nad individuals.

FIGHT REDUCTION OF FRUIT TARIFF

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—The interstate commerce commission today reopened the California deciduous fruit case on petition of California railroads.

Under the Hoch-Smith resolution, the interstate commerce commission had reduced from $1.72 to $1.60 the rate on deciduous fruits, but the United States supreme court held the reduction invalid.

Action of the interstate commerce commission today opens the way for the reduction under the interstate commerce law.

Three Days Left To Register For Primaries

Only three days left in which to register for the primary election to be held on August 26.

County Clerk Joe Backs issued a final appeal today. "Tell the public to do their registration shopping early," said Backs. "Ask them to avoid a last minute rush and get in at the earliest possible hour. The office is open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. and we will gladly answer inquiries over the phone from those who are in doubt as to whether or not they are registered."

Backs will close his office at noon Saturday so in reality there are but two and one-half days left in which to register.

Millionaire Tramp Dies in Virginia Hospital of Near Starvation

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—The body of James Eads How, who during most of his life scorned riches to seek the championship of hoboes, was brought here today from Staunton, Va., for cremation in accordance with his last wishes.

The "millionaire hobo" died yesterday afternoon at the Kings Daughters hospital in Staunton, of pneumonia, "evidently superinduced by starvation," physicians said. He died a few hours after entering the hospital in a weakened condition which was due partly, it was said, to irregular eating.

Definite funeral arrangements have not been made pending the

Joint Meeting of Santa Ana and Fullerton School Boards Is Held

FOLLOWING A discussion of the junior college situation in the county, that revealed a determination on the part of at least one member of the Fullerton junior college board to maintain the junior college there, sentiment was developed last night at a joint meeting of the Santa Ana and Fullerton boards in the offices of the Santa Ana board, to petition the county board of supervisors for a general county wide educational survey to be made by outside, impartial educators. The idea is to determine facts before any action may be taken on the junior college problem. The Santa Ana board took definite action to petition for the survey, and the Fullerton board is expected to take similar action.

The joint meeting which was arranged by W. C. Jerome, county auditor and member of the Associated Chambers of Commerce committee on education, was attended by Ralph McFadden, chairman of that committee, who suggested to the boards that the survey might be favorably regarded at this time by the board of supervisors and that it would result in securing scientific and impartial information from which action might result.

Board Unanimous

The Santa Ana board was unanimous in supporting the proposed survey, every member expressing approval and a desire that this step be taken. Of the four members of the Fullerton board who were present, only one raised any objection. J. A. Prizer, at first was opposed to the proposition, declaring that Fullerton district would not consider any union move and he felt a survey would be useless, but later admitted the value of a survey if the boards would not be required to abide by any recommendations that might be made as a result. He maintained that he could not see any value in a survey unless the two boards would agree to abide by the results and that he personally would not agree to do that. The Santa Ana board voted unanimously to go before the county board of supervisors in conjunction with the Fullerton board with the request that the survey, to be conducted by the state department of education with the assistance of the University of California and possibly Stanford university, be made. Action on the matter by the Fullerton board was deferred until the entire member-

Mine President Fined for Contempt

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 23.—UP—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, was convicted of contempt of court by Judge Charles G. Briggle today and fined $500.

Fourteen associates of Lewis also were convicted of contempt but were not punished.

Lewis' fine was fixed after Briggle upheld Master in Chancery Frank L. Trutter, finding that Lewis and his associates were guilty of violating an injunction restraining them from interference with the "reorganized" anti-Lewis union.

Trutter had recommended that none of the defendants be punished, holding the contempt was technical.

COBLENZ FETE ENDS IN DEATH OF 38 PERSONS

Rhineland Merrymakers Plunged Into River As Bridge Collapses

COBLENZ, GERMANY, July 23.—(UP)—A weakened and condemned iron bridge crowded with holiday makers watching the Rhineland liberation celebration here last night, collapsed and carried more than 100 men, women and children into the Moselle river.

The governor of the Coblenz district announced a corrected official death list of 28 today. Sixteen were badly injured and 25 or more of the others suffered from submersion and shock. Previously the governor had announced 52 dead, but 14 missing persons were discovered alive.

The joy of the Rhineland, in the midst of its jubilant celebration of its freedom from allied occupation, was turned to sorrow by the tragedy. President Paul von Hindenburg, who had been making a triumphant tour of the liberated regions, broke off his trip and returned to Berlin. Before leaving, he contributed 10,000 marks to start a relief fund and attended memorial services in the Coblenz town hall. Dazed mourners pased in file before the array of coffins.

Flags, which until midnight had been fluttering from every vantage point in the Rhineland, were lowered to half mast today. Every vestige of gayety had disappeared.

The collapse of the weakened structure, which the people crowded upon despite the injunction against using it, came at the height of the celebration. In the darkness, rescue workers had difficulty finding the survivors, clinging to the broken structure in the waters of the Moselle.

Oxygen tanks were still being used today to revive those who had spent hours in the darkness and water before being rescued. Many of the victims were girls, the dead including five girls from the same boarding school.

Work to Start On Alameda Air Base

OAKLAND, July 23.—(UP)—Start of construction of the west coast army air base at Alameda by January 1 was a certainty today.

J. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics, wired this information today to Congressman Albert E. Carter and also announced he would visit the site next month.

His visit will be made in connection with a 10,000-mile air tour of army air fields which will begin in Washington July 30.

Davison's approval of plans is necessary before work begins.

The Alameda field will be headquarters of the army air forces of twelve western states, the Hawaiian Islands, the Canal Zone and Alaska. Forty officers and 400 civilian mechanics and employes will be stationed there.

2 PROVINCES SAID TO BE TOTAL RUINS

Thousands Also Reported To Be Injured As Buildings Shook to Ground

All Southern Italy Feels Quake—Town of 12,000 Almost Obliterated

NAPLES, July 23.—(UP)—It was reported today that the towns of Villanova and Montecalvo, both in the province of Avellino, were totally destroyed by the earthquake.

Eighty percent of Villanova's population of 5000 were reported killed, which would mean 4000 dead.

The reports lacked official confirmation, however.

It was reported 300 were dead in Montecalvo. The town of Venosa in the province of Potenza also was reported almost entirely destroyed.

Latest known dead in the city of Melfi, which was nearly destroyed were given as 120 while the injured exceeded 400.

Relief parties reached Melfi and began preliminary measures to aid survivors and remove the dead and injured from the debris.

The work was proceeding slowly because of the tottering condition of many of the buildings.

Relief Work On

Relief workers, hampered in Naples and in many other cities during the night's darkness by the absence of electric lights, worked more rapidly with the coming of daybreak, removing the dead and injured from the debris. Rescue work was in its early stages, however.

Araldo Crollalanza, Italian minister of public works, hurried to Rome to supervise relief measures. He was at the watering place, Mont De Cabini, near Florence, when the earthquake struck.

Under secretary of public works Leoni already was enroute to the stricken area, Leoni and a group of engineers travelling aboard an emergency train which the Italian government recently prepared for such calamities as occurred today.

The train, it was announced, would attempt to reach Melfi, from where reports of most serious damage were received.

Premier Mussolini ordered Senator Filippo Cremonesi, head of the Italian Red Cross, to organize relief for the stricken area immediately.

The quake struck Naples, 27 1-2 miles from the epicenter, at 1:06 a. m. Lightning, accompanied by heavy rumbling resembling thunder, preceded the first and most violent shock, which lasted 42 seconds. It was followed by two lighter and shorter shocks which drove inhabitants from their homes in terror.

Three Shocks

The city was plunged in darkness, since the three shocks broke all electric cables and troops commanded to preserve order and prevent plundering.

ANNOUNCE BRIDGE PLANS THIS WEEK

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—(UP)—Final plans for the bay bridge linking Alameda and San Francisco counties, including terminal locations and the probable date when construction will start will be made public this week, probably Friday, Mark L. Rqua predicted today.

Requa, chairman of the state-federal bridge commission, said that the commission will continue its study of boring data, with public hearings getting under way this afternoon.

Engineers who made surveys and borings declare there is no doubt as to the feasibility of the bridge, structurally and financially.

The commission will continue its sessions, Requa said, until the two major points—when and where—are decided and embodied in recommendations to Governor C. C. Young and President Hoover.

30 Poisoned From Eating Pies Of Long Beach Bakery

INVESTIGATION IS LAUNCHED BY HEALTH OFFICE

An outbreak of approximately 30 cases of food poisoning in coast cities reported to the county health department yesterday, resulted in an investigation by the department which traced the cause apparently to pies from a Long Beach bakery, that were served in restaurants and sold in stores at Seal Beach and Huntington Beach Monday night. The suspected pies, part of the same batch that caused the illness, are being analyzed in Long Beach in an effort to discover the cause of the poisoning, Dr. Murray Bates of the health department said.

Many of the stricken persons suffered acutely and some were unconscious, according to the attaches of the health office, but all seem to be making satisfactory recoveries. Some of the contaminated pies were sold to picnic parties, some to tourists, some to residents of the two communities and some to restaurants. Twenty-five names are listed at the health department office as victims of the poison, and it is estimated that there were many other persons who suffered ill effects, but who had returned to their homes in other parts of the county, or had proceeded on their trips, before being seized with the effects of the poison.

Those who were reported as victims are Junior Morris, Olie Line, Mrs. Gladys Tyler, Reaford Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dahlman and two children, Betty, 10, and Lee, 13, Frank Walker, Ada Walker, George Shirk, Margery Shirk, Mrs. Helen Snirk, William Pringle and Mrs. Clara Pringle, all of Seal Beach; Mrs. Jennie Larson, Ray Larson, Mrs. H. Berdelman, Joe Hicks, Alta Hicks and David Thompson, all of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Mary Maxson and Juan Fanchez, Anaheim Landing.

Fish With Five Hooks Is Landed

STOCKTON, Cal., July 23.—The "fish that got away" has made his last exit.

Frank Doty, of Thornton, caught a 48-pound striped bass at the fork of Consumnes and Mokelumne creeks, north of here, which had five hooks in its mouth.

Now everyone in the neighborhood is convinced that this is the identical fish which "got away" from them.

ORANGE COUNTY PIONEER WILL BE FAIR GUEST

J. E. Pleasants, pioneer of Orange county and one of the few men remaining who had actual experience in mining in California in the gold rush of '49, has been extended an invitation by the state fair board to be its guest at a gathering of pioneers to be featured at the next state fair.

Pleasants has been requested to be present on September 7, Pioneers' day at the fair. Despite his age of 92, the pioneer declared today his intention to accept the invitation and report at the fair on the day designated. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Pleasants.

Pleasants crossed the plains with his parents and arrived in California from Missouri in 1849 during the period of greatest excitement following the discovery of gold here.

He "paned" 'gold on the American river and at other places, cooperating with his father in this work.

The family located in what is now known as Pleasant valley, north of Sacramento, the valley having been named after the father of the Orange county pioneer.

Jonathan Watson, residing northeast of Orange, is believed to be the only other resident of Orange county who came to the state in '49. Like Pleasants, Watson crossed the plains with an ox team. He also came from Missouri.

4000 REPORTED DEAD IN QUAKE IN SOUTH ITALY

Melfi, 76 miles east of Naples and on the basis of early reports apparently the worst sufferer, was virtually destroyed. The town has a population of approximately 12,000 persons, and is built on the volcanic peak, Mount Vulture.

All southern Italy felt the quake, although on the northern and southern extremities the tremors were slight and of short duration.

Rescue efforts were hampered by the absence of lights and confusion in the streets, where the inhabitants gathered, refusing to return to their homes. Many persons remained on the promenades facing the bay all night rather than go back to the beds from which they were aroused so violently.

Official reports from prefects in the stricken districts gave the following summary:

Great damage and many victims in the Province of Avellino, affecting the communes of Arianoipino, Lacedonia, Monteverde, Montecalvo, Aquilonia, Bistacca, Melito Rochetta and San Antonio.

In the Province of Potenza, serious damage was done in the communes of Barlie, Melfi, Rio Nero and Ripacandida. The vulture zone was badly damaged.

No victims and only slight or no damage to buildings were reported in the provinces of Campobasso and Materia.

Meantime, attempts to reach the surrounding territory were futile as all telephone and telegraph lines were down. It was 5 a. m. before service was restored to Rome.

The disturbed communications prevented rapid gathering of reports from the affected territory, but police began a preliminary survey in Naples, and found at least 13 were killed here, including the Countess De Rossi-Vagas, who died from a heart attack during the quake.

Virtually every building in the slum section was cracked and many collapsed. The so-called Casanova bridge here was broken and the seismographical instrument in the observatory was put out of order.

The foundations of the cathedral of Cava Dei Tierreni near Salerno, 26 miles south of here, were weakened by the quake, and it was feared the building would collapse.

SUPERVISORS TO BE ASKED TO MAKE SURVEY

ship of the board had discussed the matter.

Reasons For Survey

The high tax burden for the support of the junior colleges imposed on the tax payers of the two districts and the fact that those outside the district could take advantage of the facilities offered at a much lower rate was advanced as one reason for the necessity of the survey with possible creation of a junior college district of the entire county, with the possible maintenance of the two present junior colleges at Santa Ana and Fullerton, or even the addition of a third junior college at some other point in the county. These were considered as possibilities as much as the creation of one union junior college. The junior college tax rate in the Fullerton district is 26 cents. In the Santa Ana district it is 22 cents. High school districts outside the junior college districts pay only a rate of 4 cents.

The 6-4-4 plan, which it is declared is being adopted in many cities also entered the discussion last night, and was advanced as another reason for the advisability and necessity for the survey.

McFadden introduced the matter of the survey at the opening of the conference between the two boards, stating that the Associated Chambers of Commerce committee was desirous of ascertaining the attitude of the two boards on the matter, and that it was felt that the supervisors favored such a move and would finance it if there was a unified request from the two junior college districts and assurance of careful consideration of the results, and that there would be unanimity of action.

Starting Point

Dr. John Ball, president of the Santa Ana board, made a statement in which he declared that for the past two years he had felt that an impartial and scientific educational survey of the county would give all the school districts accurate information on which to base their future plans. He said that a survey would give a starting place from which arguments for either a unified junior college program or continuance of two or more junior colleges, could begin.

"Costs, curriculum and location of a union junior college are but details," Dr. Ball declared. "We must find out the basis for it all from those more familiar with higher education. We are most interested in securing the best education for the most pupils, and the 6-4-4 plan is being rapidly adopted. If some cities in Orange county are ready for that step, that would mean we shouldn't plan for a union junior college. The survey would result in getting information on this subject in addition to the others."

J. A. Prizer, of the Fullerton board, started a reaction that at one time resulted in the not too veiled assertion on the part of McFadden, who declared that the personnel of the board had been changed before and could be done again if necessary to best serve the interests of the district, when he declared that he did not see any need for the survey and would not commit himself on such a move. He asserted that the Fullerton board had been instructed to operate and maintain the junior college there, and that he didn't believe the district would consider abandoning the junior college even if such a thing were legally possible.

Herbert Miller assured Prizer that the meeting was not for the purpose of trying to slip anything over on Fullerton and that if there was anything to be gained by a survey, no one should be antagonistic toward it. He also declared that no progress could be made if sectional feeling was going to prevail.

Is Right Step

S. James Tuffree, of Fullerton, advanced the thought that all that there was to go on now in the discussions of junior colleges was personal opinion and that if experts were secured to make a county-wide survey there would be a tangible basis for consideration and reasoning on the matter. He declared that he believed the survey was a step in the right direction and that an intelligent report from educational experts was needed before further consideration of the matter could be had.

McFadden pointed out that additional facilities were necessary at Fullerton for the continuance of the junior college there and that the tax burden was already unproportionately heavy. Attention was also called to the fact that in the event a survey showed continuance of two colleges feasible that there might be a basis for going to Brea and Anaheim and securing their annexation to the Fullerton district.

Dr. Ball stated that he had been advised by a member of the state department of education that small classes were preferable in junior colleges and that it was probable that the two junior colleges now in operation would be continued as a result of a survey, but that additional information would be provided that would be of value to the entire county. The cost of the survey was estimated at about $6000 or $7000.

Albert Launer, of the Fullerton board, declared that Fullerton was in a position where some kind of a move must be made and that he personally wanted all the information possible before taking any action. He declared that the survey would benefit the entire county and that the people of the entire county should be concerned in the matter.

Arthur Staley, of Fullerton, also declared that he favored the smaller institutions and that he believed the survey would be a good thing to have made.

Dr. Ball announced that the appointment of the Santa Ana member of the committee to place the matter before the supervisors would be selected later.

DISMISS SUIT OF MESA LAND OWNERS

The trial of a large number of Costa Mesa property owners, who were seeking judgment to forfeit a lease and quiet title to their property against a group of defendants, including the Interstate Oil company, ran against a bar yesterday that wrecked it completely.

The case was just getting started when a motion was presented by Kaufman and West, defense attorneys, objecting to the introduction of any evidence in the case on the grounds that not all the interested parties were represented in the action. Following deliberation on the matter, Judge Allen yesterday afternoon ruled on the motion, sustaining the objection. This resulted in the case being thrown out of court.

It had been anticipated that the matter would occupy four days for trial, and a large number of books from the recorder's office had been brought into court to verify records. It is reported that the action was ruled from court on a similar objection several years ago.

JAS. EADS HOW FAMOUS HOBO, ANSWERS CALL

Was 56 Years Old

How was 56 years old and a member of a wealthy St. Louis family. He was a grandson of the famous engineer, James E. Eads, who more than a half-century ago built the Eads bridge over the Mississippi river at St. Louis.

Early in life How elected to seek the society of tramps and he acted as chairman at nearly all the hobo conventions. Recently he had been active in seeking government aid to alleviate unemployment conditions. In this capacity he attended the senate unemployment hearing several months ago.

How's interest in hoboes was entirely philanthropic. For some time before he joined their ranks and toured the country in 1899 he had attempted to aid them by gifts and legislative work, and he finally decided that to understand them he would have to be one of them.

Oxford Graduate

The hoboes, however, didn't quite accept him as one of them. They could never forget that however poor he might look when sitting around their campfires and "riding the rods," he had a fortune of something more than $1,000,000. Moreover, he had attended Harvard and Oxford and had a degree from the college of physicians and surgeons.

How was ousted several times from councils of the hoboes, but worked his way back each time. Once he was ejected from a convention for preaching socialism. Socialism, the hoboes said, was only for laborers and they did not labor.

How founded the hobo college on the Bowery, New York, but it did not flourish because its students were more interested in the subjects of pie and coffee than in economics and how to get a job.

He also took part in the hobo convention in Newark last year at which resolutions were sent to President Hoover and congress concerning unemployment. Plans for a hobo hotel on Park avenue, New York, were also discussed.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 23.—A 20-foot boa constrictor in a zoo on the summit of Cheyenne mountain was found frozen stiff. It was brought to town here for the taxidermist to stuff and mount. When that gentleman started to cut up the snake, the reptile, thrawed out by the heat of the shop, started to move. So did the taxidermist. The snake was killed afterward.

FORMAL STORE OPENING SET FOR THURSDAY

Rare bargains in foods will feature the three-day formal opening period of the Alpha Beta store at 1502 West Fifth street, according to a statement today by Lewis J. Gall, manager.

The formal opening period starts tomorrow and continues through Saturday, the manager pointed out. At the same time he added that the company has made preparation for meeting every demand of the public in the way of service and stock of supplies. There will be free demonstration of food products.

Arrangement of the new store and the equipment installed is said to be more modern than similar stores in the southland, the new features making it easier for self-helping customers to find what they want. The interior is finished in ivory and green.

Pointing out that the new store is in the same location as the first out-of-the-business grocery established in Santa Ana, Gall said that business was not interrupted while the new brick building was being erected to supplant the old frame structure originally built by L. D. Mercereau for the enterprise—an enterprise in which Mercereau pioneered so far as attempting the conduct of a grocery business outside of the down town area is concerned.

Gall was with Mercereau when he established the business in 1906 and later became the owner of the business, which he operated under his own name for seven years. Becoming impressed with the expanding program of the Alpha Beta chain and the success it was meeting with, Gall identified his institution with the chain concern.

Pointing out that the chain now has 28 stores, Gall said the company, created by Gerrard brothers, is now installing in Whittier one of the largest and most up to date drive-in markets in the Southland.

W. L. Deimling Honored at Session of Rotary; Painter Speaks

Tribute was paid W. L. Deimling by members at the meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club yesterday. Deimling, who is a charter member of the club, is retiring August 1 as district manager here for the Southern California Edison company.

Paul Denninger, district manager for the company at Whittier, was the principal speaker. He told of the splendid service rendered the company by the retiring district manager for a period of more than 20 years and revealed to Rotarians here some of the "secrets" in the life of Deimling.

Deimling is an inveterate pipe smoker and he and his pipe have been the subject of much kidding at the sessions of the club. Emphasis was placed on this "frailty" of the district manager by distribution to each plate of a corn cob pipe and tobacco.

Mac O. Robbins, the first president of Santa Ana Rotary, presented Deimling with a corn cob pipe and a special brand of "El Toro mixture."

Joseph Bierren, internationally known painter of trees, was a guest and made brief remarks. He commented particularly on the beauty of Orange county trees.

Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Ruth Lalond, accompanied on the piano by Art Cannon. Cannon also entertained with piano numbers.

The program was arranged by E. S. Morrow and Charles Rutledge, with the former officiating as program chairman.

CANDIDATE IN SPEECH BEFORE 20-30 MEMBERS

Speaking before the Santa Ana 20-30 club at the Santa Ana cafe last night, Harry Westover, candidate for district attorney, declared that the young man of today must be willing to work at little things and thereby acquire experience for the bigger things of life.

Westover's talk follows:

"Times have changed since I a young man of your age. Some seven years ago I moved to Santa Ana. This was not my first visit to Santa Ana, however, for I lived in this city some 25 years ago. My father had a daily newspaper in Santa Ana at that time. I think that it was called the Enterprise. The paper was loctaed on the northeast corner of French and Fourth streets in the old telephone building. If I remember correctly the building had just been completed. Although I say that I came to Santa Ana seven years ago I presume that I could be called an old timer as part of my education was received in this city. From Santa Ana we moved to Kentucky and then back to Arizona. Some seven years ago I succumbed to the urge to return to this part of the country and moved to California.

"When I moved to Santa Ana the last time there was no such organization as the 20-30 club. We did, however, have the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which functioned for several years. Most of the young men of Santa Ana were members of that organization. After reaching the age of 30, however, they were graduated into the Senior Chamber of Commerce.

California Calls

"People from all over the country have a desire to live in this part of California. When I was in the army I was stationed for a while at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Georgia. While there I met people of means who likened California to heaven—a place to be achieved only once in a life time. Many people in Arizona as well as in the other states are waiting until they have accumulated a stake and then are planning on coming to California. That is one of the reasons why we are going to have here, one of the most densely populated parts of the country. Everyone wants to live here. The big question is to provide work for those who wish to live with us.

"I am informed that the 20-30 club is young in years. I might say to you that all such organizations are young. I happen to belong to the Kiwanis club. The Kiwanis club was organized something like 15 years ago and we now have a membership of more than 100,000. Your organization is not large as yet, but I am of the opinion that you will find among the young men between 20 and 30 years of age the same great field that the other service clubs found for their work.

"I do not consider myself old in years. However, I am nearing 40. That is very old as far as some of you are concerned. I realize my age, however, when I stop to realize that since the World war there has grown up a generation who do not know of the horrors of war and to whom war still has the glamour and romance which has appealed to the young men for centuries. Most of you were in knickers when the war ended. I realize how fast time is flying when I think of you who were "kids" at the end of the war and who are now taking your place in the business and social life of the country.

Must Take Commands

"Most of you are young as yet and I would say this to the young man starting out on his business career (and I make this statement because I am somewhat older than you are and have traveled a little of the way you will have to travel), that the greatest trouble with the young man of today is that he wants to get along too fast. Young people must have patience. They must prepare themselves for the work to come. Most of us wish to start at the top—we wish to be the manager or the boss at the beginning. We fail to realize that those who are at the top are there because of their work and experience. None of us like to do the little jobs. We wish to give our time to the bigger things. We had an old saying in the army to the effect that if one wished to become a good leader he had first to become a good follower. He had first to learn to take commands before he could give them. The same is true in the business world. In order to become a good executive one should first learn to obey. The young man must learn to be patient. He must be willing to work at little things. He must be willing to make progress slowly. A little slower progress at the beginning of life—a little more attention to the little things will pay large dividends later on."

CHILD'S REVENGE CAUSE FATAL BLAST

This wreckage, following a blast that took three lives, is the result of a child's thwarted desire for an ice cream cone. When Minnie Cimino, 9, was denied the nickle she requested, she set fire to her father's fire-works factory in Asbury Park, N. J. The explosion, felt within a radius of four miles, killed the child's grandmother, a cousin and a playmate. Parts of the buildings in which fireworks were stored were blown a quarter of a mile.

INSPECTION OF P. O. SITE HERE PLANNED SOON

The site selected here for the federal post office building will be inspected in the immediate future by Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general; Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury and John M. Philip, fourth assistant postmaster, according to word received here today from Los Angeles.

The government officials are now in Los Angeles but the date of their inspection of the site on Bush street is not definitely known here.

Postmaster T. E. Stephenson said he had not been advised of the contemplated visit. The postmaster, however, is a member of a committee of post office officials arranging a dinner for the visitors at the Alexandria hotel Saturday night.

Postmasters and their assistants will be present, Stephenson today sent out letters to postmasters in Orange county advising of the dinner and requested that reservations be forwarded to the postmaster at Alhambra.

ROY L. ANDROSS IS FOUND SANE BY JURY

It required less than half an hour yesterday afternoon for the members of the jury who heard evidence in the trial of the proceeding against Roy L. Andross, an alleged insane persons, to bring in a verdict of sane. Andross, it was charged by physicians, suffered from paranoia, a form of insanity which causes the victim to labor under delusions.

Evidence yesterday was presented by Preston Turner, deputy district attorney, and S. B. Kaufman, attorney for Andross. The jury was informed by physicians and hospital attendants that the defednant was suffering under delusions that he was being persecuted by his parents. Andross took the stand and made a good case for himself. He testified that while in the army he discovered an army officer using and selling drugs and that when he accused the man, he struck him with a club and then injected cocaine, making him an addict for a period.

Andross declared that he was informed when he returned to his old home in Minneapolis last winter that his father had been spreading stories that he was insane and that he asked his father about it and said if he found the man who was making those reports he would "work out on him." He declared that he was arrested shortly after that and committed to an institution in Minneapolis, then returned to California.

CLUB DELEGATE GIVES REPORT ON CONVENTION

Reporting a registration of 4200 persons, including 1136 registered delegates, Elmer Steffenson, speaking at the Kiwanis club today on the convention of Kiwanis International at Atlantic City, declared that there were serious private discussions by delegates of the advisability of limiting attendance at international conventions to delegates only, or reducing the attendance by electing delegates by districts instead of by clubs.

The large attendance, it was intimated by the speaker, has made the annual session rather unwieldly. The subject was not discussed on the floor of the convention, Steffenson pointed out.

The delegate from the local club also made the statement that he had come to the conclusion that a resort city is no place for a big convention, explaining that his observation had convinced him that in such places there are ecores of amusement to detract from the sessions, and that prices usually are higher than in inland cities.

Clubs in the California-Nevada district are more active and progressive than units in any of the other districts, it was asserted by the speaker, who made the comment that California won all the prizes offered by international for attendance and efficiency.

Pointing out that a movement to increase the per capita dues to the international body had been defeated, Steffenson said that many delegates felt that the present stress of economic conditions did not warrant the imposition of an additional financial burden on members.

The delegate commented on general business conditions throughout the east and declared that the situation of unemployment was worse than is generally known, particularly in those centers where large industrials operate.

Asserting that the general public in the east has taken the position that the depression is the sequence of the period of prosperity, and that they are not criticizing any of the political parties or leaders for the condition, the Santa Ana man said he gained from general conversation the impression that the opinion prevails that prewar prices for commodities are on the way. He said it is claimed that price recession has been delayed to some extent by retailers and wholesalers endeavoring to maintain the war standard of prices.

BOARD ADVISED LAND PURCHASE PROJECT VALID

Abandonment of the proceedings to purchase additional property at the Julia Lathrop school which had been advanced as one method to conserve funds so that the junior high school building program might not be curtailed, was found to be impossible last night by the Santa Ana board of education members, who were advised by Leo Friis, deputy district attorney, that the proceedings, which were in escrow, were valid and must stand.

The opinion of the district attorney's office declared that the contracts were binding and valid on both parties and that there was no reason for cancellation. Following the receipt of this information, the board acted to appropriate funds for the purchase of the property, which amounts to 533,500. The property includes two residences and a corner business lot, from which some income may be derived from existing leases.

The board took action last night on the request of Walter Scott, former member of the faculty in Santa Ana schools, granting him permission to take an apparatus he had constructed in connection with a game he invented, to Long Beach, for further experimentation. Scott is now an administrative official in the physical education department of the Long Beach schools.

George Newcom, business mnaager of the city school, reported that a bid had been received from O. V. Dart on moving the buildings on the Ford property, the site of the new Willard high school plant, and all the work, includng construction of new walks, would be done at $2925. The board accepted the bid and authorized the work done.

Maurine Simms, assistant librarian at Julia Lathrop, was given leave of absence for one year to attend the Berkeley Librarians' school.

BUILDING MATERIALS IN S. A. ARE DOWN 20 TO 25 PER CENT; OTHER COMMODITIES IN DROP

In line with other commodities that have been dropping in prices, building material costs in Santa Ana today are 20 to 25 per cent less than they were two years ago, according to declarations today by building material men.

The material men point out that with real estate values offered today it is possible for persons to establish themselves in their own homes with very substantial savings in the cost of lot and dwelling as compared with two years ago.

N. E. Lentz, manager of the Santa Ana yard of the Barr Lumber company, today said that compared with two years ago, construction lumber (rough) is down 25 per cent; finished lumber, 15 per cent; cement, 15 per cent, and hardwood flooring, 25 per cent. These are just a few of the items he cited indicative of the decrease in building material costs.

Increase Seen

Real estate men assert that good building lots can be purchased for 50 per cent less than they could have been bought for two years ago, and they stress the point that the increase that is certain to come within a year will take care for two or three years of depreciation on structures erected at this time.

According to statistics compiled by the department of labor the dollar's buying power has expanded more than a tenth in the year ended June 30, and it is nearly a sixth more than four years ago. The deduction is based on 550 wholesale price quotations.

In a table accompaning the statement the bureau gave figures to show that of the great majority of commodities the dollar of June could buy more than it could four years ago. The exceptions noted were automobiles, hides and leather products, including leathe r and boots and shoes, and cattle feed.

Rubber showed the greatest fall in price, according to the bureau's table, and of this commodity a dollar now can buy nearly four times as much as four years ago. Automobile tires are next lowest in this classification of fallen prices, followed by drugs and pharmaceuticals and silk and rayon and some other textile products.

The purchasing power of the 1926 dollar in June, 1930, based on 550 wholesale price quotations weighted according to the importance of each commodity, was given as $1.152, as compared with $1.037 in June, 1929.

Wholesale prices of all commodities, based on the 1926 average as 100, in June, 1930, averaged 86.8 as compared with 89.1 as of May, 1930, and 96.4 as of June, 1929, the report states.

The purchasing power of the 1926 dollar on all commodities other than foods and farm products, the report says, was $1.167 in June, 1930. Wholesale prices of all commodities other than foods and farm products, based on the 1926 average of 100, in June, 1930, averaged 85.7, as compared with 87.5 in May, 1930, and 93.1 in June, 1929.

Farm Products

Farm products as a whole decreased approximately 4½ per cent in average price from May to June, while foods dropped more than 1½ per cent from the May figure, the report states. Of the total of 550 commodities, 50 showed increases, 231 showed decreases, while in 269 there were no changes reported.

Farm products as a whole decreased nearly 4½ per cent in avefage price from May to June, due to further declines in barley, corn, oats, rye, wheat, beef cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry, cotton, alfalfa hay, and potatoes. Higher prices prevailed for calves, lambs, eggs, clover hay, flaxseed and onions. Prices for the month averaged almost 14 per cent below those of June, 1929.

Foods Decline

Foods declined over 1½ per cent from the May level, with decreases for butter, cheese, evaporated milk, beef, mutton, dressed poultry, coffee and flour. For this group, also, prices were appreciably lower than in the corresponding month of last year.

Textile products again were downward, with cotton goods, silk and rayon, woolen worsted goods, and other textiles all participating in the decline.

Housefurnishing goods, as a group, showed no change in the general price level.

In the group designated as miscellaneous there were decided price decreases reported for cattle feed, rubber, and automobile tires, with a similar decrease for paper and pulp.

Playground ....News

EDISON SCHOOL

The Edison playground attendance has decreased during the last week due to the hot weather. There have been 30 children enrolled since the playground started, 28 new children this week. There were silver certificates awarded to Etta Lonsbury and Irene Wycoff during the assembly. The children are hoping to win the picnic which is promised to the school having the best miniature golf course. Our shuffle board tournament started this week. All the boys and girls have taken an interest in this new game.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL

The enrollment for this summer is 91 for the boys and 77 for the girls, making a total of 168 and on Wednesday the attendance was 125. Of course, there were some visitors and five dads called to see the ball games.

In hand work the girls are making folded paper belts this week, and some are making paper flowers, while others are making purses, toys and bags for bathing suits from the rubber inner tubes.

This playground is indebted to many of Santa Ana merchants who give materials that pupils may have fun in making things here at Franklin.

Miss Pearl Camblin entertained the supervisors and assistants of the summer playground centers at her home on North Olive street on Monday evening. Mr. Archer presented the schedules for various championships to be worked out this week. Miss Bemus discussed the pageant to be given soon, and then the group played bridge for a short time with a climax of a lovely apricot ice served by Miss Camblin and her mother.

The boys of Franklin have organized an Electric Shop club. The club meets every Friday at the F. H. Simoneau shop, which is next to the school. The club has planned to make many interesting projects. Each boy who makes some article receives so many points. When he has 250 points he receives a silver certificate, and at 500 points he receives a gold certificate.

July 16 Franklin's elementary boys played Fremont's elementary boys. The score was 27 to 1 in favor of Franklin. The game was stopped at the end of the fifth inning. Franklin made 10 hits off of Ojeda. "Toodle" Castelle made three hits out of five times at bat. Fremont made just one hit off of Joe Rodriquez. It looks very favorable for Franklin to win the championship.

FREMONT SCHOOL

The boys at Fremont playground are making toys, animals, wagons, etc., from scraps of wood. The boys are working very hard on their golf course and hope to win the picnic.

LINCOLN SCHOOL

Hats off to Lincoln! In five days they have constructed a complete nine hole miniature golf course, with Art Wilde as architect.

In the week's tournaments Lincoln won both elementary and junior high horseshoe doubles championships and came in second in both singles meets. A. Cass and R. Schwarm won junior high, E. Youel and O. Noche won the elementary; R. Dresser was second in junior high singles, and B. Mercurio was barely nosed out in elementary singles.

The handwork for the week has consisted of woven paper belts, colored pillow tops, bathing suit bags, bath mats, sewed animal cards and paper folds.

Charley Linger was the receiver of the gold certificate of attainment given out this week and many others are working hard for their points.

LOWELL SCHOOL

The girls of Lowell are learning a Norwegian dance. Miss Camblin is helping while Miss Nicholson plays the piano. The pupils are making aprons and caps. A pageant is planned.

Last week the safety committee was composed of Russell Baker, Norma Aren, Ralph Lambert, Colleen Block and Eleanor Henry. This week the safety committee members are Weslie Duncan, Rohelio Dominquez, Helen Marie Tart, Norma Area and Eleanor Henry.

ROOSEVELT SCHOOL

The following children have passed the 200 mark in playground attainments: Lloyd Race, 525; Bruce Harnois, 350; Dale Smith, 260; George Dorsey, 275; Gilbert Gonzales, 250; Pierino Lovero, 250; Mac Beall, 240; James Watters, 235; Louise Crawford, 235; Kenneth Warren, 235; Harris Warren, 230; Irva Watters, 230; Paul Gonzales, 205.

This record gave Lloyd Race a gold certificate and silver certificates to Bruce Harnois, Dale Smith, George Dorsey, Gilbert Gonzales and Pierino Lovera. Mr. Archer, the playground supervisor, made the presentation speech and impressed upon the children the value of fair play, real sportsmanship and consistent attendance. It is hoped at next Friday's assembly to have at least five more silver certificate earned.

Lloyd Race, the champion domino player in the elementary division, won the horseshoe contest this week. The two championships gave Lloyd 300 points.

Roosevelt junior ball team is now leading in baseball with two games in their favor. They have won three practice games. This makes five victories straight. Gilbert Gonzales is coaching the elementary boys baseball team. The boys have rebuilt the team and look like sure winners to their associates.

In spite of the heat the attendance has kept up surprisingly well.

Doomed Cat Gives Owner Big Shock With Five Kittens

Imagine her surprise when she went to bury her chloroformed cat and found five little kittens in the box!

At any rate, it just goes to prove that the old saying about a cat having nine lives wasn't so much applesauce after all. Any cat that can survive a dose of chloroform and then bring five kittens into the world is pretty hardy, regardless of how many lives it has.

Charles Ocian, president of the Santa Ana Humane society, was telling the story today, following a telephone call from a woman in the southwest part of town. It seems that the woman wanted to do away with her cat so cooped it up in a box Monday night and injected the chloroform. Next morning, she opened the box and lo and behold, five baby cats were inside.

SUGAR HALTS SLEEP

HAMILTON, N. Y., July 22.—Those who have trouble sleeping at night probably are consuming too much sugar, according to results of experiments conducted in laboratories of Colgate University. There it was found that it is possible to stay awake for a much longer period by eating sweet foods than others.

S. A. Couple Home After 7400-Mile Car Trip In East

Dr. and Mrs. MacVicker Smith were home today from a 7400-mile auto tour of portions of the United States, the travelers having departed on May 5.

Business conditions and the unemployment situation are worse in the eastern states than here on the Pacific coast, according to Dr. Smith.

Road conditions generally were good, particularly on the main routes, the Santa Ana physician said, adding that roads were not so good in many of the out of way places he and Mrs. Smith visited.

The travelers stopped with a brother of Mrs. Smith at Olean, N. Y., and a sister of Dr. Smith at Cleveland, Ohio.

Among other places visited were San Antonio, New Orleans, Chattanooga, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, Yellowstone park, Bryce canyon and Zion national park.

The only motoring trouble experience by the Santa Ana couple was four punctures.

ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Anton Friis of Long Beach were week-end visitors in Anaheim as guests of the Leo J. Friis home at 608 North Philadelphia street where James Friis, son in the home, and grandson of the guests, has been ill the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Nichols and two daughters, Loretta and Margaret of Gilbert road left Monday morning on a 10-day motor trip over the Columbia highway taking them as far north as Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holden have returned to their home at 915 North Clementine street after an extended trip to the east. While gone they attended the Elk's convention in Atlantic City and visited New York, Washington, D. C., and New Orleans.

Sunday dinner guests at the J. E. Rymer home at 307 East Alberts street included Miss Jeannette Lutes and Harold Lutes of Santa Ana, Mrs. Wayne Mabry of Anaheim, and C. A. McCullah of Fullerton.

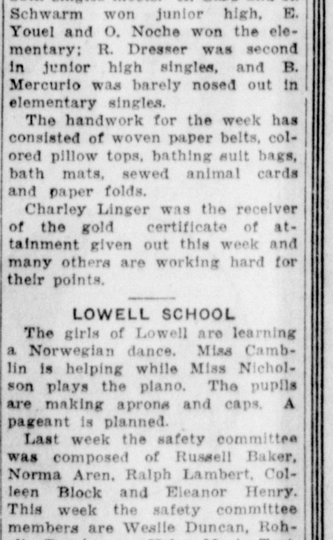

Chief of Police James M. Bouldin, accompanied by Mrs. Bouldin left today for San Francisco where they will spend a two weeks' vacation. Other members of the police force enjoying vacations are James S. Pifer who, with his wife and daughter, Helen, are on their way to Grand Canyon and Zion Canyon, and Mark A. Stevenson and wife and son who have been taking short motor trips.

The Rev. Ralph W. Lee, pastor of the White Temple Methodist church, with Mrs. Lee and their two sons, Theodore and Bill, and Mrs. Lee's mother, Mrs. Mary Webb, who makes her home with them, left yesterday for a motor trip to Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., for a month's vacation. Rev. Lee's pulpit will be filled by supply pastors during his absence.

Newport To Draft Harbor Development Resolution

CHAMBER PICKS COMMITTEE FOR PLAN SELECTION

NEWPORT BEACH, July 23.—In the belief that a different stand on Newport Harbor development from that taken in a resolution passed at the last meeting of the Orange County Coast association at San Clemente will tend toward greater harmony in Orange county and be more practicable, directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce last night named a special committee to draft a harbor development resolution to be offered at the meeting of the Associated Chambers next Tuesday night at Los Alamitos.

The San Clemente resolution asked the supervisors to appoint a harbor commission, which would engage an engineer, make a report and recommend to the supervisors that a harbor bond election be called. It contained a proviso that federal government money must be obtained, dollar for dollar, before the bonds, is passed, were sold.

Plan Impracticable

This is impracticable, it was said, and the special committee was named, as it is understood to be the intention of delegates from the interior of the county at next Tuesday night's meeting in Los Alamitos to introduce the resolution passed by the coast body. The committee consists of H. L. Sherman, chairman; Lew H. Wallace, J. P. Greeley, Harry Welch and Secretary G. C. Macleod.

It was believed by directors who discussed the matter that a resolution satisfactory to the Associated delegates, as well as to this chamber, can be drawn up.

H. L. Sherman, chairman of the Tournament of Lights committee, was again highly complimented on this year's tournament, most successful in the history of the event. He presented a written report, making suggestions for next year's event, which it is planned to hold on a grander scale than ever.

Yacht Plans Told

Frank L. Smith and Sherman, in the absence of Commodore J. A. Beek, who left the meeting early, told of plans being made for the Southern California and Pacific Coast yacht regattas here August 4 to 9.

Speedboats, which came in for some warm discussion at the city council meeting Monday night, were discussed.

Owing to the lack of funds on hand with which to install a new wire at the electrically-timed course north of the bay, the directors decided not to recommend that mile time trials be staged on that course August 10 and 11, as asked by the Southern California Outboard association.

No Boats Without Mufflers

The chamber had at its last meeting voted against allowing any motorboats to be used on the bay at any time without closed mufflers, and this would automatically rule out the mile trials as requested.

President Ferry asked all who could attend the celebration Saturday marking the opening of Santa Ana boulevard, also the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at Los Alamitos next Tuesday night.

The matter of a letter to be written for a publication being issued by the Brea Legion post and of representation at the Associated Chahbers of Commerce golf tournament at Long Beach July 31 were left to Secretary G. C. Macleod.

LA HABRA BUYS FIRE TRUCK AT COUNCIL MEET

LA HABRA, July 23.—Bids were opened last night at the city council meeting at La Habra for a fire truck for city use, and the Seagraves company of Los Angeles was the lowest bidder at $6000. The engine will be delivered within 90 days to the city.

Other bidders were the American La France at $7458, who also submitted alternate bids not covering the specifications of the city needs; Ahren-Fox company, $7000 F.O.B., and the Mack Truck company, $6800. The fact that the lowest bidder was the Seagrave company was entirely satisfactory to the city council because that particular type of engine had been accepted as the most satisfactory for the needs of La Habra.

The new truck will be equipped with a number of modern devices and is capable of a 500 gallon pressure a minute and will be red with gold lettering denoting La Habra fire engine No. 3.

John Sanks, city engineer, submitted a plan for the proposed new firehall for La Habra, for the inspection of the council and for their approval. Sanks has stated that he would have local contractors to estimate the costs of the proposed improvements on the building including the sum total which is expected to be around $4000, and submit the expenditures later. No action was taken.

The appointment of Hoyt Stagg as temporary night officer was made at the council meeting last night following his appointment by Chief J. Caldwell to take the place of Elmer Brown, recuperating from a beating alleged to have been given him when he accompanied two brothers to their home, recently.

It was decided that the city would collect fees from the contractors at the local schools in that the fees had already been allowed for in the bids of the contractors with the exception of one contractor. The building fees will amount to $120.

Only one license fee will be charged to firms operating under one name, it was decided last night following several weeks of controversy on the subject in which a number of objections were made to levying further license fees.

Each of the council members was asked to formulate a budget for the coming year to be presented at the meeting August 5 at which time a liquidation of a budget will be made for the ensuing year.

COSTA MESA GIRL ESCAPES INJURY

COSTA MESA, July 23.—Little four-year-old Peggy Fath of Sixteenth place and Santa Ana avenue, was run over by an automobile driven by James Jepson, a next door neighbor Monday at 2:30 p. m.

The auto ran over the child's stomach and she was badly bruised on the head and back but will recover. She miraculously escaped internal injuries.

Jepson, who has been confined to the hospital with a broken leg for the past four months, and only home for the past three weeks, was returning from his first auto drive since his own accident. Peggy had been playing at a neighbors, across the street and suddenly ran into Jepson'r drive, in front of his car, which was travelling only five miles per hour.

A peculiar coincidence was that both headlights of his auto were found broken.

ACQUIRE STRIP FOR SIDEWALK IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, July 23.—Members of the Placentia city council voted Monday night at their regular meeting to acquire a strip of property on the south side of Chapman avenue from Bradford avenue west to the city limits and on the eas tside of Bradford avenue from Chapman avenue north to the school property for the same purpose of laying a sidewalk, and city engineer George Bates was ordered to prepare plans and specifications for the sidewalk to present at the next meeting.

While this property will be acquired under an improvement act, either of 1911 or 1915, the work is not being considered as an improvement proceeding but as a safety measure, to enable school children to go to school with all possibly safety.

Dedicates Strip

Attorney Leonard Evans of Anaheim was present on behalf of C. W. Wents, who owns all the property where the sidewalk will go on Bradford avenue, and the situation was explained to him in detail by Engineer Bates. Bates also reported that Wents was willing to dedicate the 10-foot strip along his land, which has a frontage of 780 feet, but that it would be necessary for the city to make a district and carry it to a bond issue.

It is expected that other individual owners will dedicate land and build the sidewalk, which will cost $1.26 per running foot for walk and curb, according to Bates' estimate. If it is found necessary to make an improvement district of a portion along Chapman avenue, the district will extend one-half block south.

Asks About Assessments

T. E. Pickerill, secretary of the chamber of commerce, presented to the council a communication from the Los Angeles chamber of commerce regarding special assessments, and Engineer Bates explained the situation as being a result of the Matoon act.

John Nora presented a request for a permit to put in a sidewalk filling station in front of his store on Santa Fe avenue, and it was ordered to notify him that it was prohibited by the city ordinance against street obstructions.

Refuse Dance Permit

Manuel Herrerra presented a request from a Mexican association to be allowed to hold a street dance in front of the Americanization building on Santa Fe avenue the evening of Sunday, August 10. The request was denied, but it was granted permission to parade through the town at 1 p. m.

The council plans to have all city phones under the heading of "City of Placentia" in the new phone book, and to ring the fire alarm it was agreed that 52 should be called from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., after that Chief H. Lucy at 125-J, and if no answer is received, 239 for Joe Pauchon. Additional wiring will be installed so that the siren may be sounded from Chief Lucy's home. It was reported that Police Chief Barnes had a phone installed in his rooms.

Some discussion was held regarding collecting a share of the gas tax money to use on street work.

The city budget will be discussed at the next meeting, August 4, and the equalization board of the city trustees will meet Monday, August 11, at 10 a. m. to hear complaints on assessments.

Last Sunday about 50 adults were present.

CHARMING GIRL ANNOUNCES HER WEDDING DATE

ANAHEIM, July 23.—One of the pleasant surprise events of the season took place recently at the home of Miss Ethel Phillips at 915 West Broadway. The guests were bidden to a shower honoring Miss Fleta Eisenhauer, who is soon to become the bride of Floyd Llewellan.

Five tables of bridge was played, with Miss Dorothy Kopfer receiving high score and Miss Alice Twinem second place.

Later when the guests were invited to the dining room where tables had been arranged for luncheon, the bride-elect was led to her place blindfolded to find that piled high before her were lovely gifts from her friends present.

The clever hostess had planned another surprise, however, which was not known to any of her guests. Hidden in the confines of the place cards was the announcement of Miss Phillips' engagement to Donald Eisenhauer, brother of the honored guest.

Miss Eisenhauer formerly lived in Anaheim as did her brother. They were both graduates from the Anaheim Union high school. Miss Eisenhauer later attended Fullerton junior college and for the past two years has been employed with the California hospital, Los Angeles. Mr. Eisenhauer has been attending the University of Southern California college of pharmacy. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eisenhauer, are well known here, being former proprietors of the Orange County drug store on West Center and Clementine streets before goin to Los Angeles.

An interestting feature in the romance of Miss Phillips and Mr. Eisenhauer is that they were both graduated from the Anaheim high school in the same class in 1928 and are the first couple from the class to announce their engagement. Miss Phillips graduated this June from the Fullerton junior college. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Phillips. She was assisted in entertaining by her mother.

The guests included Miss Twinem, Miss Twila Brownell, Miss Eloise Owens, Miss La Verne Holmberg, Miss Charlotte Forsythe, Miss Dorothy Kopfer, Miss Barbara Welch, Miss Maxine Harris, Misses Leola and Philura Felton and Mrs. Dan Acosta, all of Anaheim; Miss Marjorie Schutz of Norwalk, Miss Kitty Smith, Mrs. Bob Claire, Miss Thelma Beck, Miss Bessie Eisenhauser, and the honored guest, of Los Angeles.

No one was present to enter complaints against the assessment.

Dismiss Charges Against Druggist

ANAHEIM, July 23.—Charges against George E. Larsen, Anaheim druggist, for the alleged sale of intoxicating liquor in his place of business, were dismissed yesterday in recorder's court because of the disappearance of Johnnie Stewart, the only witness for the prosecution, thus making it impossible to prosecute the case.

Larsen was arrested on June 30 by Anaheim police, after W. W. Cosgrove ,Santa Ana, was placed under arrest on an intoxication charge, he having signed an affidavit to the effect that he had purchased liquor from Stewart, then a clerk in Larsen's store. Stewart, turning state's evidence, charged that Larsen was selling liquor.

SCHOOL BOARD RECEIVES BIDS ON MOTOR BUS

PLACENTIA, July 23.—Members of the Placentia grammar school board received bids on a bus body and chassis at a special meeting of the school board Monday evening, with representatives of nine concerns presenting bids on a chassis and two on bodies.

No decision was arrived at by the board and another meeting was called for this evening so that additional information could be presented.

Plans were made to install new Italian slate boards where needed in the main building of the Bradford avenue school, and it was voted that Alfred Pibel do the work, which will cost about $1600.

Change Office

It was voted to change the main office to the board room, so that the supervising teachers may have more office room. A new office file and safe will be ordered from the Stationers' corporation, with a cardex system from Remington and Rand. The new fixtures will cost a little over $1000.

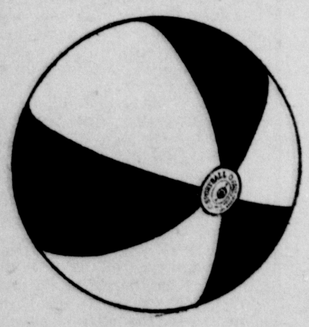

Plans for additional rooms in the annex were discussed, for it has been found necessary to have two more class rooms . To provide for one of them, it was suggested that the sewing room equipment be moved to the basement of the primary building.

It was reported that extermination work for termites had been done at the Yorba school and that the Edison company had agreed to move a pole in the school yard if the board would trim the trees so that the pole could be located on the property line.

AUXILIARY OF LEGION HOLDS JULY MEETING

ORANGE, July 23.—Members of the American Legion auxiliary met yesterday afternoon in the Legion clubhouse to make garments for the Orange Community Welfare store. Each month the members of some one organization or lodge, has charge of the store and during the present month the auxiliary women are conducting it.

Yesterday the group enjoyed a covered dish luncheon at noon and the rest of the day sewing. A layette with crib blankets and a mattress were made and dainty frocks for small girls and trousers and blouses for boys were included in the work completed.

The next regular meeting of the auxiliary will be held August 12. This meeting is expected to be an important one as it will precede the state convention.

Those present were Mesdames Nell Regan, Charlotte Adams, Mamie Anderson, Louise Frostefer, Ora Benson, Dolores Goodwin, Lela Stickler, Harry McCarthy, Otto Ristow, Maude Sisson, Clara Haynes and Inez Bertman.

92 YEARS OLD, DOES ALL HER HOUSE WORK

ORANGE, July 23.—The years have touched lightly the soft brown hair of an alert, erect little woman who has lived in this city for the past 30 years and who it is thought is the oldest woman in the county who does her own housework, takes care of her own garden and lawn and is active in the affairs of lodge and patriotic organizations.

This woman, Mrs. Lydia E. Jones, 313 East Palmyra avenue is 92 years of age. Nearly a century, a century filled with rapid changes, has elapsed since she was born in a little Pennsylvania town in 1838. Mrs. Jones is so happy, so filled with the joy of living that it is hard to realize that her bright blue eyes have witnesses the stirring events, the great mechanical improvements which have taken place in the past hundred years.

Remembers Sewing Machine

Mrs. Jones can remember the invention of the sewing machine and she recalls her relief when it was no longer necessary to make the garments for the men of the family by hand. She can remember when wheat was cut with a cradle and threshed with a crude flail.

Married in 1859 at Marion, Iowa, Mrs. Jones lived for a number of years in Ohio, Michigan and Iowa. "I have lived in states all across the continent," says Mrs. Jones, whose husband William Jones passed away 20 years ago.

The Orange woman has two sons living, one in Los Angeles and one in Nebraska. She comes of a long-lived family, her father living for 79 years and her mother 80. Of a family of four brothers and three sisters two beside herself lived until last month, the sister passing away in her early 70's in San Diego and the brother, 86 years old dying the same month in Nebraska.

Cutting her lawn is one of the things Mrs. Jones likes to do best. "I like to see the grass fly under the sharp blades," she said, as she laid down a weighty volume of speeches by famous American statesmen. "I like to read, and I especially like to read addresses on political matters." Mrs. Jones was reading at the time an address by William Bourke Cochran on "Our Constitutional System."

"When I read addresses it is just like hearing someone talk," she said. "I never met but one president and that was Grover Cleveland. I shook hands with him and told him that our politics did not match. He laughed and said he was glad to know me anyway."

Mrs. Jones has six great grandchildren. Her oldest son disappeared in the Alaska gold rush. After writing he was going to the mines, he was never again heard from. Whether he is living or dead, his mother does not know, but she is quite certain that he was killed for the money he carried with him.

Her long life Mrs. Jones attributes to two things, a natural tendency of her family and taking life as it comes. Not being obliged to do a certain thing at a certain time is conducive to longevity, she says. "I like to do things when I want to, but I like to start what I finish," she declares.

Always alert to go to the Rebekah lodge and to the meetings of the Woman's Relief Corps, both organizations of which she is a member, Mrs. Jones is seldom absent from either.

She likes to read fiction and enjoys good love stories. She does not approve of smoking and has never seen but one woman smoke.

SUMMER PLANS MADE BY QUILL AND PEN CLUB

ORANGE, July 23. — Summer plan were made by members of the Quill Pen club when they met last night in the home of Mrs. J. D. Campbell, 182 South Pepper street. At a short business session it was decided to continue the club meetings during the summer but to make the programs most informal with the manuscripts contributed at the discretion of the members.

Plans were made for social meetings which are to be arranged at a meeting held previous to the event. The annual club picnic is to be held Wednesday, June 30, at the Anaheim city park. A plunge party and covered dish supper are among pleasant features planned.

Manuscripts were read and the first to be presented was a charming tale written around the important subject of naming a new baby. The setting of a small western Dakota town was charmingly and realistically drawn and the Irish characters were very lovable and true to life. The story was well-plotted and held the interest of the listeners until the quite unexpected climax.

Miss Verna Wells presented a romance which began with a girl jilted within an hour of her wedding. As the story developed it fell to the lot of the disillusioned girl to find "something sensible" for a man in the same predicament to do, before arriving in Honolulu where he was expected to bring a bride to his family. A touch of humor and attention to detail made the story one which it was felt would make it readily saleable.

Miss Wells called her story "Something Sensible."

Mrs. N. E. Wells gave a delightful delineation of a character with whom she was well acquainted and she wove aChristmas story around a theme of a long separated father and daughter. The story ended a most satisfactory way when the two were united under the friendly branches of a Christmas tree as the father played Santa Claus to his daughter's children. Mrs. Wells' story was called "The Small House."

Several poems were read by members and these included "Mother" by Mrs. Blanche Brown and "Laughter Beyond" by Miss Dorothy Clarkson.

Mrs. Campbell assisted by Mrs. Frank Was, served a dainty refreshment course at small tables which were spread with covers in pastel tints and which was centered with tall candles in the same soft hues and tied with tulle bows of harmonizing tints.

Those present with the hostess were Mesdames Frank Was, N. E. Nells, Blanche Brown, R. A. Cushman, S. B. Marshall, Harry M. Smith, H. A. Reuter, Marshall Harnois, Marah Adams, Maude Goff, and Miss Verna Wells and Miss Dorothy Clarkson and John Campbell jr.

STARS HUMBLE FULLERTON, 15 TO 6

Jo Cruickshank In Great Tennis Triumphs

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

The newest wrinkle in big league tennis circles is an icebox at the side of the court from which the racqueteers obtain tennis balls . . . not drinks . . . They say that heat increases the "rabbit" in a tennis ball. . . The big league freshman from Yorkville, Mr. Neal "Mickey" Finn, was honored by the home folks the other day . . . Mickey now drives around in a brand new sedan, the gift of the boys back home. . . This Senor Alfonso Lopez has not yet learned that big league rookies aren't supposed to make home runs on bunts . . . Against the Giants, the young Brooklyn catcher caught Lindstrom flatfooted with a neatly placed bunt . . . Freddie heaved over Terry's head and Lopez sailed around toward third without slackening speed. . . Not to be outdone by Lindstrom, Terry retrieved the ball and pegged over the Giants' third sacker's head. . . Meantime, Alfonso galloped across the plate.

CHAMPION—ON THE LEVEL

It has been a Gallant year in three-year-old racing circles. Whichone am I refering to? Well, not exactly; I mean Gallant Fox and Gallant Knight. (Joke all over.)

Gallant young men they have been, and no fouling (a typographical error; it should have been fooling.) The Fox has conducted himself like a true champion, as his record of six straight stake race victories would indicate. The Knight, while beaten twice by the Fox and a time or two in other races nevertheless has proved rather convincingly that he is the second best three-year-old. Whichone may dispute that last remark, but with an injured leg he can't very well go out on the track and prove anything.

Although the Woodward and Audley Farm colts are 'way out in front in comparison with other three-year-olds, quite a distance and a couple hundred thousand or more dollars separates the Fox from the Knight. Fact is, the last time I looked at a paper, Mr. Woodward's youngster needed only $38,660 to make him a greater money winner than Harry Sinclair's Zev, who several years ago copped $313,639 worth of stakes for a turf record.

THE BOYS UP TOP

While the Arlington Classic was a repetition of the Kentucky Derby in actual results, it was a greater race to watch and brought out more spectacular riding than did the event at Churchill Downs. Jockeys Sande on the Fox and Schutte astride the Knight staged a duel of wits, but Sande's superior strategy won out, which is just another reason why he's known as the dean of American jockeys.

A strange thing happened at the three-quarter mark when all but the two gallant ones had grown leg-weary. Sande was ready to move the Fox into the lead on the outside of Maya, the tiring pacemaker. Gallant Knight at the same time came up briskly and breathed warmly on the right flank of the Fox.

Handy Sande with the nimble brain quickly observed that Maya was wide of the pole and as quickly sent the Fox over on the inside as Gallant Knight moved up on the other side. If Maya had closed in, it would have been too bad for Sande and Gallant Fox; but Maya was tired and the gap wasn't closed.

FUNNY THAT WAY

To the thousands in the grandstand the move might have seemed peculiar and unnecessary; to Sande and Gallant Fox it was the only thing to do.

Gallant Fox has a temperament. He will not run between horses. According to those in the Woodward stable, he will run outside or inside of any horse; but put him between two rivals and he can't do it.

Anyhow, Handy Sande's nimble

RANKING STARS ELIMINATED BY SANTA ANA ACE

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana's Helen Wills Moody, today scaled the tennis heights. Competing in the Essex Country club's women's tournament at Manchester-by-the-Sea, she defeated two of the country's ranking stars, Miss Ethel Burkhart of San Francisco and Mrs. L. A. Harper of Los Angeles.

Miss Cruickshank's triumphs were both tremendous upsets.

She eliminated Miss Burkhardt this morning in straight sets, 8-6, 7-5. Miss Burkhardt was eighth seeded player in the tournament.

This afternoon Miss Cruickshank provided an even greater sensation by beating Mrs. Harper, 8-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Miss Cruickshank, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, is playing through all the major Eastern tournaments and will be a competitor in the national women's singles at Forest Hills next month.

MANCHESTER BY THE SEA, Mass., July 23.—Sarah Palfrey, youthful Sharon star, and Wightman cup player, seeded second, was eliminated by Marjorie Gladman of Santa Monica, Calif., seeded sixth, in the quarter-final round of the annual Essex Country club women's invitation singles tennis tournament today, 6-0, 3-6, 6-2.

Mianne Palfrey, an unseeded player, defeated Mary Greef of Kansas City, Mo., seeded fourth, in a third round match, 6-4, 8-6.

Jo Cruickshank

The third upset of the day was the elmination of Mrs. L. A. Harper of Oakland, Calif., seeded third, by Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Calif., 8-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Virginia Hilleary of Philadelphia, the unseeded player who yesterday eliminated Edith Cross, top seeded star, proved easy for Dorothy Weisel of Sacramento, Calif., who won, 6-1, 6-3.

Other quarter-final round results:

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Calif., beat Ethel Burkhardt, San Francisco, eighth seeded player, in straight sets, 8-6, 7-5.

Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, beat Mianne Palfrey, Sharon, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Don George Meets Mat 'Trial Horse'

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Don George will meet Joe Malcewicz, famous "trial horse" in a feature wrestling bout here tonight. George recently came to the coast with a long string of victories to his credit, and added another in his first appearance here by pinning Nick Lutze.

Malcewicz, who holds victories over Earl Caddock and other masters, also has just returned from a successful eastern invasion.

FROM DIAMOND TO FAIRWAY

Big Jess Petty, former big league southpaw pitcher now in the International league, plans to become a golf professional when his baseball days are ended.

'Black Jack' Thompson In Motor Crash

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—A reckless driving charge was faced today by Young Jack Thompson, colored welterweight champion of the world, as the result of an automobile accident last night in which a woman was seriously injured.

The champion was given a police summons after his car collided with one driven by Mrs. Margaret Steiner, Los Angeles. Mrs. Steiner suffered a broken nose and injuries to her back.

Police said Thompson's machine skidded 100 feet before striking the other car.

DON MOE WINS FIRST PLAY IN TITLE DEFENSE

BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, July 23.—Don Moe of Portland, Ore., playing his first round in defense of his Western amateur golf championship, came through with a comparatively easy victory this morning when he defeated Vincent Huntington of Chicago, 4 and 2.

The Pacific Coast golfer made the 16 holes in three strokes over par. Huntington's score was six above perfect figures.

Dick Martin, Big Ten champion of the University of Illinois, who was paired with "Chick" Evans this morning, suffered an attack of appendicitis and is in a Chicago hospital. Evans got a bye.

Phillip Perkins, New York, former British champion, had an easy time disposing of young Freddie Lyon, Pontiac, Ill., 6 and 5.

Lloyd Nordstrom, of Davenport, Ia., who shot sensational golf in Monday's opening qualifying round, was eliminated today by Johnny Lehman of Chicago, 4 and 3. Lehman covered the distance in two over par.

In two 19-hole matches, Johnny Howard of Kalamazoo, Mich., defeated Don Armstrong, Aurora, Ill., one up on the 19th green and Ruddy Knepper, Chicago, duplicated the feat, eliminating Gus Fetz, also of Chicago.

Gus Novotny, of Chicago, put Vincent Dolp of Portland, out of the running, 2 and 1.

George Dawson, Chicago, beat Nelson Ruddy, Cincinnati, one up on 18 holes.

Richard Mallin, Western junior champion was eliminated by Erle Berryhill, Colorado Springs, Colo., 5 and 4.

SANTA ANA 'BEES' CONQUER PRINTERS

Hitting Humphries hard and making the most of numerous fielding blunders behind him the Santa Ana Bees, city representatives in the Orange County "B" league, easily defeated the Dennis Printers, one of the fastest City league clubs, by a score of 13 to 3 in the Bowl last night.

Ed Banta, Bee pitcher, yielded only three hits and was given good support.

Santa Ana meets Newport Harbor in a "B" game here Friday.

Wolgast Arrives For Dado Ring Go

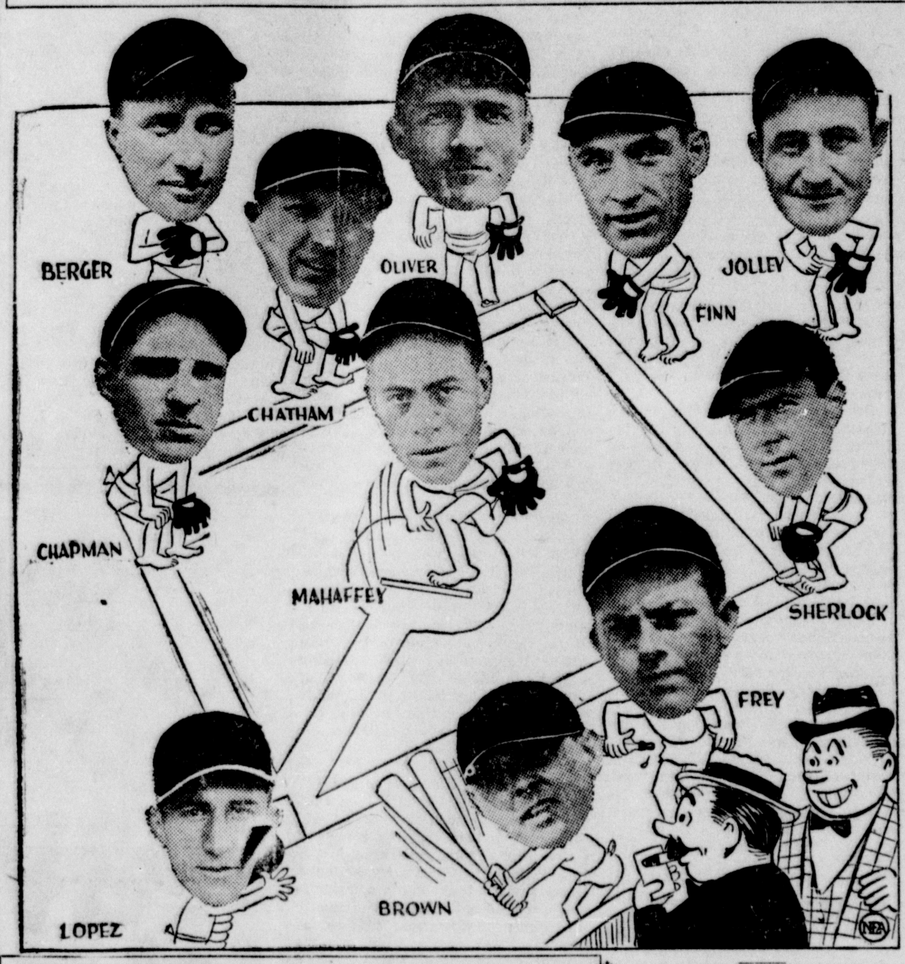

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Midget Wolgast, flyweight champion, arrived here today from New York to begin training for a 10-round fight with Speedy Dado, Pacific Coast Filipino, next Tuesday night.

Wolgast left for the west after defeating Ernie Peters at the Yankee stadium in New York last Thursday night as a preliminary to the Sammy Mandell-Al Singer fight.

Experts are predicting that Jimmy Foxx, Connie Mack's youthful slugger, eventually will surpass Babe Ruth's record of major league home run drives.

CHAVEZ-REESE CONTEST HERE TOMORROW PAIRS KNOCKOUT PUNCHER WITH CLEVER BOXER

Although Zenaydo Chavez has a knockout record that entitles him to lots of respect, "Fighting Joe" Reese, his Santa Ana rival, has been made a slight favorite to win tomorrow night's main event at the Orange County Athletic club. Chavez is a tremendous puncher, a fellow able and likely to end a match with one blow anytime, and yet he has been outpointed on many occasions by a smart, fast opponent—a clever sharpshooter like Reese.

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

Good boxers of the Reese stamp have been able to hit-and-run, and pile enough points to catch the referee's eye as Reese's record during a year or so of Delhi competition discloses. Billy Darnley's good-looking Mexican protege has gone to the post 14 times under H. T. Foust's promotion, and has been rewarded with victories over Drewry Willis, Casey Risko, "Chuck" Smith, Jess Mongaray, Sid Gregory, George Warncok, Robert Ratliff, Billy Drake and Joe Lopez, and draws against Marty Mack and Pete Toft. He lost to Casey Risko, Joe Contreras and Tony Bevo.

Against slighter superior opposition, Chavez has not done quite as well as Reese. He was knocked out by Benny Miller and Charley Cobb and lost decision to Jackie Stewart and Henry Rollins. He knocked out Joe Kelly, Casey Risko, Billy Dempsey and Rudy Mendez and outpointed Drewry Willis twice. Chavez took a long layoff during the winter because of eye trouble.

There is no question but that

by DENNY SHUTE

(Denny Shute, famous golfer, today begins a series of articles on golf for readers of The Register. They will pertain to everything of interest to the man and woman who golfs. Watch for them in this newspaper.)

Given the opportunity to put a few thoughts on paper for the first time, there is one thing that strikes me as the most important of all to say to golfers generally. That is about their tendency to slug.

Perhaps my choice of an opening subject comes because it has affected my game so vitally and so recently, but nevertheless I shall feel that if I can only make it emphatic enough, I shall have accomplished my mission at the outset.

The last three years of my career, I thin, will illustrate the point.

Back in 1927, when I was 24 years old, I was just a pretty good golfer. I had won the West Virginia state amateur twice and been runnerup once. That year, when I moved to Columbus, I won the Ohio amateur.

Wasn't Satisfied With Game

That was all very fine, of course. People said a lot of nice things about me and my future. But I wasn't satisfied. I wasn't getting very far in the national tournaments.

At Oakmont, in the national open, I had 325. Not a round under 80. I lost to Max Marston at Minnikahda in the first round of the national amateur. The year before Eustace Storey had put me out a Baltusrol, also in the first round.

I always qualified, but I didn't last. I was pretty good, but not nearly so good as I wanted to be

Friday's Schedule

La Habra today was the only ball club in the National Night league within shootin' distance of Santa Ana's shooting Stars. The rest of the pack was three full games back and anxiously studying the schedule which calls for only seven more games this summer.

Anaheim, bitter rival of the Santa Anans and one of the teams to beat for the bunting, fell off the band wagon last night at Olive where it was unceremoniously routed by the dangerous Packers, 15 to 5.

Olive's triumph was not such an unexpected feat because the Greens are one of the very best teams in the league despite their somewhat humble station in the standings but the manner in which they bombarded Anaheim's ace pitchers was surprising.

The Packers knocked Al Bushman out of the box in the second inning when they scored 10 runs on six hits, including a couple of two-baggers, two errors and a walk. Joe Ochoa took up the burden after Bushman's demise and got by until the sixth when Freddy Guenther hacked a home run with bases full. Ochoa soon was thrown out of the game for complaining too strenuously with the umpires. Hunter, an infielder, finished on the mound and receipted for the last Olive run, a homer by John Turry.

The score:

Anaheim ... 310 010 000—	5	9	3
Olive . . ..100 004 10x—15	15	3

SABELLA SHADES MORNING IN MOUND DUEL

Chico Sabella shaded Howard Morning in a battle between two great night baseball pitchers at Huntington Beach and La Habra won, 2 to 0. Sabella struck out 14. Morning got 10. Chico allowed only one hit, a single by Conditt.

La Habra made both of its runs in the eighth when Wilkinson singled, Young sacrificed and Pancho singled, scoring Wilkinson. Pancho took second on the throw-in, third on an infield out and scored on an overthrow for him at third. The score:

Huntington Beach 0	1	2

M'DONNELL HOLDS ACORNS TO TWO SINGLES

"String" McDonnell was "right" and easily took the measure of Long Beach, 7-1, at Long Beach. The tall speed-ball expert gave only two hits, both singles by Al Davis. The score:

Whittier 000 120 202	7	12	5

Batteries: Whittier—McDonnell and Rasmussen; Downer, Dalton and Maness.

Orange couldn't even muster nine men and forfeited to Garden Grove, 9 to 0. A few Orange players showed up and, borrowing several Pepper extras, proceeded to defeat the Grovers in an exhibition 4 to 2. Kenny Walker pitched nice ball, but it didn't mean anything.

Two National league teams have benefited vastly by new faces in the lineup this year, the Braves and the Robins. Berger and Chatham have brought new life to the Braves. Both are from the Pacific Coast league, and Berger is running Hack Wilson a neck-and-neck battle for the home run honors of the league. This is the Braves' first year out of the cellar in quite a few, and there isn't a doubt in the world these young men have had a great deal to do with it.

The Robins, too, have profited with rookies, especially with Al Lopez, the young catcher from Florida. Uncle Robbie brought the young

RACE LEADERS POUND WILHITE FOR EASY WIN

A baseball thoroughbred's greatness is measured in several ways—by rearing, of course, and records established, but mostly by the number of ball games won. So today the boys were three-in-one that Santa Ana's Stars belong up there where they are—on top of the National Night league.

Some thought the Herb Salveson entry was in for a lot of grief when it went to Fullerton last night. Instead the Nite Hawks proved just a breeze for the league-leaders who sweetened their batting averages almost to the man while lambasting young "Bud" Wilhite, a southpaw, for the easiest sort of a 15 to 6 triumph.

It was such an easy victory in fact that it was little more than a glorified workout for the Stars who craved a fairly tough tussle in preparation for their set-to at Anaheim Friday.

Price Settles Down

After staggering through an unsteady first inning, Ray Price settled down and pitched a very good assortment of baseball for the league-leaders. Fullerton got a run in the first and another one in the third but thereafter Price was as tight as a drum until the eighth when, with a 10-run lead to work on, he gave the Nite Hawks a gift of a few runs.

Price's ability to go the route pleased Salveson immensely for the big Red leader wanted to save Ace Joe Cornelius for the Anaheim scrimmage. Cornelius was warming up in the bullpen in the first inning but thereafter enjoyed the sensation of watching a game from the bench. It was his first "vacation" since June 13.

The Stars fairly feasted on Wilhite's stuff. Leavitt Daley hit three clean singles in succession, then a sizzling home run. Randolph Bell beat out a bunt, hit a single, then added variety to his attack with a blustering home run to left center. "Rosy" Merrill clicked a single, a double and a triple. Hill, Youel and Wilcox pounded out a pair of blows and even Price hit safely and topped it off by stealing second.

Stars Go To Work

Santa Ana began its assault in the third and Price set off the fireworks himself. He singled off C. Dauser's glove, stole second and scored on Daley's single. The latter moved up on the throw-in and scored on Merrill's single.

Bell beat out a bunt in the fourth after two were out. He advanced on Scott's walk and scored on Wilcox's double.

But the Stars were only fooling. They didn't get really serious until the fifth when they scored five times before Wilhite retired a man. Hill, leading off, was safe and went to second when Wilhite threw his bunt into right field. Daley singled Hill across and reached second on the throw home. Merrill's double tallied Daley and a passed ball put Merrill on third. Nelson walked and stole second. Youel beat out a bunt and Merrill scored, Nelson going to third and Youel to second when Wilhite made a belated throw to the plate. Nelson and Youel both scored on Bell's single. Scott and Wilcox were easy outs but Price walked man up out of the Southern league where he caught for Atlanta last year, and the way Al has been running the ball games over in Flatbush reminds you at once of Mickey Cochrane. Mickey Finn, bought from the Coast with Gordon Slade, has proved a sensation in a Brooklyn uniform, though competition for the job has been hot with Jake Flowers to battle for the place.

If the Braves are looking up, so are the lowly Red Sox, and Quinn's team has been aided not only by pitchers, but by Thomas N. Oliver. Oliver came from the Athletics via the waiver route, after being picked up by Mack's scouts in Little Rock. Tom is 26 years old and has been knocking around the minors for some years, having parked his hat and coat in some of the very best hotels in Monroe, La.; Shreveport, Vernon, Decatur, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Beaumont, Nashville and Little Rock.

Chapman has been hitting a hot pace at third for the Yanks after making a slow start. He came from the American Association with Dusty Cooke. Jolley of the White Sox, though a veteran minor leaguer, is only 26 years old. He started his baseball life as a pitcher in Missouri, later going to Texas and the Coast. In four years playing for San Francisco he made 150 home runs, and his batting marks were .346, .397, 404 and .385.

Sherlock is another of the fence-busters gathered together by Burt Shotton. The Phils drafted him from the Coast League where he batted .338 for the Missions last year. He can play anywhere in the infield and is a well-schooled young man of 25.

The five pitchers named have shown wonderful promise in their first years. Mahaffey's average is the best, and of course it must be considered he is hurling for a championship club. Benny Frey has maintained a .500 average with a tail-end team. Heving has not had as many chances as Frey or Mahaffey, but he shows a nice lot of stuff and good control. Caraway should be one of the league's star sou'paws next year, though he has been used mostly in relief roles this season. Young Clint Brown established a nice record with New Orleans last year.

Of the 13 players and pitchers, seven are National leaguers and six American.

Chavez will knock out anybody he can hit squarely on the chin, but Reese is a fine boxer and may be able to stay away from the knockout artist the entire distance although 10 rounds represents 30 minutes of battling and gives Zenaydo a lot of time to stalk his prey.

The Reese-Chavez affair, one of the most attractive offered by Promoter Foust this year, is to be supported by a very fair array of preliminary talent. Frankie Boldt, a Long Beach veteran who never would have accepted less than a main event here a few years ago, goes against rugged Urban Hernandez, Placentia lightweight, in the six-round semi. Boldt is favored to outscore the comparatively inexperienced Hernandez but there promises to be plenty of action for Hernandez is always willing to try.

Mickey Thomas and "Spike" Harvey, welters, collide in the special event, another six-rounder. Harvey is unknown here but in workouts with Chavez at Long Beach this week has looked like a real fighter. He is a collegian from the east.

Cliff Burrier vs. Packy McMullen, four rounds, and Carl Seibel vs. Ralph Garcia, four rounds, open the program.

SOUTHERN STAR WILL COACH

Ray Farris, All-Southern guard and North Carolina captain of the 1929 eleven, has signed to coach the freshmen at his alma mater. Farris was known as a five-threat guard because, in addition to his play in the line, he also did the work of a back.

and Hill singled infield, tallying Bell.

Daley, Bell Hit Homers

Daley opened the sixth with his home run. Youel beat out a bunt after Merrill and Nelson went out and scored when Bell blasted the second homer of the inning.

Fullerton errors paved the way for the Stars' last three runs in the ninth. Wilcox drew a pass and Price, sacrificing, was safe when Carpenter muffed Wilhite's throw to first. Wilcox stole third and scored on Hill's infield single. Price took third on the play and went home when Lemon made a wild throw trying to nip Hill stealing second. Hill stopped at third and counted when Wilhite dropped Nelson's pop fly.

Fullerton got a run in the first when Sorsabel and Lemon walked, C. Dauser hit a sacrifice fly and Vaughan singled. Scorabel's walk, a passed ball and C. Dauser's single accounted for another in the third. The Hawks then went scoreless until the eighth when Wilhite singled infield and Lemon singled to left, and both raced home back of "Teak" Vaughan's double. The ninth inning counters were manufactured on hits by McGaughy and Jenkins, an infield out, an error and a wild pitch.

PIPING 'EM OFF

Orange forfeited to Garden Grove last night—and still insists on playing off the game it forfeited to the Stars on the Fourth of July.

Ray Price walked the first two batsmen to face him at Fullerton without throwing a single strike but got his bearings after the first inning and issued only one other pass. Price has uncanny control of his slow ball and it was noticed that all but one of the eight Fullerton hits were made off his fast one.

Young "Mutt" Dauser, the Fullerton junior college football star who plays the second sack for the Hawks, came up with the evening's fielding sensation in the sixth when he made a diving, one-handed catch of "Rosy" Merrill's low line drive. It cost Merrill a fourth hit for the uneven game.

Fullerton had only nine men on the field as the game started and that included Manager "Bus" Callan who was stationed at second base. Succor arrived soon, however, and Callan was saved the necessity of making his cob-webby baseball limbs carry him through another game.

Curt Youel had 16 putouts at first base, some of them tough chances, but came up with everything.

Joe Cornelius is a cinch to go against Anaheim Friday. He will have a full week's rest before facing the Valencias, quite a novel experience for the rugged right hander. Cornelius blanked Anaheim with four hits the last time he met George Pace's crowd.

Wayne Nelson went hitless but cut off a home run from C. Dauser's willow with a pretty stab of a hard-hit ground ball in the third.

and not nearly so good as I felt I could become.

So that winter, helping my father run an indoor golf school, I decided to change my game. All I did was move my right hand over on top of the shaft of the club a bit. And it worked wonders.

It Works for Denny

When you're wild off the tee, or with your irons, either, for that matter, chances are you are trying to hit the ball too hard. Move your right hand over on top of the shaft far enough to see the knuckle of your little finger. It worked for me and thousands of duffers I have seen would be greatly improved if they'd try the same thing.

In my next article I shall tell how I arrived at that decision because I believe it will give an insight into one way to straighten out your game.

HOW THEY DO IT

Would you know that those Californians already are talking about winning the I. C. 4-A track and field championships in 1931? And so soon after Southern California and Stanford placed one-two in the games at Cambridge little more than a month ago.

No wonder the east has been able to grab only one title in the last 10 years. Those westerners—Stanford, Southern California and the University of California—talk track and field athletics the whole year around.

Stanford is already lining up its weigh tmen, hurdlers and sprinters for next spring. When school opens in September, Coach "Dink" Templeton will issue a call for candidates. Quite a number of those who will answer his summons will be men who took the long ride east to Cambridge in May. The remainder will be freshmen and men who were on the yearling squad in the 1930 season.

With the championship meet 10 months away, Templeton already is predicting great things for his Cardinals. They say prospects are brightest in the history of the Palo Alto school, in spite of the graduation of htose two Big Berthas, Harlow Rothert and Eric Krenz.

FOOTBALL SEASON NEARS

While I'm on the subject of intercollegiate athletics, let me remind you that the days are getting shorter and the time is drawing nearer for the big football games that will be staged before millions of fans this fall.

At those institutions where football is a big industry—Illinois, Michigan, Notre Dame, Stanford, Southern California, Pitt, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Yale and some others—the boys who handle grid affairs have been putting in long and tedious hours getting everything ready for the rush that starts early in September. To its managers, football knows no off-season.

Notre Dame will open her new stadium this fall. Purdue has added several thousand seats to Rose Ada bowl. Other schools have replaced old turf with new green carpets of grass, closed up ends of stadia that previously were open, carried on extensive painting and decorative operations, and last but not least, fixed up press coops for the poor guys who shiver at their typewriters so that you may read about the game in the papers.

SIXTEEN MILLION DOLLARS in interest paid to our SAVINGS Depositors

THINK of the comfort, happiness and security this money has brought to thousands of people. ¶ That Bank of Italy has helped to make Californians thrift-conscious is evidenced by the sixteen millions of dollars in interest paid to savings depositors during the year ending June 30, 1930. This monumental sum represents the definite reward of economy, prudence, self denial, foresight. ¶ For many years the Bank of Italy has expended large sums of money in advertising to encourage saving. That this effort has met with a heavy response is revealed by the fact that the savings deposits of the institution now total over half a billion dollars.

Bids On Julia Lathrop Junior High School Opened

$65,384 TOTAL INDICATED IN BOARD FIGURES

Bids on additions and remodeling at the Julia Lathrop junior high school, which were opened last night by the Santa Ana board of education, reveal that the work may be done for approximately $15,500 less than the architect's estimate of cost. The low bids submitted by contractors totaled $65,384. The architect's fee brings the total cost on this basis, to $69,307 and the estimate of cost including fees, was $84,800.

Bids were submitted by 13 general contractors, and ranged in price from the low bid on the general contract, $49,977, submitted by International General Contractors, to a high of $65,672, submitted by W. H. Bowman. On the electrical work five bids were submitted, the low bidder being the Coast Electric company. Three plumbing and seven heating bids were received, on both of which Hickman brothers, were low, with respective bids of $3798 and $6649.

Under Advisement

All bids were taken under advisement by the board, as further investigation concerning low bidders was desired before the contracts were awarded. The work to be done at the Lathrop plant under specifications on which bids were submitted includes a new cafeteria, eight-room class room unit, new boiler, new transformer and electric panel, remodeling cafeteria into a music room and making changes in the library and domestic science rooms in the main building.

Bids as received last night were as follows: General contract—International General Contractors, $49,977; Wilson-Bever, $53,122; Andy Sordal, $59,830; A. G. Schmidt, $55,450; W. M. Schlueter, $55,540; John Simpson company, $64,500; William Rohrbacher, $56,365; Thermon Means, $55,100; O. T. Moore, $60,400; R. C. McMillan, $58,000; J. F. Kobler, $55,581; C. Haverlandt, $53,985, and W. H. Bowman, $65,672.

Electrical contract—Coast Electric company, $4960; Cope Electric company, $5219; Robertson, $5685; Gilbert - Weston - Stearns, $5278; Cave Electric company, $5690.

Plumbing contract—H. O. Ehlen, $3985; Hickman brothers, $3798; Charles F. Carlson, $4133.

Heating contract—H. O. Ehlen, $7029; Cooney and Winterbottom, $6876; Hickman brothers, $6649; Emerson and Keeler, $7027; R. M. Wilson, $7868; J. B. Welsh, $6938; Foss Heating company, $7637.

To Advertise Site

The advisibility of awarding the entire contract until costs of the Willard plant were ascertained and it was determined whether there would be additional funds available from the sale of the old Willard site on North Main street, was questioned by several members of the board, and decision was reached to advertise the old site for sale at once, and to take an option on the class room building at Lathrop, pending the outcome. It was asserted that if the entire Lathrop contract was let and the old Willard site was not sold, that there would not be funds available for the construction of the Willard plant and that this was needed worse than the class room unit at Lathrop if it was found that one of the two would have to be temporarily postponed. It was pointed out that the gymnasium and showers had been eliminated at Willard and everything had been cut there as much as possible to get within the available funds.

$58,802.50 Shortage

A statement, prepared by George Newcom, the new city school business manager, who sat with the board last night for the first time, showed that there would be a shortage of $58,802.50 under the estimates, not taking into consideration the sale of the Willard site. There remains in the bond fund $506,373.50, according to the statement. The estimated expenditures were listed as follows: Lathrop, building and land, $118,300; Willard, building and land, $411,875; equipment for Willard and Lathrop, $35,000; total $565,175. The difference in the estimated cost and the amount of the bids, as shown last night, will provide an additional margin to help offset this overdraft of $58,802.50. The class room unit at Lathrop was estimated at approximately $43,000, and its postponement until after the sale of the Willard site would result in assuring necessary funds for the construction of the Willard plant.

Approximately eight months will be required for the completion of the Willard plant, J. E. Allison advised the board last night. This means that the crowded conditions at the present quarters being occupied by Willard will have to be endured again for another year.

Newcom was authorized to secure the permission of the city council for the sale of the old Willard site and to advertise for bids. The sale is to be subject to the abandonment of the north building which will have to be used by the school until the new plant is completed. The board decided not to restrict the bids on the property to local bidders.

$718,649 FOR ORANGE COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM

Orange county will receive $718,649 from the state as its annual apportionment for support of elementary and high schools and junior colleges, according to a statement by Vierling Kersey, superintendent of public instruction, in Sacramento today.

The state will allot $27,390,836 for school support throughout the 58 counties of California, an increase of $809,249 over the allotment for last year, Kersey said.

"This sum of twenty-seven million dollars seems insignificant compared to approximately $160,000,000 which the state school system costs," Kersey declared.

"The remainder, about $130,000,000, must be made up solely from taxes on property, a burden which the state department of education is striving to lighten.

"We have already proposed several plans for allowing the state to take over a greater share of the financial load of school support. It will require a revision, or an extension, of our state tax system, but it will achieve the imperative need for a sharp reduction in county property taxes."

The $27,000,000 will be allotted among the counties on the basis of average daily attendance, Kersey explained. He has held that this is an unfair method of distribution, as counties which are least in need of financial assistance are the ones which receive the most.

"Poorer counties have fewer children and consequently receive less state money," the superintendent asserted.

"This is obviously an unfair system, for invariably the poorer counties lose population and in school children. They are being penalized by the state because of the fact that they are poor.

"The state department is now evolving a plan that embodies a state equalization fund, which will be used to aid counties that cannot adequately support their own systems.

"Apportionment on a per capita basis is an obsolete method and one that we should discard at the earliest opportunity. The state owes it to its citizens to provide them with an education, because state law calls for compulsory education. The least the state can do then, is to help the counties carry out this law."

ROAD RECEIPTS FOR COUNTY AT $1,587,195.70

The annual report of the county highway department, prepared by Nat H. Neff, county superintendent of highways, and P. N. Hood, road department accountant, which was submitted to the county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon by Neff, shows total receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, of $1,587,195.70 and total expenditures of $1,487,627.88. Of that latter amount the statement figures show that $549,091.05 was expended during the year in various new construction projects, while the sum of $254,782.08 was used for maintenance work.

$42,960 For Cars

One of the interesting features of the report was in the division under garage and auto expense, where it was shown that during the last year the county spent $42,960.42 for new cars, maintenance, garage expense and other items incident to operating its fleet of cars. During the year nine cars were purchased at a total cost of $14,358.51. These were for use of the following county departments: District attorney, farm advisor, flood control, horticulture, hospital, road, sheriff and surveyor. An expenditure of $18,177.90 was listed under maintenance in this division of the road department report. The garage and automobile expense was listed in the road department report because the accounting is handled through the road department office.

The report reveals that all supervisorial districts except the first, which is Santa Ana, have two road funds—the regular district road fund and an auto license fund, the latter being derived from the state refund to the county for auto license and gas tax moneys collected.

District Items

The items of the various funds are as follows:

Second district—road fund, receipts, $124,401.72; new construction, $20,571.25; maintenance, $55,584.38; total expenditures, (including other items) $90,278.77; autolicensefund, receipts, $90,083.33; new construction, $72,399.09; assistance to improvement districts, $14,083.33; total expenditures, $78,742.20.

Third district—road fund, receipts, $167,429.63; new construction, $34,375.19; maintenance, $64,552.09; total expenditures, $111,816.11; auto license fund, receipts, $102,281.45; new construction, $37,899.56; assistanceto improvement districts, $47,270; total expenditures, $84,911.92.

Fourth district—road fund, receipts, $37,357.74; new construction, $3240.78; maintenance, $28,274.54; total expenditures, $38,573.52; auto license fund, receipts, $88,116.67; new construction, $48,669.39; maintenance, $2434.02; assistance to improvement districts, $18,116.67; total expenditures, $73,039.87.

Fifth district—road fund, receipts, $84,408.84; new construction, $11,475.96; maintenance, $57,608.11; total expenditures, $68,122.93; auto license fund, receipts, $95,447.86; new construction, $76,562.43; maintenance, $1428.49; total expenditures, $74,051.46.

In every instance in the above figure, certain other items were included in making up the total expenditures other than the amounts listed.

Balance of $182,287

From the fund known as the unapportioned auto license fund there was left a balance of $182,287.39 at the close of the year, although expenditures were greater than receipts. This was due to the fact that there was a larger balance on hand at the beginning of the year than there remained at the close. The receipts in this division were $353,819.41. This was the amount received from the state as the county share of the funds realized. Apportionments to the various district funds totaled $365,720. An item of $4000 was also shown under expenditures as being appropriated to Orange for kork on Chapman avenue. Notations were also made in connection with this fund that there were obligations for appropriations to Huntington Beach of $12,781.01 and to San Clemente of $21,587.

The bridge fund was the only one listed that failed to show any receipts during the year. Total expenses for construction and maintenance under this division were $14,259.48, made out of a balance on hand at the first of the year of $18,445.82.

The county good road fund listed receipts of $334,610.60, new construction, $234,236.74; maintenance, $46,387.01, total expenditures, $395,471.07.

The general road fund carried $109,238.45 as receipts, with one expense item of $73,912.13 for equipment and a total expenditure of $92,650.55.

From the county general fund total expenditures of $135,259.28 were shown, including $44,437.58 for new construction and $75,000 for assistance to improvement districts.

Figures shown in the annual report of the county road department give conclusive proof as to the fact that paved roads, once they are established, are much cheaper to maintain than roads of any other type.

The expenses of maintaining the paved roads of the county during tht year amounted to $45,896.33, while $89,005.80 was spent on dirt roads. According to these figures, $21,510.68 more was spent in maintaining non-paved highways.

Machinery Is Hauled For Ortega Road

A crew of 12 Capistrano men has started work on the new Ortega highway. Machinery and camp equipment is being hauled to the terminus of the present road, two miles above the Capistrano hot springs, where the new contract is to start at the end of the roadway completed last year.

A number of men are clearing brush and doing preliminary work, making ready for steam shovels and graders. The $10,000 bridge near the hot springs, which will be an important feature of the new inland route, is to be one of the first units which will be worked on.

Orders have been issued by the forest reserve department to Forest Ranger Lippsett, to make surveys for camp and cabin sites, and for tourist camps, which will be constructed along the new highway.

MODERN NOAH'S ARK

NEW YORK, July 22. — The steamer Albert Ballin recently pulled into port here resembling a modern Noah's Ark. It carried a large assortment of birds, fish and animals for Louis Ruhe, importer. There were 50 swans, two German storks, six cranes, a panther, three zebras, two antelopes, 200 monkeys, and twenty large jars full of brilliant tropical fish.

STATE GUARDS RECEIVE $1000 FOR EQUIPMENT

Action taken by the county board of supervisors at the afternoon session yesterday included two appropriations. An additional $500 was ordered paid to the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce on account of the Tournament of lights. The other appropriation was made to the National Guard. This one was for $1000 and was for the purpose of aiding two new companies of that organization in the county in the purchase of equipment such as desks, lockers, etc. The money was appropriated on the understanding that there would be no regular requests in the future for aid of this sort.

The board heard a discussion of a new kind of bond, known as return of securities bond, which it was proposed to be substituted for certain burglary and theft policies that are now in force on county funds. An insurance specialist informed the board that the costs of carrying insurance could be lowered by adopting the new plan. Rates on burglary and theft insurance have more than doubled in the past three years, he pointed out. The matter was presented to the board through the insurance firm of Swales and Farwell.

An appeal for an increase in the appropriation for advertising with the All Year club, which handles national advertising for Southern California, was presented to the board yesterday by Charles A. Horrworth, of Los Angeles, field secretary of the club. The county is now spending $2000 per year and Harrworth urged the board members to increase this amount at least to $3000. He outlined a plan whereby the club is matching the amount of county money in a special advertising program directing attention directly to the county, rather than a general Southern California program, and advised that Santa Barbara county had increased its appropriation this year from $5000 to $10,000.

During the afternoon, Dr. Harry Zaiser, superintendent of the county hospital, appeared before the board, and pointed out that the institution is being operated at a cost of $2.21 per patient per day. Costs in the Los Angeles county hospital are $5.08, Dr. Zaiser stated. Zaiser also informed board members that his staff was functioning efficiently and that good work was being accomplished.

C. C. Bonebrake, city engineer of Orange, appeared before the board yesterday and presented a request from the city of Orange for permission to connect a city sewer to the hospital connection to the general outfall sewer The matter was referred to the hospital committee which is headed by Supervisor John Mitchell

The report of the park appraisal committee which was presented to J. M. Backs, clerk of the board at the close of a conference with a representative from the state park board, was not opened by the board yesterday. Supervisor John Mitchell, who has been active in the matter of the state park project, which it is proposed to establish on the beach extending from Newport Beach to Huntington Beach, advised that there was a slight difference in the amount of the valuations set upon the tract by the two bodies, which it was expected would be settled in the near future.

The next step in the course of procedure in the matter of securing the park, which it is proposed will be purchased jointly by state and county, then dedicated to the state and maintained and operated from the state park fund, is to be taken by the state, Mitchell advised.

CLUB SINGERS TO ASSIST IN PARK CONCERT

When a vocal ensemble of members from the local Treble Clef club appears in connection with the program which is being planned for presentation in Birch park tomorrow night, by the Santa Ana Municipal band, the group will be heard in numbers by German composers, including that favorite classic, "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," by Franz Josef Haydn.

According to D. C. Cianfoni, director of both of these musical organizations, all of the numbers that have been chosen for presentation tomorrow night are works by foremost German composers, including works from Wagner, Strauss, Brahms, Lincke, Waldteufel and Mendelssohn, representative of various periods of German musical history.

One of the inteersting numbers that will be offered will be the "Military Overture" by Felix Mendelsshon. Mendelssohn is noted as one of the foremost of German classic composers, the chief charm of his music lying in its calm symmetrical beauty. He lacked the creative genius of Bach, Mozart, or Beethoven, but he restored classic forms, being responsible for the Bach revival of 1829.

As a child, Mendelssohn was musically precocious. He had the advantage of excellent musical training, and appeared publicly as a pianist when only 10 years old. At 15, he publicly played a concerto of his own, composing his C Minor symphony the following year. In 1826, when only 18, Mendelssohn composed his famous overture to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which alone would have made him immortal.

By 1838 Mendelssohn's famous oratorio "Elijah" was well under way. He was appointed choral director to the king at Berlin two years later, and in 1843 opened his famous conservatory at Leipzig, which he directed.

During his active career Mendelssohn made many trips to London, where he was especially popular. His "Elijah" was performed there very successfully in 1846. Suddenly, he died November 4, 1847, all Europe mourning his death.

New Edition Of 'Caminos Viejos' Seen

A second edition of "Caminos Viejos," the recent publication of Postmaster Terry E. Stephenson, which was printed at the high print shop under the supervision of T. E. Williams, director of printing, seems assured, it was learned today. Requests for the volume, which is regarded as one of the most beautiful pieces of crafsmanship, telling some very interesting things about the history of this part of California, on the market, are continuing to pour in on the publishers. The entire balance of the first edition was ordered yesterday by the J. W. Robinson company, of Los Angeles.

The volume has met with an exceptionally warm reception due to its interesting story and the artistic and unusual manner in which it was printed. The purpose of the book, to preserve records of county history, publish a work that would reflect credit on the high school department of printing and provide funds for the student loan fund, has been accomplished unusually well, according to D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school. Approximately $400 was added to the loan fund through the sale of the book, Hammond revealed.

SCHOOL APPLICANT ADDRESSES BOARD

J. O. McLaughlin, an applicant for the position as assistant superintendent of schools, appeared before the school board last night at the meeting in the administration offices of the city schools. McLaughlin for the past 19 years has been in administrative work in Oregon schools and during the last two years has been a student at Stanford university, doing work on a degree of doctor of education, which he declared was more practical than the ordinary Ph. D. degree.

The applicant told board members that he had specialized in administration courses at Columbia, Oregon state and Stanford, and that he was closely acquainted with the changes that were now being undergone in the field of education. He paid a high tribute to Santa Ana as a progressive city and a wonderful place to live.

Board members assurred McLaughlin that they would give his application every consideration. There are several other applications that have aroused the interest of board members, who are hoping to secure an exceptionally able man to continue the work that Superintendent J. A. Cranston plans to relinquish next year.

SELECTION OF ELECTION FORCE IS UNDER WAY

Members of the county board of supervisors started a large task yesterday when they began the work of selecting and appointing election officials for the approaching primary elections, to be held next month. Judges, clerks and inspectors have to be appointed for each of the 189 precincts in the county.

While there was a large number of applications for these positions on file that has previously been left with County Clerk J. M. Backs, the number of applicants in several districts was not sufficient to complete the roll of election officials. There are six persons to be appointed for duty in practically all of the 189 precincts, according to Backs, making a total appointment list of approximately 1135 persons who will be required to handle election matters at the polls on August 26.

There are 15 new precincts that have been added since the last county election. These precincts were created by county officials due to increases in registration and the number of voters in the county. An effort is made to limit the number of registered voters to between 250 and 300 in each precinct, according to Backs, and the additional precincts were created last November after it was revealed that such a move was necessary.

Dr. and Mrs. Raugh Are Home from Long Trip

Having returned from a three months' automobile journey through various delightful places in the United States, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Raugh, were today back in their home at 731 South Birch street, and greeting their many friends here. During their pleasure tour they covered almost 9000 miles.

Dr. and Mrs. Raugh left Santa Ana on May 1, and made one of their first stops in Florida, being especially pleased with Miami. From the southern state they continued north, spending several weeks in Pennsylvania, Dr. Raugh's home state where he has several relatives. Features of this interval in their journey were a number of side trips to points of interest. Des Moines, Iowa, and Lincoln, Neb., were among the cities visited in other states.

On their return drive, Dr. and Mrs. Raugh spent some time in Reno, Nev., and continuing on their way through California, stopped in the northern part of the state to visit with relatives. They were especially fortunate in escaping extreme warm weather throughout their journey, and experienced the warmest when they arrived in Santa Ana.

Charming Wedding Rites Are Conducted at Ranch Home

A morning wedding of most attractive features was that of Miss Helen N. Bierbower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bierbower, and Guy Allred of Hollywood, which took place Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in the charming setting afforded by the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Valentine, cousins of the pretty bride.

Combined in a decorative scheme with the exquisite pastel tones of massed hydrangeas, were quantities of gladioluses ranging from pale ivory to deep orange-gold. These were used effectively throughout the home, and in the living room, banked an archway of ferns beneath which the young people stood to take their nuptial vows.

The marriage service, read by the Rev. M. L. Pearson, former pastor of the Orange Presbyterian church, seemed doubly impressive in the Sabbath quiet and peace of the morning. The lovely young bride was a picture in her gown of snowy moire, a sleeveless model fashioned on long straight lines. A filmy tulle veil fell from wreathed orange blossoms gathered from the nearby grove. A shower cluster of bride roses and lilies of the valley, completed her charming appearance.

Miss Jauneta Bierbower served her sister as maid of honor, and wore a graceful gown in bisque silk crepe with which she carried shell-pink blossoms. Virgil Harmon of Anaheim, assisted Mr. Allred as best man. Little Miss Ruth Valentine, adorable in a quaint frock of pale yellow silk, was ring bearer.

The ceremony was preceded by the popular bridal air, "I Love You Truly," sung by Mrs. Orlo Hobbs and Mrs. R. S. Frye, and the Wedding March from Lohengrin played by Mrs. Frye.

At the wedding breakfast which followed, every decorative appointment stressed the rose pink theme, with pink gladioluses arranged in a mound in the center of the long table, while slender pink whip tapers flickered from their rose crystal holders. As a feature of the breakfast, the new Mrs. Allred cut the bride's cake, beautifully decorated and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The Yosemite valley was the honeymoon choice of the happy young people, and they are now enjoying its wonders. Upon their return they will go directly to Hollywood where Mr. Allred, a registered pharmacist, is employed.

Among the relatives and close friends assembled for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bierbower, and their daughter and son, Miss Jauneta and Edsel Bierbower of Tustin, Mr. and Mrs. Engle of Long Beach, Virgil Harmon of Anaheim, the Rev. M. L. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Frye, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Hobbs and Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Valentine, their sons, Vernon and Leslie, and daughter, Ruth, all of Orange.

Miss Evelyn Trickey Recently Wedded In Reno

Interesting announcements sent out today by Mrs. Florence Trickey, 726 South Van Ness avenue, gave family friends their first knowledge of the marriage on June 15, of her daughter, Miss Evelyn Joyce Trickey of this city, and Carl Hiltscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hiltscher of Anaheim.

The mid-June ceremony took place in Reno, Nev., with the Rev. William Moll Case, pastor of the Reno Presbyterian church, officiating. The young bride chose a chic ensemble of pastel blue with eggshell accessories, which accentuated her blonde beauty.

On their return from a northern honeymoon, spent at Lake Tahoe and Yosemite, Mr. and Mrs. Hiltscher will be at home after August first in their attractive ranch home located two miles north of Anaheim. Since her graduation from Santa Ana high school, the former Miss Trickey has been in the employment of the W. P. Fuller Paint company, while her husband is a prosperous young orange grower of the county.

Interesting Guest Has Pronounced Psychic Powers

Coming to this city as the house-guest of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kearns, 1208 Orange avenue, Mme. Margaret Pierce Webber of Seattle, Wash., has consented to the request of those aware of her pronounced psychic powers, to give a series of readings during the latter three days of the week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mme. Webber's powers of divination make her a most interesting visitor in the city, and her reminiscences are remarkable things to hear. During her stay in the Southland, she plans to present her case to the authorities having the Hickman reward in charge, for her predictions regarding that terrible Los Angeles crime, were later proven to be absolutely correct, and led to the apprehension of the slayer.

It is not in the realm of murder and morbid affairs that the possessor of this strange psychic sense, prefers to manifest her powers, for as she carefully explains, she tries conscientiously to see only the pleasing things and the good that the future holds. In the Hickman case, however, she was called upon by the newspaper of Everett, Wash., her home at that time, for her aid insolving the mystery. Those aware of the aid thus given, are agreed that she is rightfully entitled to a share of the reward.

While she is being entertained in the Kearns home, where she and Mrs. Kearns are renewing associations in their first reunion in nearly 30 years, Mme. Webber has completed arrangements for holding readings for those interested, in the more centrally located Santa Ana hotel on North Main street. In her own home city she is noted for her powers of divining the winners, not only in national athletic events and the world series ball games, but also in the coast league games.

Capistrano Y. L. I. Holds Enjoyable Party

So well did Mrs. R. H. Sandon have her plans made for the delightful Y.L.I. dinner and card party given last night in her home at 903 Halladay street, that she was quite care-free in leaving last week by airplane for the state convention in Alameda, knowing that upon her return Monday, she could complete arrangements for the hospitality.

In outlining the affair, which was a covered dish dinner, a menu was planned in advance, and each member of the institute instructed as to the dish she was to bring. In addition to the donated delicacies, those attending were to pay a certain small sum, all of which went to the social funds of the Capistrano institute, for future festivities.

The supper hour was a very enjoyable one, with the 50 or more guests congregated on the grassy lawn to enjoy the menu in picnic fashion. The flwoers growing nearby, contributed their charm to the setting. Mrs. Sandon's beautiful dahlias lent a festive air to the home where the evening's diversions were staged. Moving from the garden to the home fully half of the guests took part in the bridge games planned by the hostess. Of these, Miss Marie Robertson of Anaheim and Harry Edwards each made high scores, and were rewarded with attractive prizes, while consolation gifts were presented Mrs. Mabel Kendall and A. L. Steward.

At tomorrow night's meeting of Capistrano chapter, the convention delegates will submit their reports of the valuable sessions of the past week, and the hospitality accorded by the Alameda chapter.

Star Motif Adds Charm To Linen Shower For Miss Porter

If Miss Lorene Porter, of Los Angeles, popular daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. F. T. Porter, formerly of this city, continues her life's program in a fashion suggested at the unique party given in her honor last evening when Miss Julietta Hagthrop, Miss Pauline Porter, and Mrs. E. C. Hagthrop were cohostesses in the latter's home on North Parton street, she will "hitch her wagon to a star." For the charming star motif was carried out throughout the evening in such a manner as to portray the familiar saying. Invitations were issued in the form of blue and gold planets signifying messages from the heavens. Occasioning the delightful affair was the announcement a short time ago of Miss Porter's approaching marriage on August 9 to Donald Nash of Hanford, Calif.

A variety of mixed bouquets, combining yellow glads and marigolds with blue delphiniums, contributed to the color scheme of the evening, and formed an attractive setting for the hours of games and exciting contests. A miniature bridal party on the dining table added to the decorative effect. Taking first prize in a clothes pin diversion was Mrs. Clyde Morrison, while the honor guest was given a practical little clothes pin bag. The guests then adjourned to the garden, abloom with colorful flowers, and Miss Porter was led to a fern-banked corner where a large gold star was hitched to a wagon full of lovely linens.

At a late hour refreshments were served on individual trays, completing the sparkling motif of the evening.

Those sharing the delightful evening with the hostesses, Miss Julietta Hagthrop, Miss Pauline Porter, a sister to the honoree, and Mrs. E. C. Gagthrop, and Miss Lorene Porter, were Mesdames F. T. Porter, W. S. Buchanan, C. E. Price, A. W. Gerrard, T. P. Kingrey, Alice Sturgeon, T. D. Knights, W. B. Williams, R. T. Harris, M. D. Westminster Home Is Scene of Lovely Nuptials

Occuring Saturday night, July 19, in the neighboring community of Westminster, was a wedding ceremony of marked charm, uniting Miss Frances Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Finley of Westminster, and Frank Richards, young Los Angeles business man.

The Finley home was decked in pink and white blossoms for the rites, with a leafy bower erected near a large window in the living room, where carnations and ferns were entwined with gilded cupids and wedding bells, with a single large white bell suspended from the center of the archway. Artistic standard baskets at either side, were filled with pink and white blossoms.

Miss Finley, an only daughter, was very lovely in her bridal gown of shell-pink lace over georgette in the same delicate tone. Her soft hair was wreathed with orange blossoms, and she carried a formal bouquet of pale pink rosebuds showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Ray E. Finley, young sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor and wore a bouffant frock of pale blue taffeta. George Richards of Los Angeles, attended his brother as best man. The young people took their places beneath the floral arch to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Miss Gladys Stone, and the single ring ceremony was conducted very impressively by the Rev. Floyd Seamans, pastor of Garden Grove First Methodist church, just at 8:30 o'clock.

An informal reception gave those present opportunity to extend their congratulations and good wishes before the new Mr. and Mrs. Richards departed for Long Beach, their first stop en route to Catalina Island where they are now spending a delightful honeymoon. The double heart motif was expressed by the refreshments served during this reception, and a pretty touch was given when Mrs. Richards cut the towering pink and white bride's cake.

The wedding group included in addition to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Finley, parents of the lovely bride, Mrs. Fred Richards of Los Angeles, mother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Richards and their small son, George jr., and William Radle of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. His bride is a native daughter of California and Westminster, and after completing studies in the elementary schools of her community, graduated in 1929 from Huntington Beach high school, since which she has been in the office of a Santa Ana mortgage company. She has many warm friends in this city whose best wishes will follow her to her new home.

Linen Shower Given As Pretty Courtesy to Miss Harnois

When Miss Charlotte Harnois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Harnois of East Walnut street becomes the bride of Chester Siegel of Ventura the latter part of this month, she will establish her home amidst a delightful array of household accessories and luxuries which would gladden the heart of any young housewife. For Miss Harnois has been the incentive for innumerable parties since the announcement of her engagement early in the summer, the most recent of which was a linen shower given on Saturday afternoon in the home of Miss Jean Campbell at 2450 Heliotrope Drive, with Miss June Goodwin and Mrs. Charles Hunt of Anaheim completing a charming hostess trio.

Pom-pom dahlias in a variety of soft hues were most effective in their lavish use throughout the rooms, and formed a pretty setting for the young girls and matrons in their summery frocks. Bridge was played, and Mrs. Marshall Harnois succeeded in winning the coveted first prize, a lovely silhouetted fawn done in black and white, a wood block print by that talented young Santa Ana artist, Miss Jean Goodwin, sister of Miss June Goodwin of the hostess trio. Mrs. Clifford Cole as holder of second prize score was presented with attractive note paper, while Mrs. Robert Lufbery was consoled with a prettily decorated brush. The refreshment course was served late in the afternoon, and carried out the soft hues used in the floral decorations. Centering the table at which the honoree was seated was the petite figure of a bride dressed in a bouffant white crepe paper frock, while the other tables were adorned with charming bridesmaids in pastel-tinted dresses in harmony with the nut cups at each place.

Miss Harnois was presented with the prettily wrapped linens as a fitting conclusion to the delightful afternoon.

Those present, other than the hostesses, the Misses Jean Campbell and June Goodwin, and Mrs. Charles Hunt, and the honoree, Miss Charlotte Harnois, were Mesdames Marshall Harnois, W. C. Campbell, George Lewis, L. A. Turner, Clifford Cole, Robert Lufbery, R. Dean Smiley, Lawrence Kokx, Lyle Roberts, Harold English, Thelma Miller, and Robert Owen of Los Angeles; and the Misses Virginia Powell, Thelma Morehouse, Myrtle Ketchum, and Mary Griset.

The hours passed quickly while the guests stitched on their dainty pieces of needlework, and shared interesting chat of travels and outings of the summer vacation season. A delectable supper served on individual trays bearing artistic yellow nut cups was an enjoyable conclusion to the evening.

Canned Candied Sweet Potatoes

With our cooking minds attuned to canning, let me ask if you have ever thought of canning sweet potatoes, so that they are all candied and ready in a jiffy by just putting them into a hot oven to heat through and caramel on top? I got that bright idea some time ago, tried it out, found it worked beautifully, so here it is.

If possible get the deep yellow variety called "Nancy Hall." Peel them and cut in convenient long slices, just the size of slice you like when you candy the sweets. Parboli in salted water, then cook in a rich sugar syrup until a fork will pierce the slice easily.

Make the syrup of brown sugar and a little water. Place the slices carefully in wide-mouthed jars (sterilized, of course) and fill the jars with a medium thick syrup and seal.

To prevent any possibility of the syrup candying, add the juice of one lemon to each quart of syrup.

When you want candied sweet potato all you have to do is to get out one of these jars, put the potatoes and syrup into a baking dish, dot the top with butter and bake in a hot oven 15 or 20 minutes. No muss, no fuss, and each slice a transparent bit of luscious goodness. I'm rather proud of my discovery and hope you'll try it.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Vienna Rolls

5 cups sifted flour
1 cup milk
1 cake yeast
1 teaspoon each, sugar and salt
Poppy or caraway seed

I am sure you have often wished you could make those crusty little crescent dinner rolls you find in a good restaurant, so, here are the recipe and directions for handling the dough.

After breakfast (this is an all day job, almost) dissolve the yeast cake in a little tepid water. Heat the milk to the same temperature and whip into the dissolved yeast. Use enough of the five cups of flour to make a stiff batter, cover this and let it rise for three hours.

Stir it down, add the sugar and salt and enough more flour to make the dough stiff enough to knead, but only a few turns to mix well. Cover and again let rise until very light, then work the dough well by pressing it out with the hands on the board, folding it over and repeating this pressing out process.

The next step is to roll out the dough in one large sheet as thin as you can get it, then cut the dough into six-inch wide strips. Cut the strips into oblongs and these in turn into triangles (one side will be longer than the other and the triangle long and narrow) Begin with the broad end of the triangle and roll it up so that the point will come in the middle and there will be a spiral roll from end to end.

Pinch the end into place, give it a turn in the hands to smooth it, place in a buttered pan in the form of a crescent, brush over with melted lard and let rise until the rolls feel spongy under the finger tip. Sprinkle with poppy or caraway seed or just with a tiny bit of salt.

Bake in a hot oven about 10 minutes, cool the oven and finish baking.

"BOOTS" CAN GO STROLLING OR MOTORING IN THESE

"Boots" can hardly wait until you help her try on these two new dresses. The one with the checkered collar, pockets and cuffs would be fine for motoring, don't you think? And the other would look well out in the park. Just cut the dresses out and fit them on the figure of "Boots" we gave you the other day. Color them if you like. Then you can tell how well you like the fashion judgment of the star character in the famous comic strip, "Boots and Her Buddies." Another sketch of "Boots" and another dress tomorrow.

COURT FILM ENDS TOMORROW NIGHT

"For the Defense," latest William Powell, all-talking drama and a picture that is declared to be the best the famous actor has made, is now showing at the Fox Broadway theater. The film opened Monday and shows through tomorrow night.

Powell plays the part of a great criminal lawyer in New York in "For the Defense." Through technicalities he is able to "spring" one criminal after another, until he builds a reputation that is statewide.

The bar association meets to discuss him and his methods. The police believe that he is bribing juries. He proves too clever for all. A man at the top of his profession, yet a man who walks alone in life. He finds an outlet for his feelings in the night life of New York.

Then one day, he is called on to save the girl he loves from a manslaughter charge. Every trick he knows fails, and the man who was too clever, turns crook himself. A smashing climax to the film makes the picture one of the most interesting, while the acting of Powell throughout is outstanding.

Kay Francis has the important feminine role in the play. The court room scenes are particularly good.

SEVEN-REEL FILM TO OPEN TONIGHT

"Moneymoon Abroad," seven-reel feature comedy featuring the popular funster, Monty Banks, opens tonight for a three-day run at Shelley's theater at Third and Bush streets.

The picture was filmed in Paris and London and on board an ocean liner and is said to be one of the liviliest comedies of the year.

The program will be augmented by a news reel, a cartoon, a serial and a short comedy and at 8:30 o'clock tonight a diamond ring is to be given away.

HELEN KANE HIT IN 'NAN McGREW'

Helen Kane, Paramount star and the original "boop-boopa doop" girl, scores a decided success in her latest all-talking comedy "Dangerous Nan McGrew," which completes its Santa Ana run at the Fox West Coast theater today. The picture has been playing here since Monday.

Slapstick comedy throughout, good singing and much horseplay mark the picture throughout, while the comedy lines in the film are particularly good.

The plot concerns a girl, who is a wizard with a pistol who finds herself stranded in the northwest county with her medicine show. She meets a number of society folk, and the Northwest Mounted police and in the end wins a big reward for the capture of a murderer.

The comedy is the outstanding feature of the picture however. Stuart Irwin plays the bashful lover role, much on the order of the role he had with Miss Kane in "Sweetie," while Victor Moore, James Hall and Frank Morgan all have important parts.

A Fox Movietone newsreel, together with an all-talking comedy also are shown.

FEATURE PROGRAM FOR STATE THEATER

Another double feature program is being presented tonight and tomorrow at Walker's State.

Circumstantial evidence is never conclusive. This fact is illustrated in an interesting and entertaining fashion in "Guilty?"—the Columbia all-talking drama based on the fallacy of circumstantial evidence, with Virginia Valli and John Holland.

The hero of the story falls in love with the daughter of his father's worst enemy. Although he regrets the situation, he does not share his parent's hatred. Yet, when his sweetheart's father commits suicide, circumstantial evidence is brought out that seems to prove that he had committed the murder. He is arrested, convicted of the crime and sentenced to pay the death penalty.

The evidence is very flimsy. Yet a case based on the supposition that he planned to marry the girl for her fortune and wanted her father out of the way, so influences the jury, that he is convicted of a crime he never even thought of committing.

"Wise Girls" taken from the stage play, "Kempy," is packed with laughter and the bill makes a great evening's entertainment.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The sheep kept jumping in the air and it gave Clowny quite a scare. He kept on yelling at the bunch to help him to alight. They tried, but didn't dare go near. The sheep's kicks filled them all with fear. Then Carpy shouted, "Hang on, lad, and you will be all right."

"Oh, no I won't," scared Clowny said. "I'm going to land upon my head. I can't hang on much longed. Both my arms are all tired out. I never should have started this. The ride was bound to go amiss. The poor sheep doesn't know, itself, what this is all about."

And then the ride was quickly stopped. The sheep stopped short and Clowny flopped. It was a lucky spill though, and he landed on his feet. "Oh, my, oh, my! Am I all right," cried Clowny. "Do I look a sight? You must admit I'm pretty good. That landing turned out neat."

The Travel Man then grabbed his hand and, with one putt, helped him to stand. "You're safe and sound," he shouted. "Now let's be upon our way. Enough of Persia we have seen. To travel on I'm rather keen. I have a good plan. Let's start out for old Bagdad today."

"That's great! That's fine!" the Tinies cried and then they gathered by his side and asked him how they'd make the trip. He broke out in a smile. "We'll hire some mules to take us there. 'Twill be real safe if we take care," said he. "I'll get the mules now. Then we'll travel on in style."

The little mules soon were brought out. The Tinymites began to shout, "Hop on," exclaimed the Travel Man. "Two of you ride together." Then, when each mule had its full load, they started jogging down the road. "We're off," exclaimed one Tiny. "I just hope we have fine weather."

(The Tinymites reach Bagdad in the next story.)

RULES:

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.
2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

NEW ERA SEEN IN RADIO INDUSTRY

"The radio industry is entering a new business era where sanity, straight thinking, sound merchandising and advertising practices will rule those companies which are successful," according to Joe Wilson, in charge of the radio department of the Carl G. Strock store, Crosley radio representatives.

"The hectic years of rapid growth with their circus stunts, ballyhoo, extravagance, waste and foolish business methods which made it resemble a street show, are now past.

"After the fiasco in November, 1929, when because of over-production of radio merchandise by many manufacturers, much of it had to be liquidated at ridiculously prices, the Crosley company decided to concentrate its efforts upon the creation and production of a new line that would be distinctive in beauty, performance and value.

"This new merchandise is now ready, expertly engineered and designed, with the merchandising carefully planned. It was an outstanding hit at the Atlantic City radio show and again in San Francisco as well as in trade shows held in various parts of the country."

THE FUMIGATOR

By THOS. E. PICKERILL [all rights reserved]

We wish Mr. Hoover would restore our poverty he abolished so we could get rid of our complete indigency.

PEOPLE CAN'T PULL TOGETHER UNLESS THEY FIRST PULL THEMSELVES TOGETHER.

What's modern youth going to do when getting thrown into jail is no longer a new thrill?

Anyhow we're for modern youth. They can sing "The Stein Song" without any steins, and they are singing a lot of modern songs without any tunes. So resourceful, these latter-day boys and girls.

POLITICAL COCKTAILS

IT ISN'T THE WEATHER THAT'S WARMING UP—IT'S THE CAMPAIGN.

The candidates for deputy sheriff are a worse menace to the candidates for sheriff than the candidates for sheriff are to the people.

The other night down on the coast a man made a political speech in which he said among other things that there were men holding office in Orange county who were pointed out to him as officeholders 30 years ago by his grandpappy.

And the way the people of Orange county have been returning the same men to office term after term it looks like this man's great-grandchild won't even have to be introduced to any new officeholders when he grows up.

We don't kick so much on the men holding office, but we comparatively new-comers don't have much say-so in who shall be our public servants.

Well, it's all in the game, anyhow. About the only difference we can see between California, this glorious state of our adoption, and Indiana, which was thrust upon us, is that here they keep returning men to office and there they send them back to jail.

Even if they are honest, capable and efficient, they needn't think they are holding office for life during good behaviour.

Wait till the full-page political ads begin. They will always be signed by "Friends of the Candidate." Look for some hot stuff.

The candidates have been making speeches over Orange county, telling about the tariff on hides and the League of Nations. It's time some candidate told us what he will do if elected. We've a good notion to run "Red" Spider and Mealy Bugg in a write-in campaign.

About the most serene and unruffled candidate in these parts is friendly Joe Backs. Without somebody to run against, Joe probably feels like a lost sheep. Of course Joe hasn't served out his 30 years yet so that makes everything all right. We're voting for Joe.

Candidates, don't spend all your money on one voter. Remember, only one of each kind can win and you've got to live after the campaign is over, and then there's the October payment on the car, and Christmas only a couple of months away after that. It's going to be a long, hard winter for a lot of you.

As far as that is concerned, the finance companies will get all of us if we don't watch out.

Great Fun

The Best Yet In Gliders

The PLAYBOY FOLDING GLIDER is shot straight up 100 or 150 feet by a special rubber. This is possible because in the folded position it goes up like an arrow. The air holds the wings folded until the glider reaches the pinnacle, when they open. It will then make one loop and gradually circle and glide to the ground.

Provides Hours of Fun

As the PLAYBOY GLIDER does not depend upon a small propeller and lightness to lift it into the air, it is made very sturdy. The wooden nose protects it if shot head on into a wall. If a wing hits any obstruction, it simply folds back and after freeing itself the wing opens and continues its flight.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, July 23.—(UP)—Quiet buying in all sections of the list brought another session of advancing prices on the curb market today and speculative favorites in all sections of the list moved to new highs on the recovery from the week end setback.

Public utilities, as usual, were in the van ot the forward movement, which gained impetus as the session progressed, and advances ranging from fractions to two points took place in Electric Bond & Share, Cities Service, Amercan Gas, American Superpower, United Light A and St. Regis paper.

Oil stocks came out of their recent lethargy under the influence of good buying in Cosden, Ohio new, Standard fo Indiana and Housto new, in which advances ragig from a fraction to two points were scored.

Early offerings of the principal investment trusts dried up when the market turned definitely upward and good recoveries took place in Trans-America and Goldman Sachs, several strong spots developed in the genera llist, with Bahia corporation, New York Transit, Fokker Aircraft, Fox Theaters A, Ford, Lt., and Aluminum Company of America promnient. The latter made a characteristic runup of 18 points.

Exceptions to the geenral trend were few as the market gave evidence of resuming the general advance from the June and early July lows that was halted by last Saturday's break. Starrett Corporation was in supply at a concession of almost two points, but recessions were confined to a few individual sisues and support generally encountered in the dips.

EVENING SALUTATION

—William Gerhardi.

A PIONEER PASSES

Word has just come of the death of Glenn H. Curtiss, the inventor aviator. Mr. Curtiss was yet a young man, but 52 years of age, and the news of his death will undoubtedly come with considerable shock to the entire world, and particularly to those who are interested in aviation and things related thereto.

Barring the Wright brothers, Glenn H. Curtiss has been recognized as the outstanding pioneer in aviation and in the manufacture of engines and airplanes. Curtiss by his very nature was interested in inventions and in motor vehicles. He established a motorcycle factory at Hammondsport in 1902, and set speed records riding his own machines, a few years thereafter. He made a record for a mile at Ormond Beach in 46 2-5 seconds about that time.

Among his noted flights were his first trip from Albany to Staten Island, later his winning the James Gordon Bennett cup in France with an airplane and motor of his own design, and twenty years ago when he won the New York World prize of $10,000 in flight from Albany to New York, making it in two hours and 51 minutes. Curtiss established flying schools at many places, including one at San Diego in our own state. He introduced flying boats in various countries, including Brazil, Russia, Austria, Italy and Great Britain and built the first multi-motored aquaplane for Rodman Wanamaker. He was the first to design a heavier than air craft planned to make a trans-Atlantic flight. This was only six years ago.

The various kinds of craft and work he did were so varied that it would take literally columns to describe them. He was the author of the Curtiss Aviation Book, and wrote many articles for various magazines. He has been a tremendous factor in his chosen field, and his place will be well-nigh impossible to fill.

People who can't afford a vacation can at least take on that far away look.

BORDER INSPECTION

The seizing of a shipment of plums infested with the Mexican fruit fly at Nogales, Arizona, might be alarming were it not that the shipment was seized and that the inspectors on the borders of California have successfully kept the pest out of the state for a number of years. California state authorities attach little importance to the seizure, declaring that such cases were routine matter at California border inspection stations.

The incident serves to turn our attention to the splendid work of the State Department of Agriculture through the conscientious men stationed along the highways which cross the border into our state.

Coming into the state from Oregon last year the service and the hardships of the men and the lack of cooperation from the traveling public was observed. They were mostly tourists with nothing to do but journey along who grumbled and protested at that inspection station. A number of them were impudent; others were so ignorant as to not have any idea why the inspection was being made. With few expections, the traveling public we noticed that day had no sympathy with the situation and no understanding of the protection the little trouble they were being put to was to the state of California. Hour after hour in the hot sun the inspectors worked and they bore patiently the unkind, thoughtless, bitter remarks of the people who had to make a brief stop, be discomforted to a small degree and then journey on.

The psychological angle was not lacking in the episode, either, for it was noticeable that the baggage of the one or two people who willingly opened their luggage and arranged it for the inspector was not stirred up as much as the baggage of the disgruntled ones. Those silent, busy inspectors knew well enough that the traveler who recognized the necessity of the situation was not the man to try to sneak a bit of fruit past their inspection.

WHAT HAPPENS TO 100,000 MEN

The Life Extension Institute of New York, which has established and popularized a system of thorough health examinations, has issued a statement as to what happens to 100,000 men so far as physical health is concerned. 90,757 live to be one year old. 80,129 live to be 27. 64,311 live to be 52. 32,583 live to be 72.

We do not know why the particular years noted are chosen, with the exception of the first year; but the figures are very suggestive. The first year seems to be the hardest on human life. As many lives end the first year as in the next 26. About 26,000 die before 52. Two thirds of them are dead at 72. The latter figures do not disturb us. The psalmist's span of three score years and ten have come to be generally accepted. But the 32,000 who die between 52 and 72—the golden years of life—is a matter of concern.

According to the director of the Life Extension Institute much of this loss of life during the golden years might be prevented by their system of periodical examinations. Insidious diseases are slow in developing, and usually painless. When taken at their beginnings, they can be arrested and cured; but when once in an advanced state, there is little hope of a cure. Life has been greatly conserved by the preventive measures of the past 25 years. The report of the Life Extension Institute plainly reveals that we have not yet availed ourselves of all the resources of science to extend human life to the utmost limits. Man's normal state is health, not sickness. And as Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "No man has a right to die before he is 70 years old."

SPECIAL DELIVERY SERVICE

The "special delivery" mail service of the postoffice department which was adopted in 1885 is coming to be superseded by the air mail service, for although they are not the same at all, the time saved by the use of air mail is much greater than the time saved in the delivery of the letter by the "special delivery."

Last year 99,046,407 pieces of mail were delivered by special service, representing a total revenue of $11,587,157.60, according to the annual report of the postmaster general.

A glance at the history of the provisions made for special delivery shows that a measure was presented to congress in 1883 by Representative Charles R. Skinner of New York state authorizing the postmaster general to provide a special stamp of the value of 10 cents which, when placed upon a letter in addition to regular postage, should entitle the letter to immediate delivery up to the hour of midnight each day. The bill provided that eight cents of the ten-cent fee might be used by the government to cover the cost of delivery by messenger, leaving the government a gross profit of two cents on each stamp sold.

The service was at first restricted to letters at any free delivery office. On August 4, 1886, it was extended to provide for delivery of all mail matter specially stamped at any free delivery office, or within a mile of every other office. At approximately the same time, the system was made to include all classes of mail matter which bore the ten cent special delivery stamp.

In 1902 an amendment to the law was passed which provided that ten cents in ordinary stamps, in addition to regular postage affixed to a letter or parcel marked "special delivery" entitled the matter to all regular special delivery privileges.

Once the air mail service and special delivery services are synchronized we may realize great speed and convenience in the delivery of our dispatches.

INTENSIFIED PROBLEMS

According to the census report, America will show a population of very nearly 123,000,000. At the time of the birth of our republic, there were 3,500,000 votes, mostly scattered along the Atlantic seaboard, with the western three-quarters of our country at that time practically a wilderness, most of it in alien hands.

We have increased during the past ten years 17,246,000 people, an increase in population equal to the entire population of some countries of Europe. With that rate of increase, it is entirely possible that within the lives of those now living, our country will show 200,000,000 people. Certainly within the next 20 years it will approach 175,000,000.

The changes in the centers of population, the increase of our great cities, the increasing density of population, the problems of distribution of products, the increased production by machinery, the raising of the standards of living, the concentration of wealth, industrial disturbances—all these will be aggravated as problems with the increased population. The men who can do most for the benefit of mankind in future days will be those who are able to cope with the question of human relations.

Our Kid Stunters

San Diego Union

Incurable adults will snuff with disapproval at the news that a couple of small girls in Evanston, Illinois, aged 12 and 14, have just broken the world's teeter-tottering endurance record by see-sawing continuously for seven hours. The same reception by the same persons will be accorded the report that three Chicago small boys are performing an endurance test on a bicycle—325 miles tto date, and still going strong. And the adults aforesaid will think no more kindly of the activities of dozens of youngsters in various parts of the country who are aiming at the present tree-sitting record of 156 hours.

This is all foolishness and perhaps some of it is harmful foolishness. It is childish imitativeness without any visible constructive features. A word of comfort might be given, however, to adults who fear that these youthful imitators will grow up into adult imitators of the same type.

Nothing could be further from the probabilities. The child who spends these long summers imitating flagpole sitters, endurance fliers, bandits, marathon runners, brigadier generals and acrobats, runs but slight risk of growing up into the thing he imitates.

For one thing, the childish imitator exhausts the thrills of the exploit he counterfeits. The 8-year-old who spends July and August sitting in an apple tree, will never thereafter be tempted to regard flagpole sitting as a new, thrilling and significant experience. For another thing, any child imitates too many types of pre-eminence. If childhood imitation determined his adult career, he would have to grow up into an occupational Lon Chaney.

"Stunting" is childish, but surely it is least objectionable when children do it. And the current crop of adult show-offs is recruited from adults—adults, perhaps, who were prevented from outgrowing their childishness when they were children.

King Tut's Wheat to Grow More to Acre

San Bernardino Sun

When the world was all agog a few years ago over the revelations of King Tutankhamen's tomb, some practical Americans insisted on asking, "What has King Tut ever done for us?"

Among other things, he seems to have given us more wheat. In the sepulcher was found a small vase containing shriveled wheat grains. Some of them were planted by a Canadian farmer in Alberta, and a small crop was harvested in 1926. It has increased. This year an American farmer in Ypsilanti, Mich., obtained and sowed some of the old Egyptian wheat, and it was described recently as almost ready for harvesting.

It is a curious grain, much like our own soft spring wheat in quality, but at the top developing into a stalk with about a dozen heads spread out like a fan, each having many kernels. It is said to be suitable for macaroni and biscuit.

Other farmers will probably say "Tut, Tut! We don't need any more wheat." But it is surely a strange and interesting thing that a grain apparently extinct should have been revived again after 4000 years. It may yet prove valuable.

Rub-a-Dub-Dub! Two Men In A Tub!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

GOOD-BYE SHIEK

With an aba surrounding his form
As he rode on his galloping steed
In tthe teeth of the fierce desert storm,
The cheik was heroic indeed.
No wonder through many a rift in a tent
Peered many a feminine eye,
And many a delicate heart string was rent
When a sheik hurried thundering by.

At love he was always a bear,
Breaking tender young hearts by the score,
And his spirit of devil-may-care
Made him equally lucky in war.
When he rode o'er the sand with his sword in his hand
While behind him his regiment clattered,
Emitting hoarse gutteral words of command
The enemy hastily scattered.

But sunk is his glorious star;
The sheik has grown flabby and fat;
He rides on his rounds in a car,
And a rusty tin Lizzie at that.
No delicate heart strings will ever be rent,
No souls with emotion will quiver,
When a maid of Arabia sees from her tent
A sheik riding by in a flivver.

The automobile over here
Is a boon to the lazy and weak,
And has been so full many a year,
But it's knocked all the gloss off the sheik,
Since on all of his errands, in peace or in war,
In a gasoline buggy he's carted,
The poets his praises will echo no more,
For his fame is forever departed.

A BIG OPPORTUNITY

It is surprising that reformers have overlooked the possibility of abating human happiness by advocating a law to make the sale of gasoline illegal.

MERELY SHIP'S STORES

Nerve And Noise

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

How much flattery do we, as customers, require at the hands of merchants; and what, in cold cash, are we willing to pay for it?

Suppose all the retail stores at which we have charge accounts were to add to our bill, "Flattery charge, one dollar." Would we pay it without protest? Is it worth a dollar a month—or any other sum a month—to know that no matter how noisy or nervous or whimsical we may be, we are, in our capacity as customers, "always right"?

As a matter of fact, to the extent that we are swayed by cupidity and whims, we are NOT always right, no matter how many merchants believe it is good business to tell us that we are..

The buyer, like the seller, is entitled to courtesy and full value for his money. To the extent that he demnads and gets more—more attention, more concessions, more value in time or goods than reasonable customers ask—he is responsible for waste for which we ALL pay.

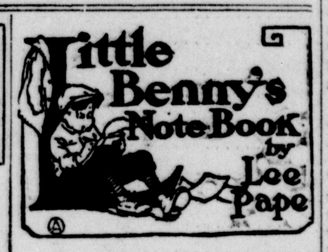

"Let the buyer beware" has gone into the dust-heap of policies which have outlived even their imaginary usefulness. It never was good business.

Neither is its paradoxical twin, "The customer is always right."

Some one should pay the merchant for time and money lost because of demands by unreasonable customers. Why not send the bill to them? Why expect those of us who wear a coat only once before we bring it in for exchange, to pay the freight for the hardy souls who wear a coat a week and then indignantly deny that it was ever unwrapped?

Neither courteous merchants nor their reasonable customers should subsidize NOISE and NERVE.

Me and pop was taking a wawk before supper, and pop started to look in the window of a umbrella and cane store, saying, Theres some nifty looking sticks in there. In my fathers day a man wasent considered well dressed unless he carried a cane, but nowadays its gone out of fashion. Well, what do I care for fashion? Im a free thinker, Im going in and buy that yellow cane with the bulldogs hed for a handle, he sed.

Wich he did, and we kepp on wawking, pop swinging the cane and hitting the payment with the end of it, saying, After all theres a certain sattisfaction in carrying a cane that nuthing elts could give except possibly wawking the deck of your own yatt in new flannel trousers.

Wich just then Puds Simkinses father went pass, saying, Hello Potts, I dident know you had gone in the lumber bizness.

And he kepp on going still laffing, pop saying, This werld mite not be perfeck if al lithe envy and jellisey were taken out of it, but a grate improvement would be noticed immeeditly.

And pritty soon somebody elts started to laff, being Dr. Rorer, saying, Do you need my services, Potts, what is it, a broken leg or just a sprained ankle, ha ha.

Pop not laffing back, and pritty soon another man he knew asked hi mwhy he dident have a flower in his buttonhole to make the picture compleet, and I sed, Do you wunt me to carry it a while, pop? and he sed, Well perhaps its your tern, I dont wunt to seem selfish. Besides, if I give them something reely rediculous to laff at, such as a small child carrying a big cane, Id like to see if any of these guffawing asses will laff in the rite place. So in a spirit of unselfish scientific research, Ill let you carry it the rest of the way home, he sed.

Wich he did, and nobody laffed.

In the Long Ago

Fire Chief Jackson is head of the ticket selling campaign for the firemen's benefit to be given at the Lyric theater next Tuesday, and he has offererred a prize to the girl or boy between the ages of 10 and 16 who sells the most tickets.

Eugene Hoff, court reporter, and his mother, and Constable and Mrs. W. R. Coleman are back from a 1500-mile trip along the coast to San Francisco, Sacramento and Lake Tahoe.

A slight ripple in the Tustin summer calm was caused Wednesday evening when the new fire engine was rushed out of the Arrow garage and taken to the school grounds for inspection by the people.

Among the delightful features that have been secured for the program at the Elks' hall July 28, for the benefit of the families of members of Company L, is a light comedy sketch in which Warren Fletcher and Miss Gladys Thomas will appear.

Miss Isabel Lopez celebrated her birthday happily on Saturday by taking a party of her friends to the West End theater, after which the party was served ice cream and cake at the Dragon.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

DOYLE AND THE DARK MYSTERY

Conan Doyle is dead!

To millions he will always be the maker of the matchless Sherlock Holmes.

To me he will always be the man who, in an age of cynical and cocksure intellectualism, refused to be brown-beaten by the dark mystery.

And the Doyle of mine and the Doyle of the millions were the same man.

The Doyle of Sherlock Holmes was tackling the major mystery.

The Doyle of spiritualistic quest was tackling the mayor mystery.

I met him once, and a whimsically autographed cartoon of him, drawn by the cartoonist, Major, hangs in my library, and Lady Doyle, at our luncheon table, has told of her and Sir Arthur's earnest attempts to pierce the screens that hang around the life of man on earth.

There is a strain of the skeptic alongside a strain of the mystic in me, and I have yet to visit the seance chambers.

But I have none of the skeptic's cocksureness in the presence of psychic research.

The essence of religion is a duality; it consists in piercing the mystery and perfecting the mastery of life.

The scientist is doing his share in helping us to perfect the mastery of life.

He cannot help us much in piercing the mystery of life.

Despite the frauds and fakeries innumerable by which they seem all-too-easily taken in, the Doyles of the world, impervious to the satirical thrusts of the skeptic, are after all seeking to pierce the mystery of life.

And—who knows?—they may succeed.

That King George could speak in London and be heard in Louisiana would have seemed as incredible to our ancestors!

OUR CHILDREN

THE RUNAWAY

Few children grow up without trying to run away. Some of them form a habit of it and their parents suffer great anxiety in consequence. When a child runs away he is running from something unpleasant toward what he hopes and believes will be pleasanter.

Little children must have the companionship of other little children. Grownup people can never take the place of child friends. With the very best intention in the world it is impossible to return from the plane of forty odd to that of four. Only a child can play with a child in the harmony of spirit that childhood demands. So some little children run away because they are lonely.

There are children born with an urge to adventure. They start out of the garden gate on a tour of investigation. They want to see what is to be seen, to feel what can be felt, of the life that lies beyond their horizon. This sort of child usually has the power of self-help well developed. He has initiative and is resourceful enough to meet any emergency. All one can do is to teach him his correct address and telephone number and hope for the best. It is not a blot upon the family record to have a child of pioneer tendencies. Many a fine American family comes of just that stock. Why worry when another branch sprouts?

Some children are so unhappy at home that they run away to find relief. Most of the time this is the fault of the home. The parents are too busy, or they are too self-satisfied, or too selfish to make room for the growth of a child in their home and the child is forced to go out into the world to find peace. When a home is set against a child, what remains for him to do but go? Sons who cannot live with fathers, daughters who find mothers impossible—what else can they do? Ask yourself some questions if a child in the adolescent years leaves your home.

When a runaway returns, kill the fatted calf. Forget your scolding and your punishment and make merry. Make the child glad he came home. Make home so pleasant that he will begin to wonder what ever made him think of leaving it. Make it such a place of love and satisfaction that no matter where he goes he will carry it with him forever and ever.

Home cannot hold children forever but the children can carry home with them wherever they go because it is really a matter of the spirit. It is not the fine location, the nice neighborhood, the elegant decorations, the high-powered service that makes home for a child. It is the spirit that presides in that bit of construction that is the home. Keep that right, keep it warm and glowing with love, understanding, and beauty and even though no decorator ever set foot in the place it will be a shrine to its children.

Keep home open always. No matter what a child does make him welcome at home. Else why home?

CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN

Charlotte Saunders, celebrated American actress, was born in Boston, July 23, 1816.

She was one of five children left poor by their mother by the early death of their father, a West India merchant.

However, she had a fine contralto voice and, in 1835, she made her appearance as an opera singer in the "Marriage of Figaro."

Shortly afterward, her voice failed, but she undertook a dramatic part, "Lady Macbeth," and was so successful that it became one of her greatest roles.

After success in New York and London, she went to Rome, where she had a home for some years. She was honored in Europe's most cultivated society.

She became known, in her later years, as a reader, with singular interpretative powers.

She died in Boston, Feb. 18, 1876. In 1880 her grave in Mount Auburn was marked by an obelisk which in form is a copy of Cleopatra's Needle as it showed in Heliopolis.
